VIENNA, July 26.—An uncertain fate awaited the tiny Austrian republic today as, with fighting continuing within her borders and a virtual ring of foreign troops encircling her, Prince Ernst Rudiger von Starhemberg, vice chancellor, flew hurriedly home from Italy and assumed provisional charge of the government.

Fear War Spark

Prince Starhemberg faced troubles at home and possible complications abroad that caused all observers of the situation to view with apprehension the immediate future. Some feared that Austria might again provide the spark that would touch off a holocaust of war in Europe.

With Vienna outwardly calm, a state approaching civil war ruled in the Province of Styria, along the Jugo-Slavian border. It was officially admitted that a heavy engagement had been fought between Nazi insurrectionists and government forces at Stainz, in Styria. At least six were killed and many wounded.

In the border towns of Lietzen, Gorebning and Schlagding fighting also was in progress. Unofficial reports said that twenty had been killed in this sector.

Dollfuss Assassinated As Nazis Attempt To Seize Austrian Government

Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss of Austria was reported slain, Minister of Public Security Emil Fey was held captive, and Prince Ernst von Starhemberg, head of the Heimwehr, escaped as Nazis attempted capture of the government of Austria by seizing the chancellery in Vienna. Several other members of the Dollfuss cabinet were reported held prisoner by Nazis who gained entrance to the chancellery disguised as Heimwehr and army officers. The little dictator is pictured at the top, left, and below him is Fey. Prince von Starhemberg is shown at right. Soldiers in the streets of Vienna are shown at the top. BERLIN, July 26.—The German government moved swiftly today in an attempt to remove any stigma that might attach to it for the assassination of Chancellor Dollfuss and the terrorist acts of Austrian Nazis in Vienna yesterday.

Only a few hours after Chancellor Hitler had returned hurriedly from Bayreuth, where he was attending a Wagnerian festival, Baron Konstantin von Neurath, foreign minister, sent a telegram of condolences to the Austrian government on behalf of the Reich government.

Dismisses Ambassador.

On arriving at his office, International News Service learned, Hitler immediately and personally dismissed his ambassador to Austria, Reith, when he learned that the diplomat had been the one who arranged a guarantee of safe-conduct to the German border for the men who captured the Austrian chancellory including the assassins of Chancellor Dollfuss.

Hitler also ordered the arrest of anybody crossing the border into Germany and it is believed that the ambassador will be returned to Berlin under guard.

Through his personal orders to close down the Austro-German frontier to the plotters and to dismiss Reith, Hitler believes he has given the world ample proof that Germany is determined to keep out of the domestic affairs of Austria.

Highlights in the grave international crisis precipitated by the assassination yesterday of Chancellor Dollfuss of Austria, as reported from world capitals, follow:—

VIENNA—Prince von Starhemberg, vice-chancellor, provisionally assumed the chancellorship as the government admitted fighting was continuing in the Province of Styria, Nazi stronghold, with at least six killed. Dr. Anton Rintelen, candidate of the Nazi Terrorists to succeed Dollfuss, committed suicide after his arrest. Courts-martial will try actual assassins of Dollfuss. Remainder of 144 Nazis who raided the chancellory and imprisoned Dollfuss and his colleagues, to be dumped across the German border.

ROME—Mussolini announced Italy would resist with all the forces at her command any threat to Austrian independence but the Italian foreign office, where he presides, issued a statement assuring the Italian people and the world there was no cause for alarm. At the same time Italian troops to the number of about 80,000 were massing along the Austrian frontier.

LONDON—Parliament was informed by Sir John Simon, foreign secretary, that Great Britain is determined to maintain Austria's independence, the foreign secretary repeating his famous "hands off" warning of last February.

PARIS—French military activity was reported along the German border and Premier Doumergue reiterated to Austria France's pledge to help her maintain her independence through the foreign office announced a policy of watchful waiting. Stocks declined sharply on the Paris bourse because of the war scare.

BERLIN—Chancellor Hitler dashed back to Berlin from Bavaria to take command of the situation and President von Hindenburg and Foreign Minister Von Neurath sent Austria Germany's official condolences on the death of Chancellor Dollfuss. Berlin papers advised European governments to keep cool and avoid a new European war and unanimously agreed Germany was not to blame for yesterday's bloody events in Vienna. Dr. Reith, German minister to Vienna, was dismissed by Hitler for negotiating amnesty for the Nazi assassins of Chancellor Dollfuss.

PRAGUE—Czecho-Slovakia reinforced her troops on the Austrian frontier but it was denied mobilization was contemplated.

Italy Willing To Fight To Preserve Independence Of Austria

MILITARY ACTIVITY REPORTED IN FRANCE

Europe Watches With Anxious Eyes For Next Moves By Italy

By GUGLIELMO EMANUEL

ROME, July 26.—Italy served notice upon the world in general and Germany in particular today that she was willing to fight to preserve Austria's independence but at the same time declared "the events in Austria provide no cause for alarm".

A few hours after Premier Mussolini hastily arrived by automobile from Riccione, where he sent a vigorously worded message to Vienna, pledging Italy to defend Austrian sovereignty if necessary, the foreign office issued a reassuring statement to the people of Italy and all Europe who had been watching with anxious eyes for Italy's next move.

ABOARD S. S. MALOLO, July 26.—I used to didn't pay much attention to reports of the heat all over the east and middle west—just naturally figured that it was the California papers' usual prevaricating license, but our ship radio newspaper every days says it's terrible and naturally you got to believe them. They got not lots to sell.

Leyburn Tells The Bankers Country Not Going To Bow-Wows

ANNUAL OUTING IS ENJOYED WEDIIESDAY

The Lawrence County Banker's association at a dinner at the New Castle Field Club last night heard Alfred P. Leyburn of Cleveland, chief national bank examiner for the nation's fourth Federal Reserve district, call the depression " a challenge and not a calamity."

"When men can still blaze their way to glory across the skies" said the Federal Reserve man as he closed his speech "and do things equally as marvellous, I don' think this country is going to the "bowwows" But we ought to profit from the mistakes we made before.

VIENNA, July 26.—Establishment of a military court to try the slayers of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss was approved by the Austrian cabinet today.

The cabinet council was presided over by Prince Ernst Rudiger Von Starhemberg, leader of the Fascist Heimwehr and vice chancellor in the Dollfuss ministry, who took over the provisional leadership of the cabinet from Kurt Schuschnigg, the acting chancellor.

Prince Von Starhemberg dashed here by airplane from Italy to be present at the momentous session of the cabinet.

There will be no appeal from the decision of the military court which will try the killers of the chancellor, it was decided. Whatever sentences the military court imposes will be

Field Corn Grows Four Inches A Day

Rains And Hot Night Causing Corn To Grow At Rapid Rate

Last week Mr. McCombs selected one stalk in their corn field which measured 10 feet 10½ inches in height. One week later the same stalk was measured and it was found that it measured 13 feet 3 inches, having sprouted upward at the rate of from 3 to 4 inches per day.

The corn was of the Leaming variety. The weather this last week has been perfect for corn, hot days and nights following on the heels of several good rains.

VIENNA, July 26.—Austria looked to the one time enemy powers, Italy, France and England today to save her independence and integrity from Nazi rule dictated from Berlin.

The new government, it was authoritatively stated has called upon the powers to intervene to preserve Austria's independence against Nazi aggression, recalling the pledge made by the powers a few months ago.

Though weakened by the shock of the Nazi putsch which ended in the killing of its redoubtable little chancellor, Englebert Dollfuss, the government today doubled all guards and prepared to preserve its own life while awaiting action of the powers to enforce guarantees.

Dillinger Soon Forgotten Man

Burial Takes Place At Indianapolis Almost In Secret Wednesday

RAIN POURS DOWN DURING BURIAL

By JACK LAIT

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 26.—John Dillinger, at last where he won't break out, lies under the sod of his native Indianapolis, buried both in body and public interest. The height of morbidity which inspired civilized Chicagoans, on the night he was shot, to dip papers telling of his death in his still wet blood in the alley beside the Biograph theater for lifelong souvenirs, has fizzled down to where the bandit genius who robbed 27 banks in 59 days is the forgotten man.

The elements contributed, but the decisive factor came when, at the gates of the cemetery wherein Dillinger was being interred between his mother, Molly, and his stepmother, Lizzie, the newsboys were

EUROPEAN NATIONS ANXIOUSLY WATCH AUSTRIAN SITUATION

Italy To Resist Any Threat To Austrian Independence—Britain Maintains Demand For "Hands Off" Austria—France Watchfully Waiting — Berlin Advises Europe To Keep Cool And Avoid War — Disclaim Germany Responsible In Nazi Outbreak In Vienna

International News Service

Highlights in the grave international crisis precipitated by the assassination yesterday of Chancellor Dollfuss of Austria, as reported from world capitals, follow:—

VIENNA—Prince von Starhemberg, vice-chancellor, provisionally assumed the chancellorship as the government admitted fighting was continuing in the Province of Styria, Nazi stronghold, with at least six killed. Dr. Anton Rintelen, candidate of the Nazi Terrorists to succeed Dollfuss, committed suicide after his arrest. Courts-martial will try actual assassins of Dollfuss. Remainder of 144 Nazis who raided the chancellory and imprisoned Dollfuss and his colleagues, to be dumped across the German border.

ROME—Mussolini announced Italy would resist with all the forces at her command any threat to Austrian independence but the Italian foreign office, where he presides, issued a statement assuring the Italian people and the world there was no cause for alarm. At the same time Italian troops to the number of about 80,000 were massing along the Austrian frontier.

LONDON—Parliament was informed by Sir John Simon, foreign secretary, that Great Britain is determined to maintain Austria's independence, the foreign secretary repeating his famous "hands off" warning of last February.

PARIS—French military activity was reported along the German border and Premier Doumergue reiterated to Austria France's pledge to help her maintain her independence through the foreign office announced a policy of watchful waiting. Stocks declined sharply on the Paris bourse because of the war scare.

BERLIN—Chancellor Hitler dashed back to Berlin from Bavaria to take command of the situation and President von Hindenburg and Foreign Minister Von Neurath sent Austria Germany's official condolences on the death of Chancellor Dollfuss. Berlin papers advised European governments to keep cool and avoid a new European war and unanimously agreed Germany was not to blame for yesterday's bloody events in Vienna. Dr. Reith, German minister to Vienna, was dismissed by Hitler for negotiating amnesty for the Nazi assassins of Chancellor Dollfuss.

PRAGUE—Czecho-Slovakia reinforced her troops on the Austrian frontier but it was denied mobilization was contemplated.

VATICAN CITY—Pope Pius telegraphed condolences to the Austrian government on the death of Dollfuss, praising the chancellor for his devotion to duty.

GIVES TRAGIC DETAILS OF DEATH OF DOLLFUSS

[EDITOR'S NOTE:—How Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss, of Austria, died, alone with his bitter enemies, refused even the solace of religious rites, is graphically told in the following dispatch by H. R. VIENNA, July 26.—They killed Dollfuss like gangsters. They put their victim on the spot. His Nazi murderer did worse. They shot him twice and let him bleed to death slowly.

It took him five hours to die. They refused to let doctors go to him, refused to let a priest see him.

Dollfuss, whom the Vatican regarded as perhaps the greatest Catholic politician in the world, had to die without benefit of clergy because his brutal murderers would not grant him even that.

As the 'Little Chancellor's" body lay today on a bier in the Ballhausplatz, details of his murder made it clear that the Nazi killers

HUGE TOLL TAKEN BY STORM ON GULF

Tropical Storm Blows Itself Out

At Least Ten Persons Are Drown In Tidal Wave In Hurricane

PROPERTY LOSS IS UP IN MILLIONS

(International News Service)

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., July 26.—Leaving in its wake a death toll of at least ten and property damage expected to total millions of dollars, a tropical hurricane that battered the Texas golf coast blew itself out today.

All the victims were drowned by huge tidal waves that rose before an 85 mile-an-hour gale to engulf low-lying costal areas. Huge waves battered the entire coast line.

Rain In Cloudbursts

The full force of the hurricane was visited on the shore line between Rockport and Port O'Connor, but the storm made itself felt as far away as Sabine Pass.

Wire communications with the towns of Seadrift, Port O'Connor, Port Lavaca, Tivoli and Austwell were cut off, and the complete damage in these communities could not be immediately learned.

Property Damage Heavy

The storm cast hundreds of small craft up on the beach and dashed a $65,000 yacht to bits on the seawall at Seadrift.

Property damage was huge at Port Lavaca, where nearly every building was damaged, and at Corpus Christi, where more than a score of houses were unroofed.

Raging tides washed out highways and bridges along the coast, preventing state highways patrolmen from reaching the isolated towns.

ITALY-FRANCE WATCH CLOSELY AUSTRIAN CRISIS

Austrian frontier are being rapidly reinforced as insurance against another coup by pro-German Austrian Nazis, the foreign office today sounded a note of peace.

By WILLIAM PARKER
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1934, By International News Service)

Paris, July 26.—In the face of the formal pose of calm and watchful waiting on the part of the government, suddenly confronted by the Austrian crisis, there is indication of military activity in France this afternoon.

Though the foreign office policy for the moment is to hold aloof and avoid all appearance of intervening in Austrian affairs or of addressing a warning to Berlin, the French army does not intend to be caught unprepared.

After learning of the mobilization of the entire international police force in the Saar Valley, which is under League of Nations control, International News Service attempted to canvass the situation along the German border this afternoon.

Sources usually informative replied that a ban of secrecy had been imposed and that they were unable to say anything with reference to troop movements or any activities of a military nature.

This was especially true at Thionville, just outside the famous St. Michiel Salient, where the American army won its first great triumph in France. Thionville is one of France's most important military aviation centers.

Two or three infantry regiments are always permanently garrisoned there and any forward movement into Germany would center on Thionville and the rich Briey industrial basin. A wall of secrecy hid all military movement in that region today.

him that Germany must in any case be kept aloof from the danger of becoming involved in any complications resulting from the situation.

Hitler was quick to size up the situation. He exprsesed anxiety to those around him. He feels that his own actions in disavowing the Austrian plotters and his sympathy with the Austrians in "thier hour of grief" will be instrumental in assuring the world that Germany has not the slightest intention of disturbing European peace.

Although Wilhelmstrasse circles also have heard the rumors of Italian movements on the border they are inclined to discount any serious intention on the part of Rome to go into Austria.

Don't blame Europe. You would be offended, also, if Santa Claus asked you to give back everything.

BANKERS HEAR CLEVELAND MAN

rence county and visiting bankers—members of the personnel of banks, their officers and directors—enjoyed Mr. Leyburn's address, the subject of which was "Bank Examiners vs Bankers."

Climaxes Program

The dinner at which he spoke climaxed for the association a day of genuine recreation on the golf course at the club. All afternoon had been consumed in friendly matches with nearly 56 of the group participating.

The address of the chief examiner was party devoted to an interesting "what a banker should be" outline and partly to banking operations in general.

Referring to a bankers ability, Mr. Leyburn asserted:

"Tests and examinations perhaps in themselves are not always the criterion of a man's ability, and, indeed, perhaps the banking profession itself would prove to be a greater exception than any other profession. However, a far reaching step, in the requirement of "licensed" bankers, would be the passing of an examination covering the fundamentals of economics, the fundamentals of credit, in its various diversifications, and to a small degree, accounting and law.

"It is not overlooked that a keen business mind is also necessary to the banking profession, but the four component parts of a banker's make up would of themselves create that business acumen invaluable to bankers.

What Banker Should Be

At this point the Clevelander told the bankers that the established banker should be 50 percent an economist, 30 per cent a trained credit man, 10 percent an accountant and 10 percent a lawyer—meaning a general appreciation of fundamental law.

Of banking, Mr. Leyburn prominent in the Federal Reserve field declared:

"It is unfair to compare the United States' system of banking with that of the advanced continental countries and Canada and draw conclusions accordingly. A far more equitable comparison would be between the bankers of the United States and those particular countries and the conclusions drawn from that comparison."

He told the group that banking should be a profession: not a business, and particularly, "not a 'racket' " as has so glaringly been the case in too many instances in our general banking problem."

The speaker was introduced by President Joel S. McKee, who presided throughout the business portion of the meeting.

McKinley Toastmaster

Attorney Rufus C. McKinley was presented as the evening's toastmaster after Mr. Leyburn finished, and for an hour he called upon speakers who spoke extemporaneously, on subjects which McKinley announced as he introduced them. Some spoke on Volant, others on "Saint's Rest"—New Wilmington—and still others on the Lawrence county court house. The Daylight Savings issue was also mentioned.

Those who spoke were W. W. Campbell, New Wilmington: R. C. Stiefel, Jr., Ellwood City: Phil M. Cox, Volant; Fred L. Rentz, New Castle; former Judge J. Norman Martin, New Castle: H. E. Marshall, of Wampum and Roy Wallace, Bessemer.

Prizes for the afternoon's golfing were presented by Toastmaster McKinley at the conclusion of the speaking.

Guests presented just before the evening program began were J. A. Taylor, new vice president of the People's Bank here: A. J. Bradford vice president of the Colonial Trust Company, of Pittsburgh: J. D. Swigart, chief examiner for the Pennsylvania department of banking: J. L. Meehan state bank examiner: A. I. Bingham, Union National bank of New Brighton and Joseph Brubaker of the same bank.

Prizes in the golf matches were awarded to the following:

Low net—Cliff H. Young

Putts—C. W. Jackson and James A. Smith

Booby prize—J. M. Krug

Putting—Herman Green

Directing the day's golf program were Thomas H. Hartman and Thos. F. Morehead. They were assisted in the other arrangements by the association's officers and executive committee. C. W. Jackson, Ellwood City, is vice president; John J. Maher secretary, and John D. Kennedy is treasurer.

Deaths of the Day

Time Of Funeral.

Charles J. Gallagher of Sharon, a former resident of Walnut street, New Castle, has been takn to the home of his sister, Mrs. A. J. McNulty, 531 Spruce street, Sharon, where he will remain until the time of funeral services Friday morning at 9 o'clock in St. Joseph's church, Sharon.

Mr. Gallagher died Tuesday, July 24, at 10:30 p. m. in the Buhl hospital, Sharon.

William Patton Snyder.

Mrs. S. E. McCleary, Highland avenue, has received word of the death of her nephew, William Patton Snyder, North Platte, Neb., who was buried at Council Bluffs, Neb., last Saturday.

Mr. Snyder was born near Slippery Rock, the son of Hiram and Eliza Braham Snyder, and at the age of 14 went to Nebraska with his parents. He was educated at the University of Nebraska and upon graduation was made superintendent of the university experimental farm.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. May Pollock Snyder; two sons, William, Jr., and Edward; three brothers, Hon. S. B. Snyder, Dr. M. B. Snyder and Rev. H. R. Snyder; three sisters, Mrs. W. H. Coffield, Mrs. M. J. Posson and Zona Snyder, all of the west; also a number of nieces and nephews and a large circle of friends.

Mrs. Gibson Funeral.

Funeral services for Mrs. Rose Gibson, wife of Harry G. Gibson, were conducted from the residence, 1420 Neshannock boulevard, Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. A large host of friends and relatives of Mrs. Gibson assembled in final tribute to her memory. Many beautiful baskets of flowers stood as additional tributes.

Rev. Walter E. McClure, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, was in charge.

Pallbearers were Stanley Treser, John Staley, Howard Erwin, James Rowland, Clark Gleason and Earl Moffatt.

Interment was made in Oak Park cemetery.

Mrs. John H. DeWolfe.

Mrs. Ida Chamberlain DeWolfe, wife of John H. DeWolfe, 904 Locust street, died at 8:20 this morning in the Jameson Memorial hospital, following a long illness.

She was born at Meadville and had lived in New Castle the past thiry-five years. She was a member of the Mahoning Methodist church and the W. B. A.

She is survived by her husband; two sons, Earl D. and George E. of Detroit, and two grandchildren.

The time of the funeral has not been arranged but interment will be made in Greendale cemetery at Meadville.

DILLINGER SOON FORGOTTEN MAN

crying "Extra—Dollfuss shot!" an even more dramatic and important shooting had shot Dillinger almost off the front pages of his own town.

Thousands Fooled

Thousands of curious ones were fooled, as the newspaper men were not, by the formal announcement of the burial set for this morning. We knew, but they herded us to the east gate where 20 police held us outside a locked portcullis, as through the west gate they wheeled the hearse that bore the lavender-hued casket which looked more as though it had been designed to bear the remains of a chorous girl than of the toughest killer, jailbreaker and robber of our times.

The roads between Mooresville and Maywood, where Mrs. Aubrey Hancock, his sister, was housing the coffined clay in her front parlor had been alive with traffic all night. Many waited three and four hours to pass the house, though all was dark within.

Then came the coup, the sudden loading of the casket and its unanticipated drive with only a few nondescript cars carrying the family and the newspaper men following it, and Dillinger was buried with only a handful of the interested millions knowing about it.

Heavy Rain

The heavy rain drove even these back to shelter. The minister cut his sermon to perfunctory length and platitudinous text—and, outside, where word had spread and a few people were trickling toward the cemetery, the newsboys were shouting:

"Extra—Dollfuss shot!"

That, in the language of Dillingers, "washes him up."

The terror of police and hero of waitresses in six feet under the ground. Not far from where he lies rest the bodies of a president and two vice presidents of the nation which ran him down. Half a dozen gun molls, three of whom were permitted the intimacy of being in the family group, mourn him with undoubtable sincerity. Two little girls, honor students in the Mooresville schools, his half sisters, Frances and Doris, sniffle, for they loved him and to them he was their kind, playful big brother, John.

MILITARY COURT TO TRY SLAYERS OF CHANCELLOR

final and, it was expected, will be carried out without delay.

Grant Amnesty.

The cabinet also approved a proposal, made by Prince Von Starhemberg, to grant amnesty to all members of the Heimwehr who are in prison for participating either in the fighting last February when the Socialists made an abortive attempt to overthrow the Dollfuss regime, or in yesterday's fighting.

Amnesty, in fact, was granted to all members of the Heimwehr under arrest for any offense.

This action, liberating all members of Prince Starhemberg's Fascist "army", which was Chancellor Dollfuss' most powerful support, was regarded as an indication of the dominant influence of Starhemberg in the present situation. His presiding at the cabinet meeting, instead of Schuschnigg, was regarded by some observers as portending his eventual succession to the chancellorship.

Although denied the last rites of the church by the Nazi slayers, Cardinal Innitzer today blessed Chancellor Dollfuss as his body lay in state in a gold coffin.

Three Days of Mourning.

The government ordered three days of mourning for the army. All pictures of Dollfuss in government offices were draped in black. "The patriotic front" ordered three-months mourning and the Heimwehr members were instructed to wear black crepe around their badges.

It was officially admitted today that serious disturbances occurred in the provinces and that at least six were killed in heavy fighting at Stainz, Syria, near the Jugo-Slavian border.

Unofficially, it was estimated that 20 had been killed in the towns of Leitzen, Groebning and Schlagding.

The government forces were reported gradually gaining the upper hand at Graz but Nazi revolters in the frontier towns were resisting stubbornly.

The frontier cities represent a delicate international problem if government troops should resort to the use of artillery. Should a carelessly fired shell be dropped in Jugo-Slavia it would give the government an excuse to march into Austria the troops now massed on the frontiers.

Events of 20 years ago when the world was plunged into war by incidents in which Austria then was the central figure, might easily be repeated.

Will Make No Loan To Russia

(Copyright, 1934, By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 26.—America's unwillingness to grant any cash loan to Soviet Russia was made unmistakably plain to Soviet Ambassador Alexander Troyanovsky by Secretary of State Hull in the opening of the new debt negotiations here.

This was learned today as the envoy awaited word from Moscow as to whether he should proceed with the negotiations.

Secretary Hull, in effect, told the ambassador if the negotiations were to continue Moscow must abandon its insistence upon a cash loan as the price for its willingness to settle the American debt and damage claims against the Soviet Union.

This clarification of the American government's stand against any cash loan formed the principal subject of discussion at the opening of the negotiations here.

Secretary Hull raised the issue himself in order to clear what Moscow had claimed to be a "misunderstanding" over what promises this government made during the course of the conversations between President Roosevelt and Soviet Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff here last November.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul; skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at drug stores. ©1931 C.M.Co.

Report Several Nazis Are Killed Along Border

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

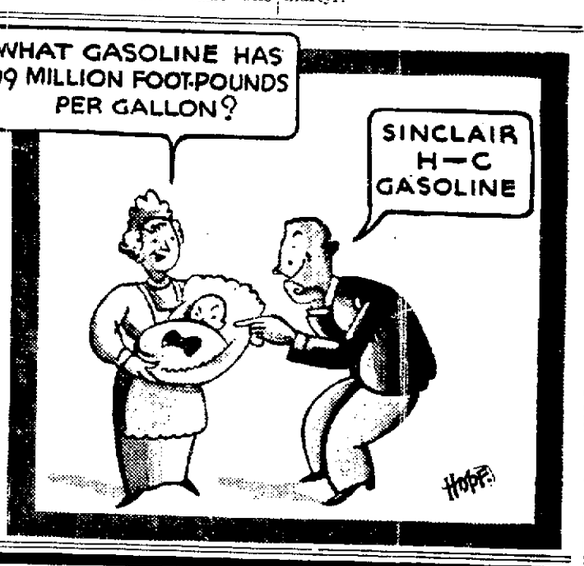

BUDAPEST, July 26.— Jugo-Slavian border guards were reported to have killed several Nazis who were attempting to escape from Austria today across the Jugo-Slavian border.

About 100 Nazis, pursued by Austrian troops mopping up rebels in the Province of Styria, fled across the Jugo-Slavian border. When the Hugo-Slavian guards attempted to arrest them a number resisted and a clash occurred.

HUGE TOLL TAKEN BY STORM ON GULF

Tropical Storm Blows Itself Out

At Least Ten Persons Are Drown In Tidal Wave In Hurricane

PROPERTY LOSS IS UP IN MILLIONS

(International News Service)

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., July 26.—Leaving in its wake a death toll of at least ten and property damage expected to total millions of dollars, a tropical hurricane that battered the Texas golf coast blew itself out today.

All the victims were drowned by buge tidal waves that rose before an 85 mile-an-hour gale to engulf low-lying costal areas. Huge waves battered the entire coast line.

Rain In Cloudbursts

The full force of the hurricane was visited on the shore line between Rockport and Port O'Connor, but the storm made itself felt as far away as Sabine Pass.

Wire communications with the towns of Seadrift, Port O'Connor, Port Lavaca, Tivoli and Austwell were cut off, and the complete damage in these communities could not be immediately learned.

Property Damage Heavy

The storm cast hundreds of small craft up on the beach and dashed a $65,000 yacht to bits on the seawall at Seadrift.

Property damage was huge at Port Lavaca, where nearly every building was damaged, and at Corpus Christi, where more than a score of houses were unroofed.

Raging tides washed out highways and bridges along the coast, preventing state highways patrolmen from reaching the isolated towns.

Goodbye Gas In Stomach and Bowels

If you want INSTANT RELIEF from gas in stomach and bowels, take a tablespoonful of Dare's Mentha Pepsin in a cup of hot water. Brings up the gas at once.

To get permanent relief, take a tablespoonful of Dare's Mentha Pepsin before meals. Then you can eat anything without suffering afterward from gas bloating and pressure—drowsiness after meals—poor circulation—bilious attacks—dizzy spells.

No more stomach distress! Dare's Mentha Pepsin frees you from all that discomfort and misery or money back. Ask Eckerd's Drug Stores or any druggist in America.

ITALY-FRANCE WATCH CLOSELY AUSTRIAN CRISIS

Austrian frontier are being rapidly reinforced as insurance against another coup by pro-German Austrian Nazis, the foreign office today sounded a note of peace.

Paris, July 26.—In the face of the formal pose of calm and watchful waiting on the part of the government, suddenly confronted by the Austrian crisis, there is indication of military activity in France this afternoon.

Though the foreign office policy for the moment is to hold aloof and avoid all appearance of intervening in Austrian affairs or of addressing a warning to Berlin, the French army does not intend to be caught unprepared.

After learning of the mobilization of the entire international police force in the Saar Valley, which is under League of Nations control, International News Service attempted to canvass the situation along the German border this afternoon.

Sources usually informative replied that a ban of secrecy had been imposed and that they were unable to say anything with reference to troop movements or any activities of a military nature.

This was especially true at Thionville, just outside the famous St. Michiel Salient, where the American army won its first great triumph in France. Thionville is one of France's most important military aviation centers.

Two or three infantry regiments are always permanently garrisoned there and any forward movement into Germany would center on Thionville and the rich Briey industrial basin. A wall of secrecy hid all military movement in that region today.

Hitler was quick to size up the situation. He exprsesed anxiety to those around him. He feels that his own actions in disavowing the Austrian plotters and his sympathy with the Austrians in "thier hour of grief" will be instrumental in assuring the world that Germany has not the slightest intention of disturbing European peace.

Although Wilhelmstrasse circles also have heard the rumors of Italian movements on the border they are inclined to discount any serious intention on the part of Rome to go into Austria.

rence county and visiting bankers—members of the personnel of banks, their officers and directors—enjoyed Mr. Leyburn's address, the subject of which was "Bank Examiners vs Bankers."

Climaxes Program

The dinner at which he spoke climaxed for the association a day of genuine recreation on the golf course at the club. All afternoon had been consumed in friendly matches with nearly 56 of the group participating.

The address of the chief examiner was party devoted to an interesting "what a banker should be" outline and partly to banking operations in general.

Referring to a bankers ability, Mr. Leyburn asserted:

"Tests and examinations perhaps in themselves are not always the criterion of a man's ability, and, indeed, perhaps the banking profession itself would prove to be a greater exception than any other professession. However, a far reaching step, in the requirement of "licensed" bankers, would be the passing of an examination covering the fundamentals of economics, the fundamentals of credit, in its various diversifications, and to a small degree, accounting and law.

"It is not overlooked that a keen business mind is also necessary to the banking profession, but the four component parts of a banker's make up would of themselves create that business acumen invaluable to bankers.

What Banker Should Be

At this point the Clevelander told the bankers that the established banker should be 50 percent an economist; 30 per cent a trained credit man, 10 percent an accountant and 10 percent a lawyer—meaning a general appreciation of fundamental law.

Of banking, Mr. Leyburn prominent in the Federal Reserve field declared:

"It is unfair to compare the United States' system of banking with that of the advanced continental countries and Canada and draw conclusions accordingly. A far more equitable comparison would be between the bankers of the United States and those particular countries and the conclusions drawn from that comparison."

He told the group that banking should be a profession: not a business, and particularly, "not a 'racket'" as has so glaringly been the case in too many instances in our general banking problem."

The speaker was introduced by President Joel S. McKee, who presided throughout the business portion of the meeting.

McKinley Toastmaster

Attorney Rufus C. McKinley was presented as the evening's toastmaster after Mr. Leyburn finished, and for an hour he called upon speakers who spoke extemporaneously, on subjects which McKinley announced as he introduced them. Some spoke on Volant, others on "Saint's Rest"—New Wilmington—and still others on the Lawrence county court house. The Daylight Savings issue was also mentioned.

Those who spoke were W. W. Campbell, New Wilmington: R. C. Stiefel, Jr., Ellwood City; Phil M. Cox, Volant; Fred L. Rentz, New Castle; former Judge J. Norman Martin, New Castle: H. E. Marshall, of Wampum and Roy Wallace, Bessemer.

Prizes for the afternoon's golfing were presented by Toastmaster McKinley at the conclusion of the speaking.

Guests presented just before the evening program began were J. A. Taylor, new vice president of the People's Bank here: A. J. Bradford vice president of the Colonial Trust Company, of Pittsburgh: J. D. Swigart, chief examiner for the Pennsylvania department of banking: J. L. Meehan state bank examiner: A. I. Bingham, Union National bank of New Brighton and Joseph Brubaker of the same bank.

Prizes in the golf matches were awarded to the following:

Low net—Cliff H. Young
Putts—C. W. Jackson and James A. Smith
Booby prize—J. M. Krug
Putting—Herman Green

Directing the day's golf program were Thomas H. Hartman and Thos. F. Morehead. They were assisted in the other arrangements by the association's officers and executive committee. C. W. Jackson, Ellwood City, is vice president; John J. Maher secretary, and John D. Kennedy is treasurer.

Deaths of the Day

Time Of Funeral.

Charles J. Gallagher of Sharon, a former resident of Walnut street, New Castle, has been takn to the home of his sister, Mrs. A. J. McNulty, 531 Spruce street, Sharon, where he will remain until the time of funeral services Friday morning at 9 o'clock in St. Joseph's church, Sharon.

Mr. Gallagher died Tuesday, July 24, at 10:30 p. m. in the Buhl hospital, Sharon.

William Patton Snyder.

Mrs. S. E. McCleary, Highland avenue, has received word of the death of her nephew, William Patton Snyder, North Platte, Neb., who was buried at Council Bluffs, Neb., last Saturday.

Mr. Snyder was born near Slippery Rock, the son of Hiram and Eliza Braham Snyder, and at the age of 14 went to Nebraska with his parents. He was educated at the University of Nebraska and upon graduation was made superintendent of the university experimental farm.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. May Pollock Snyder; two sons, William, Jr., and Edward; three brothers, Hon. S. B. Snyder, Dr. M. B. Snyder and Rev. H. R. Snyder; three sisters, Mrs. W. H. Coffield, Mrs. M. J. Posson and Zona Snyder, all of the west; also a number of nieces and nephews and a large circle of friends.

Mrs. Gibson Funeral.

Funeral services for Mrs. Rose Gibson, wife of Harry G. Gibson, were conducted from the residence, 1420 Neshannock boulevard, Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. A large host of friends and relatives of Mrs. Gibson assembled in final tribute to her memory. Many beautiful baskets of flowers stood as additional tributes.

Rev. Walter E. McClure, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, was in charge.

Interment was made in Oak Park cemetery.

Mrs. John H. DeWolfe.

Mrs. Ida Chamberlain DeWolfe, wife of John H. DeWolfe, 904 Locust street, died at 8:20 this morning in the Jameson Memorial hospital, following a long illness.

She was born at Meadville and had lived in New Castle the past thiry-five years. She was a member of the Mahoning Methodist church and the W. B. A.

She is survived by her husband; two sons, Earl D. and George E. of Detroit, and two grandchildren.

The time of the funeral has not been arranged but interment will be made in Greendale cemetery at Meadville.

DILLINGER SOON FORGOTTEN MAN

Thousands Fooled

Thousands of curious ones were fooled, as the newspaper men were not, by the formal announcement of the burial set for this morning. We knew, but they herded us to the east gate where 20 police held us outside a locked portcullis, as through the west gate they wheeled the hearse that bore the lavender-hued casket which looked more as though it had been designed to bear the remains of a chorous girl than of the toughest killer, jailbreaker and robber of our times.

The roads between Mooresville and Maywood, where Mrs. Aubrey Hancock, his sister, was housing the coffined clay in her front parlor had been alive with traffic all night. Many waited three and four hours to pass the house, though all was dark within.

Then came the coup, the sudden loading of the casket and its unanticipated drive with only a few nondescript cars carrying the family and the newspaper men following it, and Dillinger was buried with only a handful of the interested millions knowing about it.

Heavy Rain

The heavy rain drove even these back to shelter. The minister cut his sermon to perfunctory length and platitudinous text—and, outside, where word had spread and a few people were trickling toward the cemetery, the newsboys were shouting:

"Extra—Dollfuss shot!"

That, in the language of Dillingers, "washes him up."

The terror of police and hero of waitresses in six feet under the ground. Not far from where he lies rest the bodies of a president and two vice presidents of the nation which ran him down. Half a dozen gun molls, three of whom were permitted the intimacy of being in the family group, mourn him with undoubtable sincerity. Two little girls, honor students in the Mooresville schools, his half sisters, Frances and Doris, sniffle, for they loved him and to them he was their kind, playful big brother, John.

MILITARY COURT TO TRY SLAYERS OF CHANCELLOR

final and, it was expected, will be carried out without delay.

Grant Amnesty.

The cabinet also approved a proposal, made by Prince Von Starhemberg, to grant amnesty to all members of the Heimwehr who are in prison for participating either in the fighting last February when the Socialists made an abortive attempt to overthrow the Dollfuss regime, or in yesterday's fighting.

Amnesty, in fact, was granted to all members of the Heimwehr under arrest for any offense.

This action, liberating all members of Prince Starhemberg's Fascist "army", which was Chancellor Dollfuss' most powerful support, was regarded as an indication of the dominant influence of Starhemberg in the present situation. His presiding at the cabinet meeting, instead of Schuschnigg, was regarded by some observers as portending his eventual succession to the chancellorship.

Although denied the last rites of the church by the Nazi slayers, Cardinal Innitzer today blessed Chancellor Dollfuss as his body lay in state in a gold coffin.

Three Days of Mourning.

The government ordered three days of mourning for the army. All pictures of Dollfuss in government offices were draped in black. "The patriotic front" ordered three-months mourning and the Heimwehr members were instructed to wear black crepe around their badges.

It was officially admitted today that serious disturbances occurred in the provinces and that at least six were killed in heavy fighting at Stainz, Syria, near the Jugo-Slavian border.

Unofficially, it was estimated that 20 had been killed in the towns of Leitzen, Groebning and Schlagding.

The government forces were reported gradually gaining the upper hand at Graz but Nazi revolters in the frontier towns were resisting stubbornly.

The frontier cities represent a delicate international problem if government troops should resort to the use of artillery. Should a carelessly fired shell be dropped in Jugo-Slavia it would give the government an excuse to march into Austria the troops now massed on the frontiers.

Events of 20 years ago when the world was plunged into war by incidents in which Austria then was the central figure, might easily be repeated.

Will Make No Loan To Russia

(Copyright, 1934, By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 26.—America's unwillingness to grant any cash loan to Soviet Russia was made unmistakably plain to Soviet Ambassador Alexander Troyanovsky by Secretary of State Hull in the opening of the new debt negotiations here.

This was learned today as the envoy awaited word from Moscow as to whether he should proceed with the negotiations.

Secretary Hull, in effect, told the ambassador if the negotiations were to continue Moscow must abandon its insistence upon a cash loan as the price for its willingness to settle the American debt and damage claims against the Soviet Union.

This clarification of the American government's stand against any cash loan formed the principal subject of discussion at the opening of the negotiations here.

Secretary Hull raised the issue himself in order to clear what Moscow had claimed to be a "misunderstanding" over what promises this government made during the course of the conversations between President Roosevelt and Soviet Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff here last November.

Report Several Nazis Are Killed Along Border

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

BUDAPEST, July 26.— Jugo-Slavian border guards were reported to have killed several Nazis who were attempting to escape from Austria today across the Jugo-Slavian border.

About 100 Nazis, pursued by Austrian troops mopping up rebels in the Province of Styria, fled across the Jugo-Slavian border. When the Hugo-Slavian guards attempted to arrest them a number resisted and a clash occurred.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL
And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go
If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.
For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.
If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.
It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.
But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at druggists. ©1931 C. M. Co.

SLOOP TRIP RESUMED

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., July 26—Successfully conquering 6,000 miles of ocean water in a 25 foot sloop, two Polish army lieutenants Andrew Bohomolec and Jerzy Swiechowski, Chicago fair bound, were to leave here for Cleveland at noon today.

Eight hundred Erieites last night tendered them a hotel reception at which they were presented the keys to the city.

Deaths of the Day

Time Of Funeral.

Charles J. Gallagher of Sharon, a former resident of Walnut street, New Castle, has been takn to the home of his sister, Mrs. A. J. McNulty, 531 Spruce street, Sharon, where he will remain until the time of funeral services Friday morning at 9 o'clock in St. Joseph's church, Sharon.

Mr. Gallagher died Tuesday, July 24, at 10:30 p. m. in the Buhl hospital, Sharon.

William Patton Snyder.

Mrs. S. E. McCleary, Highland avenue, has received word of the death of her nephew, William Patton Snyder, North Platte, Neb., who was buried at Council Bluffs, Neb., last Saturday.

Mr. Snyder was born near Slippery Rock, the son of Hiram and Eliza Braham Snyder, and at the age of 14 went to Nebraska with his parents. He was educated at the University of Nebraska and upon graduation was made superintendent of the university experimental farm.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. May Pollock Snyder; two sons, William, Jr., and Edward; three brothers, Hon. S. B. Snyder, Dr. M. B. Snyder and Rev. H. R. Snyder; three sisters, Mrs. W. H. Coffield, Mrs. M. J. Posson and Zona Snyder, all of the west; also a number of nieces and nephews and a large circle of friends.

Mrs. Gibson Funeral.

Funeral services for Mrs. Rose Gibson, wife of Harry G. Gibson, were conducted from the residence, 1420 Neshannock boulevard, Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. A large host of friends and relatives of Mrs. Gibson assembled in final tribute to her memory. Many beautiful baskets of flowers stood as additional tributes.

Rev. Walter E. McClure, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, was in charge.

Interment was made in Oak Park cemetery.

Mrs. John H. DeWolfe.

Mrs. Ida Chamberlain DeWolfe, wife of John H. DeWolfe, 904 Locust street, died at 8:20 this morning in the Jameson Memorial hospital, following a long illness.

She was born at Meadville and had lived in New Castle the past thiry-five years. She was a member of the Mahoning Methodist church and the W. B. A.

She is survived by her husband; two sons, Earl D. and George E. of Detroit, and two grandchildren.

The time of the funeral has not been arranged but interment will be made in Greendale cemetery at Meadville.

DILLINGER SOON FORGOTTEN MAN

crying "Extra—Dollfuss shot!" an even more dramatic and important shooting had shot Dillinger almost off the front pages of his own town.

Thousands Fooled

Thousands of curious ones were fooled, as the newspaper men were not, by the formal announcement of the burial set for this morning. We knew, but they herded us to the east gate where 20 police held us outside a locked portcullis, as through the west gate they wheeled the hearse that bore the lavender-hued casket which looked more as though it had been designed to bear the remains of a chorous girl than of the toughest killer, jailbreaker and robber of our times.

The roads between Mooresville and Maywood, where Mrs. Aubrey Hancock, his sister, was housing the coffined clay in her front parlor had been alive with traffic all night. Many waited three and four hours to pass the house, though all was dark within.

Then came the coup, the sudden loading of the casket and its unanticipated drive with only a few nondescript cars carrying the family and the newspaper men following it, and Dillinger was buried with only a handful of the interested millions knowing about it.

Heavy Rain

The heavy rain drove even these back to shelter. The minister cut his sermon to perfunctory length and platitudinous text—and, outside, where word had spread and a few people were trickling toward the cemetery, the newsboys were shouting:

"Extra—Dollfuss shot!"

That, in the language of Dillingers, "washes him up."

The terror of police and hero of waitresses in six feet under the ground. Not far from where he lies rest the bodies of a president and two vice presidents of the nation which ran him down. Half a dozen gun molls, three of whom were permitted the intimacy of being in the family group, mourn him with undoubtable sincerity. Two little girls, honor students in the Mooresville schools, his half sisters, Frances and Doris, sniffle, for they loved him and to them he was their kind, playful big brother, John.

MILITARY COURT TO TRY SLAYERS OF CHANCELLOR

final and, it was expected, will be carried out without delay.

Grant Amnesty.

The cabinet also approved a proposal, made by Prince Von Starhemberg, to grant amnesty to all members of the Heimwehr who are in prison for participating either in the fighting last February when the Socialists made an abortive attempt to overthrow the Dollfuss regime, or in yesterday's fighting.

Amnesty, in fact, was granted to all members of the Heimwehr under arrest for any offense.

This action, liberating all members of Prince Starhemberg's Fascist "army", which was Chancellor Dollfuss' most powerful support, was regarded as an indication of the dominant influence of Starhemberg in the present situation. His presiding at the cabinet meeting, instead of Schuschnigg, was regarded by some observers as portending his eventual succession to the chancellorship.

Although denied the last rites of the church by the Nazi slayers, Cardinal Innitzer today blessed Chancellor Dollfuss as his body lay in state in a gold coffin.

Three Days of Mourning.

The government ordered three days of mourning for the army. All pictures of Dollfuss in government offices were draped in black. "The patriotic front" ordered three-month mourning and the Heimwehr members were instructed to wear black crepe around their badges.

It was officially admitted today that serious disturbances occurred in the provinces and that at least six were killed in heavy fighting at Stainz, Syria, near the Jugo-Slavian border.

Unofficially, it was estimated that 20 had been killed in the towns of Leitzen, Groebning and Schlagding.

The government forces were reported gradually gaining the upper hand at Graz but Nazi revolters in the frontier towns were resisting stubbornly.

The frontier cities represent a delicate international problem if government troops should resort to the use of artillery. Should a carelessly fired shell be dropped in Jugo-Slavia it would give the government an excuse to march into Austria the troops now massed on the frontiers.

Events of 20 years ago when the world was plunged into war by incidents in which Austria then was the central figure, might easily be repeated.

Will Make No Loan To Russia

(Copyright, 1934, By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 26.—America's unwillingness to grant any cash loan to Soviet Russia was made unmistakably plain to Soviet Ambassador Alexander Troyanovsky by Secretary of State Hull in the opening of the new debt negotiations here.

This was learned today as the envoy awaited word from Moscow as to whether he should proceed with the negotiations.

Secretary Hull, in effect, told the ambassador if the negotiations were to continue Moscow must abandon its insistence upon a cash loan as the price for its willingness to settle the American debt and damage claims against the Soviet Union.

This clarification of the American government's stand against any cash loan formed the principal subject of discussion at the opening of the negotiations here.

Secretary Hull raised the issue himself in order to clear what Moscow had claimed to be a "misunderstanding" over what promises this government made during the course of the conversations between President Roosevelt and Soviet Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff here last November.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at drug stores. ©1931 C. M. Co.

Report Several Nazis Are Killed Along Border

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

BUDAPEST, July 26.— Jugo-Slavian border guards were reported to have killed several Nazis who were attempting to escape from Austria today across the Jugo-Slavian border.

About 100 Nazis, pursued by Austrian troops mopping up rebels in the Province of Styria, fled across the Jugo-Slavian border. When the Hugo-Slavian guards attempted to arrest them a number resisted and a clash occurred.

BRIDES-ELECT HONORED AT TEA

Mrs. George R. Balph and her niece, Miss Isabel Balph, were charming hostesses this afternoon to a group of friends whom they received at an informal tea in honor of Miss Charlotte Patterson of New Wilmington, and Miss Lois Williamson of Pittsburgh, both of whom will be fall brides.

The affair was held at the Balph home on Hazelcroft avenue, which was beautified with colorful garden flowers, yellow and green tones predominating.

Three o'clock was the hour and between forty and fifty guests shared in the afternoon's pleasures. In the dining room, where a lovely tea table was arranged, mothers of the honored guests, Mrs. Rufus C. Patterson and Mrs. C. J. Williamson, poured. Aides included Mrs. William K. Hugus, Mrs. Cassius R. Balph, Mrs. A. Hughes Bartlett, Mrs. E. Lee Boyle, Mrs. Margaret Blackwood Hanna, Mrs. Robert McKinney White and Miss Jennie L. Morgan.

Surprise Birthday Party.

Friends numbering 15 surprised Charles Brickner, Jr., on his birthday, July 23, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Brickner, Sr., on Hutchison street.

Music and cards were happy diversions with prizes going to Mr. and Mrs. William Lennig and Melba Brickner.

At a suitable time, a delicious lunch was served, and the honor guest was presented with desirable and useful gifts. Many more happy birthdays were wished Mr. Brickner by the guests before departure.

Hold Reunion.

Approximately 50 members of the Weingartner family met at noon on Wednesday at the farm of Jess Weingartner on the Ellwood road where the annual reunion was enjoyed. A picnic dinner was served at noon with the guests enjoying the afternoon hours in games and other forms of entertainment.

Knight Reunion.

The 13th Knight reunion will be held Saturday, August 4, at Neshannock Falls.

Both noon and evening meals will be served and all relatives will be welcome.

LOVELY SHOWER FOR MISS BETTY HOUSTON

A delightful pre-nuptial courtesy was offered Miss Betty Houston whose marriage to Russell Clark Tait of Mercer, will be an August event, Wednesday afternoon in the home of Miss Elizabeth Parker on Laurel boulevard.

Guests were Highland U. P. church girls, members of the Jean Hill Williamson Missionary society and the class taught by H. M. Wilkinson, who entertained jointly for the honored guest, one of their number. Special guests were Misses Rebecca Tait and Helen McClelland of Mercer and Miss Margaret Sankey of this city.

The party was held on the lawn and for an interesting diversion, the girls hemmed towels, half of which were presented to Miss Houston and the others will be sent to Miss Martha Smith of Reynoldsville, Pa., also a class member who will be married August 28 to Henry Stone, son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Stone of the Wilmington road.

Delightfully featuring was a shower of handsome miscellaneous gifts for Miss Houston, all daintily wrapped and conveying many good wishes for her happiness.

Delicious refreshments were a later pleasure, the several small tables being prettily decorated with garden flowers with pink and white prevailing in appointments.

Assisting Miss Parker in serving was a committee consisting of Mrs. William L. Klee, Mrs. J. Walker Balentine and Miss Evelyn Mitchell.

The bride-elect will again be feted Friday evening at a party to be given in the home of Miss Lucille Emery on Laurel avenue.

Group To Camp.

A group of girls from the Young Menorahs, chaperoned by Mrs. L. Moss, will have a camping outing next week, having taken a cottage at Straub's Beach on the Slippery Rock.

The girls have planned many interesting events for the week, with friends from New Castle as guests.

School Reunion

The Terrace Avenue class of 1900, grades 6 and 6½, are having the annual reunion at Cascade Park Thursday, August 2.

There will be a basket picnic in the grove at 6 o'clock. Jesse Gibson is capably handling all arrangements for the event.

CASTLE BEACH IS SCENE OF PICNIC

Naturalistic beauties at Castle Beach on the Neshannock, appealed to twenty five members and guests of the Everready class of the First M. E. church Wednesday evening, the occasion marking the annual picnic.

Supper was served at 6:30 under the big Sycamore trees, the young people being seated at long tables decorated with flowers. Special covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Linden Reneker and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Reneker, Jr.

In the evening, baseball proved of interest, followed by a dip in the cool waters of the creek. Calvert Thompson, class president, was in charge of the outing.

In the near future, the class will have a corn roast, but the place is undecided upon.

SUNRISE BREAKFAST HONORS MRS. McCLURE

The beauty of the early morning was enjoyed Wednesday when 50 members of the Vigilante class of the First Presbyterian church assembled at the cottage of Mrs. J. Johnson Fisher, Wilmington road, as a farewell courtesy to their teacher, Mrs. Walter E. McClure, who, with her husband, Dr. McClure, will leave here September 1, for Detroit, Mich., where he will take up pastoral duties.

An impressive sunrise devotional service was conducted by Mrs. Robert McKinney White, Mrs. W. K. Hugus and Mrs. H. A. Rugh. During this period Mrs. White read a hymn "Home", which was written by Mrs. McClure.

The breakfast table presented an appearance that aroused the appetites of the members with its baskets of fruit and bowls of colorful garden flowers, and when the most appealing menu had been served, Mrs. John Elliott, vice president of the class in the absence of Mrs. H. M. Kirk, president, in most expressive manner, presented Mrs. McClure with a lovely umbrella, filled with danty handkerchiefs, as a farewell gift from her class members.

Mrs. Roy Hazen paid a beautiful tribute to Mrs. McClure in appreciation of her faithful service to the class, and a most fitting response was given by Mrs. McClure.

The social committee: Mrs. George Harbison, Mrs. N. J. McCluskey, Pearl Dufford, Mrs. H. A. Rugh and Mrs. C. E. Armstrong, arranged the event.

All Day Affair

Mrs. J. C. Carr entertained the 1907 club at an all day party Wednesday at her home on West Washington street.

At noon, a tempting luncheon was served, with covers for twelve. Conversation was the chief pastime of the warm afternoon but after supper at 6:30, a game of cards was enjoyed. Each guest received a pretty prize.

In entertaining, the hostess was assisted by her daughter Catherine.

PICNIC AT CASCADE ON FIFTH BIRTHDAY

Any occasion with ice cream and cake for kiddies is a party, but when it's a birthday party with a big cake and candles, the event is especially marked and this was the case yesterday with little Jimmy Maloney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Maloney of Hillcrest avenue, who celebrated his fifth birthday.

The party was held at Cascade park where in the grove at 6 o'clock an appetizing menu was served with covers for ten. Mixed marigolds and the birthday cake were table centerpieces and the lighted candles on the latter furnished much merriment to the little honor guest when he blew them out later. Among the guests was Miss Margaret Beveridge of Charleroi, Pa.

Mrs. Maloney was assisted in entertaining by her sister, Mrs. W. B. Kilner, and after supper park amusements were pleasures.

Many gifts were showered upon the honored guest.

JUNE WEBSTER GIVEN SHOWER

Miss June Webster, who marriage to Claude Crill will be an August event, was again honored at a pre-nuptial shower Wednesday evening when Mrs. Esther McBride, Englewood avenue, entertained the members of the C. C. class of the Epworth Methodist church.

The evening was featured by bridge and bingo with Miss Grace McCune winning the trophy for bridge and Grace Stitzinger the bingo.

When play was over the group went to the dining room, where Mrs. McBride had arranged a miniature altar before a miniature bride and groom and about this was arranged a stack of vari-sized packages, which contained lovely gifts for the bride-elect.

The guests were then served a cooling menu of refreshments at a table attractively suggestive of nuptial thoughts. Miss Diane Foilke assisted the hostess.

LARGE ATTENDANCE SEWS AT HOSPITAL

Even though the thermometer soared to 129 in some places outside yesterday, and most women folks wanted to stay indoors, a large number of bridge club associates of Mrs. S. W. Perry wended their way at 9 o'clock in the morning to Jameson Memorial hospital and sewed till 12.

Of course, the Solarium on the sixth floor, which is used as a sewing room, is not as hot as the tops of some other buildings, and so, the women cleared up a big amount of work as this was the final meeting of the Aide Society until the first Wednesday in September.

The cutting was done by Mrs. Fred W. Sontum.

Kennedy Reunion Planned

Descendants of Henry and Susanna Kennedy will gather at Cascade park on Saturday, July 28 for their annual reunion. A dinner will be served in the grove at noon.

Bennett Bible Class.

The members of the Dr. Bennett Bible class of the First Christian church will have a meeting Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the church parlors.

BRIDE-ELECT FETED AT KENNEDY HOME

Mrs. William Kennedy, Pine street, with Gertrude Donegan as her associate, entertained a group of friends Wednesday evening as a pre-nuptial courtesy to Harriet Goodman, whose marriage to Norman Gorcys will be an event of July 31.

Three tables of 500 were in play and prizes were awarded Ceil Ritty and Ceil Kennedy, after which the group went to the dining room where the large table was centered with a miniature wedding scene and surrounded with an array of packages, which were marked for Miss Goodman, and when she opened them they displayed some lovely things for her "hope" chest. Each place was marked by a small umbrella, suggestive of the "shower".

The menu of refreshments was most appropriate to a warm evening.

JUNIORS PICNIC ON WEDNESDAY

Mrs. Ada R. Stone, managing deputy for the W. B. A. was a most gracious hostess Wednesday when she had a picnic outing for the juniors of the W. B. A. of the district, with 19 Butler Juniors; 23 Knox juniors and 22 New Castle Juniors as guests, at a Butler road picnic grove.

Mrs. Alice McGinley of Butler, Mrs. Mina Best of Knox and Mrs. Myrtle Rohrer of New Castle, assisted Mrs. Stone with the entertainment.

Dinner was served at 2:30 with Mrs. G. McElhattan of Knox, Mrs. Anna Moore of Butler, Mr. and Mrs. William Glitch, Mr. and Mrs. John Earl and F. Woods of New Castle as special guests. Ice cream cones for all the kiddies were a donation fr Mrs. Stone and pop for the group was a gift from Bob Aiken of Knox.

A program of sports featured the hours after dinner with the running race winners Norma Kline and Louis McElhatten of Knox, "Snooky" Rohrer and Mary Elizabeth Earl of New Castle; cracker race was won by Marjory Markel of New Castle; Rose Stickle and Vivian Hockenberry, Butler; the peanut race was won by Alvena Hepler, Ruth Fry, Harriet Beal and Vivian Smith of Butler; Snooky Rohrer and Claire Gorley of New Castle and Janet Swogger of Knox.

The grand prizes of the afternoon were donated by Mrs. Stone and Betty Aiken of Knox were won by Vivian Hockenberry and Ruth Fry of Butler and Snooky Rohrer of New Castle.

REUNION IN AUGUST OF FORMER IOWANS

There will be a reunion of Iowans at Buhl Park, Sharon, Saturday, August 4, to which are invited all folks who have ever lived in Iowa, have friends there, or are, in any way, interested in the western state.

H. A. Parshall of West Middlesex, was in town today to see Dr. E. A. Crooks, pastor of the Reformed Presbyterian church, (who is a former resident of Iowa) to make further arrangements.

The affair will be in the nature of an annual basket picnic with a fine program of sports scheduled for the afternoon.

The first reunion of the organization was held a year ago at Buhl Park with a large number of people attending from this vicinity.

Mrs. Ralph Gilkey of West Middlesex, is secretary this year and she is making an effort to get in touch with those out in 1933 and hopes to contact an even greater number before August 4.

Birthday Surprise.

When Bobby Myers of Randolph street returned to his home at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening, he was greatly surprised to see a nice new tent set up in the yard of his home and at the side of it a long table arranged and 18 of his boy friends seated around it.

When he saw the lovely cake in the center of the table, lighted with 10 candles he realized the event was a birthday surprise. After partaking of a delicious dinner menu, the young man was taken into the tent, which was a gift from his parents, and there he found a large basket filled with gifts, remembrances from his boy friends.

Aiding the hostess in serving were Mrs. Harry Haman, Mrs. Wilber Goodheart and Mrs. M. P. Boulden.

The boys played games during the evening.

G. T. E. Club.

Mrs. Jack Jones of Forrest street delightfully entertained the members of the G. T. E. club in her home Wednesday evening.

After a period of cards prizes were awarded Mrs. Earl White and Mrs. Cecil Logan, after which the members were refreshed with a cooling lunch. The hostess had Mrs. George Price and Mrs. Charles Richardson as her aides.

Plans were made for a wiener roast Saturday evening, at which time the husbands will be guests.

August 8 Mrs. Charles Richardson, Vogan avenue, will receive the members in her home.

Accepts New Position

Miss Mary Carr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Carr of West Washington street, a graduate nurse of the New Castle hospital, has accepted a position at the Riverside hospital in Warren, O., and will enter upon her new duties in the near future.

O. G. Club.

Mrs. Charles J. Brickner, Jr., was hostess to associates of the O. G. Card club Wednesday evening at the home of her mother Mrs. William Lennig, 1110 East Washington street.

At the conclusion of play, prizes were awarded Mrs Nels Walsh and Melba Brickner. A delectable lunch was served, the hostess being assisted by her mother.

Pans were completed for a supper and theatre party in Youngstown August 6.

Friday

A. A., Miss Jean Riley, Pennsylvania avenue.

F. O. F., picnic at Cascade park.

M. and K., breakfast at park.

D. W. T., Miss Helen Strobel, Galbraith avenue.

W. A. G., steak fry, Cascade park.

Brisco Club.

Cards featured the regular weekly meeting of the Brisco club on Wednesday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William H Fazzone on Park avenue.

At an appropriate time the hostess served appetizing refreshments.

BRIDES-ELECT HONORED AT TEA

Mrs. George R. Balph and her niece, Miss Isabel Balph, were charming hostesses this afternoon to a group of friends whom they received at an informal tea in honor of Miss Charlotte Patterson of New Wilmington, and Miss Lois Williamson of Pittsburgh, both of whom will be fall brides.

The affair was held at the Balph home on Hazelcroft avenue, which was beautified with colorful garden flowers, yellow and green tones predominating.

Three o'clock was the hour and between forty and fifty guests shared in the afternoon's pleasures. In the dining room, where a lovely tea table was arranged, mothers of the honored guests, Mrs. Rufus C. Patterson and Mrs. C. J. Williamson, poured. Aides included Mrs. William K. Hugus, Mrs. Cassius R. Balph, Mrs. A. Hughes Bartlett, Mrs. E. Lee Boyle:, Mrs. Margaret Blackwood Hanna, Mrs. Robert McKinney White and Miss Jennie L. Morgan.

Surprise Birthday Party.

Music and cards were happy diversions with prizes going to Mr. and Mrs. William Lennig and Melba Brickner.

At a suitable time, a delicious lunch was served, and the honor guest was presented with desirable and useful gifts. Many more happy birthdays were wished Mr. Brickner by the guests before departure.

Hold Reunion.

Approximately 50 members of the Weingartner family met at noon on Wednesday at the farm of Jess Weingartner on the Ellwood road where the annual reunion was enjoyed. A picnic dinner was served at noon with the guests enjoying the afternoon hours in games and other forms of entertainment.

Knight Reunion.

The 13th Knight reunion will be held Saturday, August 4, at Neshannock Falls.

Both noon and evening meals will be served and all relatives will be welcome.

LOVELY SHOWER FOR MISS BETTY HOUSTON

A delightful pre-nuptial courtesy was offered Miss Betty Houston whose marriage to Russell Clark Tait of Mercer, will be an August event, Wednesday afternoon in the home of Miss Elizabeth Parker on Laurel boulevard.

Guests were Highland U. P. church girls, members of the Jean Hill Williamson Missionary society and the class taught by H. M. Wilkinson, who entertained jointly for the honored guest, one of their number. Special guests were Misses Rebecca Tait and Helen McClelland of Mercer and Miss Margaret Sankey of this city.

The party was held on the lawn and for an interesting diversion, the girls hemmed towels, half of which were presented to Miss Houston and the others will be sent to Miss Martha Smith of Reynoldsville, Pa., also a class member who will be married August 28 to Henry Stone, son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Stone of the Wilmington road.

Delightfully featuring was a shower of handsome miscellaneous gifts for Miss Houston, all daintily wrapped and conveying many good wishes for her happiness.

Delicious refreshments were a later pleasure, the several small tables being prettily decorated with garden flowers with pink and white prevailing in appointments.

The bride-elect will again be feted Friday evening at a party to be given in the home of Miss Lucille Emery on Laurel avenue.

Group To Camp.

A group of girls from the Young Menorahs, chaperoned by Mrs. L. Moss, will have a camping outing next week, having taken a cottage at Straub's Beach on the Slippery Rock.

The girls have planned many interesting events for the week, with friends from New Castle as guests.

School Reunion

The Terrace Avenue class of 1900, grades 6 and 6½, are having the annual reunion at Cascade Park Thursday, August 2.

There will be a basket picnic in the grove at 6 o'clock. Jesse Gibson is capably handling all arrangements for the event.

CASTLE BEACH IS SCENE OF PICNIC

Naturalistic beauties at Castle Beach on the Neshannock, appealed to twenty five members and guests of the Everready class of the First M. E. church Wednesday evening, the occasion marking the annual picnic.

Supper was served at 6:30 under the big Sycamore trees, the young people being seated at long tables decorated with flowers. Special covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Linden Reneker and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Reneker, Jr.

In the evening, baseball proved of interest, followed by a dip in the cool waters of the creek. Calvert Thompson, class president, was in charge of the outing.

In the near future, the class will have a corn roast, but the place is undecided upon.

SUNRISE BREAKFAST HONORS MRS. McCLURE

The beauty of the early morning was enjoyed Wednesday when 50 members of the Vigilante class of the First Presbyterian church assembled at the cottage of Mrs. J. Johnson Fisher, Wilmington road, as a farewell courtesy to their teacher, Mrs. Walter E. McClure, who, with her husband, Dr. McClure, will leave here September 1, for Detroit, Mich., where he will take up pastoral duties.

An impressive sunrise devotional service was conducted by Mrs. Robert McKinney White, Mrs. W. K. Hugus and Mrs. H. A. Rugh. During this period Mrs. White read a hymn "Home", which was written by Mrs. McClure.

The breakfast table presented an appearance that aroused the appetites of the members with its baskets of fruit and bowls of colorful garden flowers, and when the most appealing menu had been served, Mrs. John Elliott, vice president of the class in the absence of Mrs. H. M. Kirk, president, in most expressive manner, presented Mrs. McClure with a lovely umbrella, filled with danty handkerchiefs, as a farewell gift from her class members.

Mrs. Roy Hazen paid a beautiful tribute to Mrs. McClure in appreciation of her faithful service to the class, and a most fitting response was given by Mrs. McClure.

The social committee: Mrs. George Harbison, Mrs. N. J. McCluskey, Pearl Dufford, Mrs. H. A. Rugh and Mrs. C. E. Armstrong, arranged the event.

All Day Affair

Mrs. J. C. Carr entertained the 1907 club at an all day party Wednesday at her home on West Washington street.

At noon, a tempting luncheon was served, with covers for twelve. Conversation was the chief pastime of the warm afternoon but after supper at 6:30, a game of cards was enjoyed. Each guest received a pretty prize.

In entertaining, the hostess was assisted by her daughter Catherine.

PICNIC AT CASCADE ON FIFTH BIRTHDAY

Any occasion with ice cream and cake for kiddies is a party, but when it's a birthday party with a big cake and candles, the event is especially marked and this was the case yesterday with little Jimmy Maloney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Maloney of Hillcrest avenue, who celebrated his fifth birthday.

The party was held at Cascade park where in the grove at 6 o'clock an appetizing menu was served with covers for ten. Mixed marigolds and the birthday cake were table centerpieces and the lighted candles on the latter furnished much merriment to the little honor guest when he blew them out later. Among the guests was Miss Margaret Beveridge of Charleroi, Pa.

Mrs. Maloney was assisted in entertaining by her sister, Mrs. W. B. Kilner, and after supper park amusements were pleasures.

Many gifts were showered upon the honored guest.

JUNE WEBSTER GIVEN SHOWER

Miss June Webster, who marriage to Claude Crill will be an August event, was again honored at a pre-nuptial shower Wednesday evening when Mrs. Esther McBride, Englewood avenue, entertained the members of the C. C. class of the Epworth Methodist church.

The evening was featured by bridge and bingo with Miss Grace McCune winning the trophy for bridge and Grace Stitzinger the bingo.

When play was over the group went to the dining room, where Mrs. McBride had arranged a miniature altar before a miniature bride and groom and about this was arranged a stack of vari-sized packages, which contained lovely gifts for the bride-elect.

The guests were then served a cooling menu of refreshments at a table attractively suggestive of nuptial thoughts. Miss Diane Foilke assisted the hostess.

LARGE ATTENDANCE SEWS AT HOSPITAL

Even though the thermometer soared to 120 in some places outside yesterday, and most women folks wanted to stay indoors, a large number of bridge club associates of Mrs. S. W. Perry wended their way at 9 o'clock in the morning to Jameson Memorial hospital and sewed till 12.

Of course, the Solarium on the sixth floor, which is used as a sewing room, is not as hot as the tops of some other buildings, and so, the women cleared up a big amount of work as this was the final meeting of the Aide Society until the first Wednesday in September.

The cutting was done by Mrs. Fred W. Sontum.

Kennedy Reunion Planned

Descendants of Henry and Susanna Kennedy will gather at Cascade park on Saturday, July 28 for their annual reunion. A dinner will be served in the grove at noon.

Bennett Bible Class.

The members of the Dr. Bennett Bible class of the First Christian church will have a meeting Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the church parlors.

BRIDE-ELECT FETED AT KENNEDY HOME

Mrs. William Kennedy, Pine street, with Gertrude Donegan as her associate, entertained a group of friends Wednesday evening as a pre-nuptial courtesy to Harriet Goodman, whose marriage to Norman Gorcys will be an event of July 31.

Three tables of 500 were in play and prizes were awarded Cell Ritty and Cell Kennedy, after which the group went to the dining room where the large table was centered with a miniature wedding scene and surrounded with an array of packages, which were marked for Miss Goodman, and when she opened them they displayed some lovely things for her "hope" chest. Each place was marked by a small umbrella, suggestive of the "shower".

The menu of refreshments was most appropriate to a warm evening.

JUNIORS PICNIC ON WEDNESDAY

Mrs. Ada R. Stone, managing deputy for the W. B. A. was a most gracious hostess Wednesday when she had a picnic outing for the juniors of the W. B. A. of the district, with 19 Butler Juniors; 23 Knox juniors and 22 New Castle Juniors as guests, at a Butler road picnic grove.

Mrs. Alice McGinley of Butler, Mrs. Mina Best of Knox and Mrs. Myrtle Rohrer of New Castle, assisted Mrs. Stone with the entertainment.

Dinner was served at 2:30 with Mrs. G. McElhattan of Knox, Mrs. Anna Moore of Butler, Mr. and Mrs. William Glitch, Mr. and Mrs. John Earl and F. Woods of New Castle as special guests. Ice cream cones for all the kiddies were a donation from Mrs. Stone and pop for the group was a gift from Bob Aiken of Knox.

A program of sports featured the hours after dinner with the running race winners Norma Kline and Louis McElhatten of Knox, "Snooky" Rohrer and Mary Elizabeth Earl of New Castle; cracker race was won by Marjory Markel of New Castle; Rose Stickle and Vivian Hockenberry, Butler; the peanut race was won by Alvena Hepler, Ruth Fry, Harriet Beal and Vivian Smith of Butler; Snooky Rohrer and Claire Gorley of New Castle and Janet Swogger of Knox.

The grand prizes of the afternoon were donated by Mrs. Stone and Betty Aiken of Knox were won by Vivian Hockenberry and Ruth Fry of Butler and Snooky Rohrer of New Castle.

REUNION IN AUGUST OF FORMER IOWANS

There will be a reunion of Iowans at Buhl Park, Sharon, Saturday, August 4, to which are invited all folks who have ever lived in Iowa, have friends there, or are, in any way, interested in the western state.

H. A. Parshall of West Middlesex, was in town today to see Dr. E. A. Crooks, pastor of the Reformed Presbyterian church, (who is a former resident of Iowa) to make further arrangements.

The affair will be in the nature of an annual basket picnic with a fine program, of sports scheduled for the afternoon.

The first reunion of the organization was held a year ago at Buhl Park with a large number of people attending from this vicinity.

Mrs. Ralph Gilkey of West Middlesex, is secretary this year and she is making an effort to get in touch with those out in 1933 and hopes to contact an even greater number before August 4.

Birthday Surprise.

When Bobby Myers of Randolph street returned to his home at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening, he was greatly surprised to see a nice new tent set up in the yard of his home and at the side of it a long table arranged and 18 of his boy friends seated around it.

When he saw the lovely cake in the center of the table, lighted with 10 candles he realized the event was a birthday surprise. After partaking of a delicious dinner menu, the young man was taken into the tent, which was a gift from his parents, and there he found a large basket filled with gifts, remembrances from his boy friends.

Aiding the hostess in serving were Mrs. Harry Haman, Mrs. Wilber Goodheart and Mrs. M. P. Boulden.

The boys played games during the evening.

G. T. E. Club.

Mrs. Jack Jones of Forrest street delightfully entertained the members of the G. T. E. club in her home Wednesday evening.

After a period of cards prizes were awarded Mrs. Earl White and Mrs. Cecil Logan, after which the members were refreshed with a cooling lunch. The hostess had Mrs. George Price and Mrs. Charles Richardson as her aides.

Plans were made for a wiener roast Saturday evening, at which time the husbands will be guests.

August 8 Mrs. Charles Richardson, Vogan avenue, will receive the members in her home.

Accepts New Position

Miss Mary Carr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Carr of West Washington street, a graduate nurse of the New Castle hospital, has accepted a position at the Riverside hospital in Warren, O., and will enter upon her new duties in the near future.

O. G. Club.

Mrs. Charles J. Brickner, Jr., was hostess to associates of the O. G. Card club Wednesday evening at the home of her mother Mrs. William Lennig, 1110 East Washington street.

At the conclusion of play, prizes were awarded Mrs Nels Walsh and Melba Brickner. A delectable lunch was served, the hostess being assisted by her mother.

Pans were completed for a supper and theatre party in Youngstown August 6.

Friday

A. A., Miss Jean Riley, Pennsylvania avenue.

F. O. F., picnic at Cascade park.

M. and K., breakfast at park.

D. W. T., Miss Helen Strobel, Galbraith avenue.

W. A. G., steak fry, Cascade park.

Brisco Club.

Cards featured the regular weekly meeting of the Brisco club on Wednesday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Fazzone on Park avenue.

At an appropriate time the hostess served appetizing refreshments.

The 13th Knight reunion will be held Saturday, August 4, at Neshannock Falls.

Both noon and evening meals will be served and all relatives will be welcome.

LOVELY SHOWER FOR MISS BETTY HOUSTON

A delightful pre-nuptial courtesy was offered Miss Betty Houston whose marriage to Russell Clark Tait of Mercer, will be an August event, Wednesday afternoon in the home of Miss Elizabeth Parker on Laurel boulevard.

Guests were Highland U. P. church girls, members of the Jean Hill Williamson Missionary society and the class taught by H. M. Wilkinson, who entertained jointly for the honored guest, one of their number. Special guests were Misses Rebecca Tait and Helen McClelland of Mercer and Miss Margaret Sankey of this city.

The party was held on the lawn and for an interesting diversion, the girls hemmed towels, half of which were presented to Miss Houston and the others will be sent to Miss Martha Smith of Reynoldsville, Pa., also a class member who will be married August 28 to Henry Stone, son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Stone of the Wilmington road.

Delightfully featuring was a shower of handsome miscellaneous gifts for Miss Houston, all daintily wrapped and conveying many good wishes for her happiness.

Delicious refreshments were a later pleasure, the several small tables being prettily decorated with garden flowers with pink and white prevailing in appointments.

The bride-elect will again be feted Friday evening at a party to be given in the home of Miss Lucille Emery on Laurel avenue.

Group To Camp.

A group of girls from the Young Menorahs, chaperoned by Mrs. L. Moss, will have a camping outing next week, having taken a cottage at Straub's Beach on the Slippery Rock.

The girls have planned many interesting events for the week, with friends from New Castle as guests.

School Reunion

The Terrace Avenue class of 1900, grades 6 and 6½, are having the annual reunion at Cascade Park Thursday, August 2.

There will be a basket picnic in the grove at 6 o'clock. Jesse Gibson is capably handling all arrangements for the event.

CASTLE BEACH IS SCENE OF PICNIC

Naturalistic beauties at Castle Beach on the Neshannock, appealed to twenty five members and guests of the Everready class of the First M. E. church Wednesday evening, the occasion marking the annual picnic.

Supper was served at 6:30 under the big Sycamore trees, the young people being seated at long tables decorated with flowers. Special covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Linden Reneker and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Reneker, Jr.

In the evening, baseball proved of interest, followed by a dip in the cool waters of the creek. Calvert Thompson, class president, was in charge of the outing.

In the near future, the class will have a corn roast, but the place is undecided upon.

SUNRISE BREAKFAST HONORS MRS. McCLURE

The beauty of the early morning was enjoyed Wednesday when 50 members of the Vigilante class of the First Presbyterian church assembled at the cottage of Mrs. J. Johnson Fisher, Wilmington road, as a farewell courtesy to their teacher, Mrs. Walter E. McClure, who, with her husband, Dr. McClure, will leave here September 1, for Detroit, Mich., where he will take up pastoral duties.

An impressive sunrise devotional service was conducted by Mrs. Robert McKinney White, Mrs. W. K. Hugus and Mrs. H. A. Rugh. During this period Mrs. White read a hymn "Home", which was written by Mrs. McClure.

The breakfast table presented an appearance that aroused the appetites of the members with its baskets of fruit and bowls of colorful garden flowers, and when the most appealing menu had been served, Mrs. John Elliott, vice president of the class ,in the absence of Mrs. H. M. Kirk, president, in most expressive manner, presented Mrs. McClure with a lovely umbrella, filled with danty handkerchiefs, as a farewell gift from her class members.

Mrs. Roy Hazen paid a beautiful tribute to Mrs. McClure in appreciation of her faithful service to the class, and a most fitting response was given by Mrs. McClure.

The social committee: Mrs. George Harbison, Mrs. N. J. McCluskey, Pearl Dufford, Mrs. H. A. Rugh and Mrs. C. E. Armstrong, arranged the event.

All Day Affair

Mrs. J. C. Carr entertained the 1907 club at an all day party Wednesday at her home on West Washington street.

At noon, a tempting luncheon was served, with covers for twelve. Conversation was the chief pastime of the warm afternoon but after supper at 6:30, a game of cards was enjoyed. Each guest received a pretty prize.

In entertaining, the hostess was assisted by her daughter Catherine.

PICNIC AT CASCADE ON FIFTH BIRTHDAY

Any occasion with ice cream and cake for kiddies is a party, but when it's a birthday party with a big cake and candles, the event is especially marked and this was the case yesterday with little Jimmy Maloney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Maloney of Hillcrest avenue, who celebrated his fifth birthday.

The party was held at Cascade park where in the grove at 6 o'clock an appetizing menu was served with covers for ten. Mixed marigolds and the birthday cake were table centerpieces and the lighted candles on the latter furnished much merriment to the little honor guest when he blew them out later. Among the guests was Miss Margaret Beveridge of Charleroi, Pa.

Mrs. Maloney was assisted in entertaining by her sister, Mrs. W. B. Kilner, and after supper park amusements were pleasures.

Many gifts were showered upon the honored guest.

JUNE WEBSTER GIVEN SHOWER

Miss June Webster, who marriage to Claude Crill will be an August event, was again honored at a pre-nuptial shower Wednesday evening when Mrs. Esther McBride, Englewood avenue, entertained the members of the C. C. class of the Epworth Methodist church.

The evening was featured by bridge and bingo with Miss Grace McCune winning the trophy for bridge and Grace Stitzinger the bingo.

When play was over the group went to the dining room, where Mrs. McBride had arranged a miniature altar before a miniature bride and groom and about this was arranged a stack of vari-sized packages, which contained lovely gifts for the bride-elect.

The guests were then served a cooling menu of refreshments at a table attractively suggestive of nuptial thoughts. Miss Diane Foilke assisted the hostess.

LARGE ATTENDANCE SEWS AT HOSPITAL

Even though the thermometer soared to 120 in some places outside yesterday, and most women folks wanted to stay indoors, a large number of bridge club associates of Mrs. S. W. Perry wended their way at 9 o'clock in the morning to Jameson Memorial hospital and sewed till 12.

Of course, the Solarium on the sixth floor, which is used as a sewing room, is not as hot as the tops of some other buildings, and so, the women cleared up a big amount of work as this was the final meeting of the Aide Society until the first Wednesday in September.

The cutting was done by Mrs. Fred W. Sontum.

Kennedy Reunion Planned

Descendants of Henry and Susanna Kennedy will gather at Cascade park on Saturday, July 28 for their annual reunion. A dinner will be served in the grove at noon.

Bennett Bible Class.

The members of the Dr. Bennett Bible class of the First Christian church will have a meeting Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the church parlors.

BRIDE-ELECT FETED AT KENNEDY HOME

Mrs. William Kennedy, Pine street, with Gertrude Donegan as her associate, entertained a group of friends Wednesday evening as a pre-nuptial courtesy to Harriet Goodman, whose marriage to Norman Gorcys will be an event of July 31.

Three tables of 500 were in play and prizes were awarded Ceil Ritty and Ceil Kennedy, after which the group went to the dining room where the large table was centered with a miniature wedding scene and surrounded with an array of packages, which were marked for Miss Goodman, and when she opened them they displayed some lovely things for her "hope" chest. Each place was marked by a small umbrella, suggestive of the "shower".

The menu of refreshments was most appropriate to a warm evening.

JUNIORS PICNIC ON WEDNESDAY

Mrs. Ada R. Stone, managing deputy for the W. B. A. was a most gracious hostess Wednesday when she had a picnic outing for the juniors of the W. B. A. of the district, with 19 Butler Juniors; 23 Knox juniors and 22 New Castle Juniors as guests, at a Butler road picnic grove.

Mrs. Alice McGinley of Butler, Mrs. Mina Best of Knox and Mrs. Myrtle Rohrer of New Castle, assisted Mrs. Stone with the entertainment.

Dinner was served at 2:30 with Mrs. G. McElhattan of Knox, Mrs. Anna Moore of Butler, Mr. and Mrs. William Glitch, Mr. and Mrs. John Earl and F. Woods of New Castle as special guests. Ice cream cones for all the kiddies were a donation fr Mrs. Stone and pop for the group was a gift from Bob Aiken of Knox.

A program of sports featured the hours after dinner with the running race winners Norma Kline and Louis McElhatten of Knox, "Snooky" Rohrer and Mary Elizabeth Earl of New Castle; cracker race was won by Marjory Markel of New Castle; Rose Stickle and Vivian Hockenberry, Butler; the peanut race was won by Alvena Hepler, Ruth Fry, Harriet Beal and Vivian Smith of Butler; Snooky Rohrer and Claire Gorley of New Castle and Janet Swogger of Knox.

The grand prizes of the afternoon were donated by Mrs. Stone and Betty Aiken of Knox were won by Vivian Hockenberry and Ruth Fry of Butler and Snooky Rohrer of New Castle.

REUNION IN AUGUST OF FORMER IOWANS

There will be a reunion of Iowans at Buhl Park, Sharon, Saturday, August 4, to which are invited all folks who have ever lived in Iowa, have friends there, or are, in any way, interested in the western state.

H. A. Parshall of West Middlesex, was in town today to see Dr. E. A. Crooks, pastor of the Reformed Presbyterian church, (who is a former resident of Iowa) to make further arrangements.

The affair will be in the nature of an annual basket picnic with a fine progran. of sports scheduled for the afternoon.

The first reunion of the organization was held a year ago at Buhl Park with a large number of people attending from this vicinity.

Mrs. Ralph Gilkey of West Middlesex, is secretary this year and she is making an effort to get in touch with those out in 1933 and hopes to contact an even greater number before August 4.

Birthday Surprise.

When Bobby Myers of Randolph street returned to his home at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening, he was greatly surprised to see a nice new tent set up in the yard of his home and at the side of it a long table arranged and 18 of his boy friends seated around it.

When he saw the lovely cake in the center of the table, lighted with 10 candles he realized the event was a birthday surprise. After partaking of a delicious dinner menu, the young man was taken into the tent, which was a gift from his parents, and there he found a large basket filled with gifts, remembrances from his boy friends.

Aiding the hostess in serving were Mrs. Harry Haman, Mrs. Wilber Goodheart and Mrs. M. P. Boulden.

The boys played games during the evening.

G. T. E. Club.

Mrs. Jack Jones of Forrest street delightfully entertained the members of the G. T. E. club in her home Wednesday evening.

After a period of cards prizes were awarded Mrs. Earl White and Mrs. Cecil Logan, after which the members were refreshed with a cooling lunch. The hostess had Mrs. George Price and Mrs. Charles Richardson as her aides.

Plans were made for a wiener roast Saturday evening, at which time the husbands will be guests.

August 8 Mrs. Charles Richardson, Vogan avenue, will receive the members in her home.

Accepts New Position

Miss Mary Carr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Carr of West Washington street, a graduate nurse of the New Castle hospital, has accepted a position at the Riverside hospital in Warren, O., and will enter upon her new duties in the near future.

O. G. Club.

Mrs. Charles J. Brickner, Jr., was hostess to associates of the O. G. Card club Wednesday evening at the home of her mother Mrs. William Lennig, 1110 East Washington street.

At the conclusion of play, prizes were awarded Mrs Nels Walsh and Melba Brickner. A delectable lunch was served, the hostess being assisted by her mother.

Pans were completed for a supper and theatre party in Youngstown August 6.

TIME FOR A DECISION

CONDEMNATION of the navy dirigible, Los Angeles, as unsafe for further active service will have the effect of reviving the question of the value of airships as weapons of national defense.

The issue has been debated for years, with no decision recorded. Supposed experts in such matters are divided in their opinions. Tests have been made, but these have not served to settle the controversy.

With the Los Angeles out of commission, the country has only one dirigible, the Macon, in active service. It participated in the recent maneuvers of the fleet on the latter's passage from the Pacific to the Atlantic, and a report on its performance now is before naval authorities. Unofficial reports at the time credited the Macon with doing valuable work.

Several million dollars has been expended by the United States in experimenting with dirigibles. These experiments have been marked by disasters that have taken a number of lives. They are not to be condemned merely because of this. Nearly all progress is purchased at the sacrifice of life.

It seems, though, that the experiments by now should have furnished sufficient reliable data on which to base a decision as to the value of dirigibles in warfare. Before indulging in further costly tests, the government would do well to make a serious and expert study of the results to date, in an effort to determine whether new expenditures and risks would be justified.

LOCAL POLICE HANDICAPPED

Department of Justice agents have cut another notch in their guns and given municipal police an inferiority complex. They are living nobly up to their reputation of getting their man. The big mistake in the career of "Dangerous John" Dillinger seems to have been the unlawful transportation of a stolen automobile across a state line, the crime for which he was sought by the federal government.

Advocates of a system of federal police to supplant all municipal and state police will use the slaying of Dillinger with good effect as propaganda. Where several states and great cities had failed the federal government had succeeded.

What lesson the desperado fraternity shall learn from this latest chapter in the amazing history of crime in America it is too early to say. Some may turn to making a living honestly or at least within the law; others may just make it an inviolable rule to stay away from state lines with stolen automobiles.

As for the American public it is now more convinced than ever that if crime is to be put down in the United States the federal government will have to do it. And yet that is unfair to the other law enforcement officers, who are less at fault than the system under which they operate. The department of justice agent gets his man because he takes no time off from the hunt to slow down motorists, or shoot stray dogs. You cannot stop to shoot squirrels while hunting wolves.

Reading of the taking of Dillinger, dead or alive, a society outraged by the brutal Lindbergh kidnapping and murder will take new hope that some day the perpetrators of that atrocity will be overtaken by retributive justice.

DECLINING BIRTH RATE

If viewed merely in the light of the great army of unemployed that now constitutes the country's biggest problem, the nation's declining birth rate fails to take on the alarming proportions attributed to it by Dr. Oliver M. Baker, senior economist of the department of agriculture.

Were the country's population suddenly reduced by from 10,000,000 to 15,000,000, the present economic situation would take on a quite different and improved appearance.

Dr. Baker, however, takes a long-range view of the situation. He naturally expects that industrial and economic conditions eventually will return to normal, when there will be plenty of work for everybody who wants to work and food for those willing to earn it.

The county's population, he says, is approaching a stationary point, which may be reached within the next 50 years. Should the birth rate then continue to drop, there would be precipitated a serious economic situation marked by lessened demand for farm and industrial products.

Nature, however, has a way of correcting matters and readjusting conditions that can not always be foreseen by man.

HISTORIC FINALE

When Secretary of the Navy Swanson recently signed an order directing the scrapping of 17 over-age destroyers, he closed the careers of some rather historic vessels.

For among these 17 obsolete warships were five which once played a spectacular role. They were the first American fighting ships to enter the European war zone, and play an active part in it, after the United States declared war on Germany.

This country had been in the war only a few weeks when that little destroyer flotilla reached an English port. They were the first visible, tangible sign of American participation in the conflict; as such, they bore significance infinitely greater than that of any other ships in our whole navy.

NO HEROISM ABOUT DILLINGER

No amount of sentiment, by any stretch of the imagination, can make heroes of men of the Dillinger type. The phrase "public enemies" describes them with relentless accuracy. Not the faintest tinge of romance can be honestly woven about the career of John Dillinger. No phase of it calls for admiration. Many of his "girl friends" are now serving terms in prison for mistakenly trying to protect him from the law.

His life and death should be a stern lesson to misguided youths who may be tempted to follow in the tinseled path of this cheap desperado. For the community at large his eradication is an incentive to the authorities to go ahead with their well-planned program of ridding the nation of thugs.

Another cause of heart trouble is the idea that a 50-year-old heart can take a 10-year-old's exercise.

NO MORE PRIVATE WORLDS

We make private worlds for ourselves. We think we can escape from the irritating world by going indoors and turning the lock on life—and then we'll be safe and secure and happy.

But if you try to escape, you can't do it. When you run away you run straight into a self-made prison, and if you shut the doors tight enough and lock all the windows and pull down the blinds and stuff every crack, in time you go a little mad or entirely mad. . . . That's what is wrong with insane people, and that's what is wrong with permanently unhappy people of all kinds. People who whimper or snarl and complain that the world is not cut to their measure.

But what can an unhappy mortal do?" you may ask.

"He can unlock his doors," says Phyllis Bottome, "and stand open to life." And if he does that he will be happy and useful, with a clean wind blowing through his house.

"The way I look at it now," says a man named Arnold in Phyllis Bottome's "Private Worlds", "is that there mustn't be any private worlds! Letting oneself be cut off by pride—or shutting oneself up completely in a dangerous intimacy—or hiding because of fear—well, those things aren't the escapes they look like. There is in all of them a sort of solitary confinement—even in the intimacy; one's got to belong to the outside world as well! Then one's all right! I don't mea that one need go on about talking—but one mustn't keep the best of oneself up one's sleeve. One must stand open to life. . . . One needn't bother about individuals letting one down. What is it Nietzche says: 'In the end man experiences only his true self.' It's the way one takes what one goes through, not what one goes through, that is to be trusted or distrusted.

"When you come to think of it, you can't do anyone more good than he'll let you, either! No patient in this hospital, for instance, can be cured if he becomes inaccessible! The private world is complete then, and has unhitched itself forever from mankind."

The man who speaks these words was once a madman, shut away in himself. He hated and distrusted the world and would not come out. . . . But at last, through the trust of other men, he came to trust himself and to live easily and freely once more, in the wide world instead of his private world.

TAKE THE BLAME WHEN YOU DESERVE IT

Why do you always blame another person when you make a fool of yourself?

If you imbibe too freely, you claim that it was a case of the crowd forcing you to take more than you should have taken.

If you step out a bit, you assert that your home is not congenial. If you sustain a heavy loss in a game of draw, you allege that it was necessary for you to set in order to make the game interesting for the other fellows.

If you remain out too late at night, you say you did not want to break up the party by leaving at the time you should have left.

If you plunge on a horse race, you claim that the crowd was making up a pot and needed what you put in.

If you engage in a quarrel in your home, you insist that the other person in the dispute was responsible.

If you get into a fight, you say you were not the aggressor.

Always excusing yourself and never admitting your weakness.

As an adult, in full possession of your facilities, you should be able to regulate your actions.

Can't you see that always blaming another for your misdeeds makes you out a pretty weak brother?

THE DITCH DIGGER TALKS

A youngster to his father said:
"I ran away from school today.
I thought I'd rather work instead
And earn a grown man's pay.

"For all you said I failed to heed,
But I have had a talk today
With one who scarce can write and read,
And I am back at home to stay.

"A digger of a ditch was he,
Who said, while learning on his spade,
'Tis only strong you have to be
To learn my very common trade.

"'I could have gone to school but I,
About the self-same age as you,
Threw every chance for knowledge by
To get a job that I could do.

"'Man gets no further than his will,
In spite of blunders and mistakes,
The place in life which he shall fill
Is settled by the choice he makes.

"'If nothing more you wish to be
Than I am now, then run away;
But, youngster, take this tip from me,
This is a cheerless place to stay.'"

A digger of a ditch was he,
Who met a boy and understood,
And showed him things he ought to see
Much better than his father could.

IDEA FOR COLLECTING DELINQUENT ACCOUNTS

Playwrights well know the importance of ending the play just before the wedding—they leave that to the imagination.

The same principal might well be applied to stopping some collection letters just before you get ready to ask for the money—on the theory that a collection letter which does not ask for a check is so unusual that it is outstanding.

This may not be in order when the amount of the account is large but it has possibilities in collecting small bills where it is essentially important to get the money and leave the customer feeling kindly toward you.

Such a letter has been used for some time with success by the editor of a Missouri newspaper to delinquent subscribers. He lets the dollar sign do the asking.

The World At A Glance

Great Problems Await President What Will The Answer Be? Are These Views Of His Advisers?

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, July 26.—Momentous problems await President Roosevelt's arrival on American shores August 2 at Portland, Ore.

Dramatic events have occurred in his absence—the most dramatic having been the San Francisco strike and the so-called Vigilante raids following it.

Beneath the surface, however, there has been more. France has suffered a severe financial crisis. Germany has headed definitely toward devaluation.

In the United States, a drought has blighted million of acres, cost of living has outstripped wages, and industrial production has declined (although good business has been promised for autumn).

What will the president's words to the nation be? What action will be take, or what action can he take?

Those are questions repeatedly asked of this writer.

BASIC TROUBLE?

Agitators have been blamed for the San Francisco, Seattle, Minneapolis strikes. Persons in the Roosevelt administration who have made a study of the labor problem and who undoubtedly influence the president do not take that view. They see the lack of strong government agency, such as was provided in the original Wagner labor bill, as the reason for failure to effect an immediate settlement.

The New York Times probably expresses the administration point of view on this when it states:

"The point is that if one is going to insist upon the maintenance of law, he must not himself violate it. If he is resolved to demand, as President Roosevelt did, 'common sense and good order' in others, he must not himself act like a disorderly fanatic."

DISTRIBUTION

Economists being widely read in New York today blame today's widespread disturbances far beyond elements generally accepted.

Stuart Chase, for example(one of the best sellers), is of the opinion, shared by some of the largest financiers, that the world problem now is one of distribution, and that the battle for control of distribution will be the uppermost one.

World markets have disappeared due to a breakdown of currency and exchange system and the barring of trade among nations.

So great has the breakdown been that governments themselves have taken over the matter of distribution of money, of goods, of crops—and, thus, all of a sudden, we have a new social order which bewilders us and to which we have not yet adapted ourselves.

More of that tomorrow—for the theory is supported in quarters that can vitally affect the nation, both economically and in the nature of its government.

A LOOK BACK

Last February this writer said in an article on "The Outlook for President Roosevelt's Second Year":

"If the mid-channel course of President Roosevelt fails or does not live up to hopes in the breasts of millions, there may be one of two reactions—or there may be a clash of both:

"1. Strong reactionism—in short, fascism.

"2. Militant swing to the left.

"The danger to the Roosevelt administration lies in the opposition of both groups—the reactionaries (the diehards) and the militant left-wingers. Both cannot win. Both, however, can join hands for a wrecking of the president's policies.

"The men who defy governments on, say, such a matter as NRA labor provisions, will not stand idly by as the government 'encroaches' and 'dictates'. No group willingly will permit itself to be deprived of its rule. It is not human nature to surrender might and power with meek consent.

"Nor will the workers who thought they had begun to see the light stop their forward movement at an imaginary line. . . .

"The president's weakness lies chiefly in his dependence on political sagacity. . . .

"Economic events, because they touch the very bread and butter of man, provoke the most uncontrollable emotional crises. The battle for existence has remained paramount through the ages."

THURSDAY JULY 26

The World War 20 Years Ago Today—July 26, 1914—The German kaiser, at Potsdam, sees the text of the Serbian reply to the Austro-Hungarian demands for the first time. His ally had not cared to send him a copy of it, he learns the contents through Serbia! He is relieved, and he writes in the margin (as we know from the original document revealed after the German revolution in 1918):

"This is more than one could have expected! A great moral victory for Vienna; but with it every reason for war drops away, and Giesl might have remained quietly in Belgrade! On the strength of this I should never have ordered mobilization!"

The imperial chancellor, Count von Berthmann Hollweg, telegraphs the German ambasasdor at London, Prince Lichnowsky (a kinsman of the Russian ambassador there):

"Austria-Hungary has declared officially and solemnly in St. Petersburg that she contemplates no acquisition of territory in Serbia, and that she will not endanger the continuance of the kingdom but wishes only to secure quiet. According to report received here, Russia is about to summon several bodies of reservists immediately, which would be equivalent to mobilization against us. If this news is corroborated, we shall be forced against our will to take measures to meet it. Today our efforts are still directed toward localizing the trouble and maintaining the peace in Europe. For this reason we ask that the strongest possible pressure be brought to bear in St. Petersburg for achieving this end."

Great Days—July 26, 1281—A typhoon of cyclonic force and peculiar violence, occurring in the China sea) saved Japan from the Mongol horde that had conquered all the rest of Asia.

Kublai Khan, who inspired the classic pages of Marco Polo (his servant for 17 years), dispatched 100,000 of his warriors in 3,000 ships to capture the island empire. The typhoon wrecked the fleet on its shores, and 65,000 of the troops were drowned. The others, demoralized, were butchered by the Japanese.

VERY OLD

The oldest known live creature in the world is an alligator on exhibition at St. Augustine, Florida, known as "Old Ponce."

He is named for Ponce de Leon, but was about five hundred years old at the time that explorer discovered Florida. Old Ponce's present age is estimated at nine hundred years.

He lies immovable for hours, showing no signs of life until food comes. Then he is as vigorous and youthful as his youngest great-great-great alligator grandson, fifty times removed.

He weighs 1,200 pounds and eats seventy-five pounds of meat one meal.

THE RIGHT PROCEDURE

A pretty girl fell overboard, and her lover, with her on the excursion, leaned over the side of the boat as she rose to the surface and cried, "Give me your hand!"

"Please ask father," she answered, as she sank for the second time.

Ah, well, the more they rock the boat this summer, the less they will start fires with gasoline next winter.

TIME FOR A DECISION

CONDEMNATION of the navy dirigible, Los Angeles, as unsafe for further active service will have the effect of reviving the question of the value of airships as weapons of national defense.

The issue has been debated for years, with no decision recorded. Supposed experts in such matters are divided in their opinions. Tests have been made, but these have not served to settle the controversy.

With the Los Angeles out of commission, the country has only one dirigible, the Macon, in active service. It participated in the recent maneuvers of the fleet on the latter's passage from the Pacific to the Atlantic, and a report on its performance now is before naval authorities. Unofficial reports at the time credited the Macon with doing valuable work.

Several million dollars has been expended by the United States in experimenting with dirigibles. These experiments have been marked by disasters that have taken a number of lives. They are not to be condemned merely because of this. Nearly all progress is purchased at the sacrifice of life.

It seems, though, that the experiments by now should have furnished sufficient reliable data on which to base a decision as to the value of dirigibles in warfare. Before indulging in further costly tests, the government would do well to make a serious and expert study of the results to date, in an effort to determine whether new expenditures and risks would be justified.

LOCAL POLICE HANDICAPPED

Department of Justice agents have cut another notch in their guns and given municipal police an inferiority complex. They are living nobly up to their reputation of getting their man. The big mistake in the career of "Dangerous John" Dillinger seems to have been the unlawful transportation of a stolen automobile across a state line, the crime for which he was sought by the federal government.

Advocates of a system of federal police to supplant all municipal and state police will use the slaying of Dillinger with good effect as propaganda. Where several states and great cities had failed the federal government had succeeded.

What lesson the desperado fraternity shall learn from this latest chapter in the amazing history of crime in America it is too early to say. Some may turn to making a living honestly or at least within the law; others may just make it an inviolable rule to stay away from state lines with stolen automobiles.

As for the American public it is now more convinced than ever that if crime is to be put down in the United States the federal government will have to do it. And yet that is unfair to the other law enforcement officers, who are less at fault than the system under which they operate. The department of justice agent gets his man because he takes no time off from the hunt to slow down motorists, or shoot stray dogs. You cannot stop to shoot squirrels while hunting wolves.

Reading of the taking of Dillinger, dead or alive, a society outraged by the brutal Lindbergh kidnapping and murder will take new hope that some day the perpetrators of that atrocity will be overtaken by retributive justice.

DECLINING BIRTH RATE

If viewed merely in the light of the great army of unemployed that now constitutes the country's biggest problem, the nation's declining birth rate fails to take on the alarming proportions attributed to it by Dr. Oliver M. Baker, senior economist of the department of agriculture.

Were the country's population suddenly reduced by from 10,000,000 to 15,000,000, the present economic situation would take on a quite different and improved appearance.

Dr. Baker, however, takes a long-range view of the situation. He naturally expects that industrial and economic conditions eventually will return to normal, when there will be plenty of work for everybody who wants to work and food for those willing to earn it.

The county's population, he says, is approaching a stationary point, which may be reached within the next 50 years. Should the birth rate then continue to drop, there would be precipitated a serious economic situation marked by lessened demand for farm and industrial products.

Nature, however, has a way of correcting matters and readjusting conditions that can not always be foreseen by man.

HISTORIC FINALE

When Secretary of the Navy Swanson recently signed an order directing the scrapping of 17 over-age destroyers, he closed the careers of some rather historic vessels.

For among these 17 obsolete warships were five which once played a spectacular role. They were the first American fighting ships to enter the European war zone, and play an active part in it, after the United States declared war on Germany.

This country had been in the war only a few weeks when that little destroyer flotilla reached an English port. They were the first visible, tangible sign of American participation in the conflict; as such, they bore significance infinitely greater than that of any other ships in our whole navy.

And now they're going out of existence—the destroyers Conyngham, Porter, McDougal, Wainwright and Davis. Their passing is a reminder of a historic event.

NO HEROISM ABOUT DILLINGER

No amount of sentiment, by any stretch of the imagination, can make heroes of men of the Dillinger type. The phrase "public enemies" describes them with relentless accuracy. Not the fainest tinge of romance can be honestly woven about the career of John Dillinger. No phase of it calls for admiration. Many of his "girl friends" are now serving terms in prison for mistakenly trying to protect him from the law.

His life and death should be a stern lesson to misguided youths who may be tempted to follow in the tinseled path of this cheap desperado. For the community at large his eradication is an incentive to the authorities to go ahead with their well-planned progrom of ridding the nation of thugs.

Another cause of heart trouble is the idea that a 50-year-old heart can take a 10-year-old's exercise.

NO MORE PRIVATE WORLDS

We make private worlds for ourselves. We think we can escape from the irritating world by going indoors and turning the lock on life—and then we'll be safe and secure and happy.

But if you try to escape, you can't do it. When you run away you run straight into a self-made prison, and if you shut the doors tight enough and lock all the windows and pull down the blinds and stuff every crack, in time you go a little mad or entirely mad. . . . That's what is wrong with insane people, and that's what is wrong with permanently unhappy people of all kinds. People who whimper or snarl and complain that the world is not cut to their measure.

But what can an unhappy mortal do?" you may ask.

"He can unlock his doors," says Phyllis Bottome, "and stand open to life." And if he does that he will be happy and useful, with a clean wind blowing through his house.

"The way I look at it now," says a man named Arnold in Phyllis Bottome's "Private Worlds", "is that there mustn't be any private worlds! Letting oneself be cut off by pride—or shutting oneself up completely in a dangerous intimacy—or hiding because of fear—well, those things aren't the escapes they look like. There is in all of them a sort of solitary confinement—even in the intimacy; one's got to belong to the outside world as well! Then one's all right! I don't mean that one need go on about talking—but one mustn't keep the best of oneself up one's sleeve. One must stand open to life. . . . One needn't bother about individuals letting one down. What is it Nietzche says: 'In the end man experiences only his true self.' It's the way one takes what one goes through, not what one goes through, that is to be trusted or distrusted.

"When you come to think of it, you can't do anyone more good than he'll let you, either! No patient in this hospital, for instance, can be cured if he becomes inaccessible! The private world is complete then, and has unhitched itself forever from mankind."

The man who speaks these words was once a madman, shut away in himself. He hated and distrusted the world and would not come out. . . . But at last, through the trust of other men, he came to trust himself and to live easily and freely once more, in the wide world instead of his private world.

TAKE THE BLAME WHEN YOU DESERVE IT

Why do you always blame another person when you make a fool of yourself?

If you imbibe too freely, you claim that it was a case of the crowd forcing you to take more than you should have taken.

If you step out a bit, you assert that your home is not congenial. If you sustain a heavy loss in a game of draw, you allege that it was necessary for you to set in order to make the game interesting for the other fellows.

If you remain out too late at night, you say you did not want to break up the party by leaving at the time you should have left.

If you plunge on a horse race, you claim that the crowd was making up a pot and needed what you put in.

If you engage in a quarrel in your home, you insist that the other person in the dispute was responsible.

If you get into a fight, you say you were not the aggressor.

Always excusing yourself and never admitting your weakness.

As an adult, in full possession of your facilities, you should be able to regulate your actions.

Can't you see that always blaming another for your misdeeds makes you out a pretty weak brother?

THE DITCH DIGGER TALKS

A youngster to his father said:
"I ran away from school today.
I thought I'd rather work instead
And earn a grown man's pay.

"For all you said I failed to heed,
But I have had a talk today
With one who scarce can write and read,
And I am back at home to stay.

"A digger of a ditch was he,
Who said, while learning on his spade,
'Tis only strong you have to be
To learn my very common trade.

"'I could have gone to school but I,
About the self-same age as you,
Threw every chance for knowledge by
To get a job that I could do.

"'Man gets no further than his will,
In spite of blunders and mistakes,
The place in life which he shall fill
Is settled by the choice he makes.

"'If nothing more you wish to be
Than I am now, then run away;
But, youngster, take this tip from me,
This is a cheerless place to stay.'"

A digger of a ditch was he,
Who met a boy and understood,
And showed him things he ought to see
Much better than his father could.

IDEA FOR COLLECTING DELINQUENT ACCOUNTS

Playwrights well know the importance of ending the play just before the wedding—they leave that to the imagination.

The same principal might well be applied to stopping some collection letters just before you get ready to ask for the money—on the theory that a collection letter which does not ask for a check is so unusual that it is outstanding.

This may not be in order when the amount of the account is large but it has possibilities in collecting small bills where it is essentially important to get the money and leave the customer feeling kindly toward you.

Such a letter has been used for some time with success by the editor of a Missouri newspaper to delinquent subscribers. He lets the dollar sign do the asking.

Great Problems Await President
What Will The Answer Be?
Are These Views Of His Advisers?

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, July 26.—Momentous problems await President Roosevelt's arrival on American shores August 2 at Portland, Ore.

Dramatic events have occurred in his absence—the most dramatic having been the San Francisco strike and the so-called Vigilante raids following it.

Beneath the surface, however, there has been more. France has suffered a severe financial crisis. Germany has headed definitely toward devaluation.

In the United States, a drought has blighted million of acres, cost of living has outstripped wages, and industrial production has declined (although good business has been promised for autumn).

What will the president's words to the nation be? What action will be take, or what action can he take?

Those are questions repeatedly asked of this writer.

BASIC TROUBLE?

Agitators have been blamed for the San Francisco, Seattle, Minneapolis strikes. Persons in the Roosevelt administration who have made a study of the labor problem and who undoubtedly influence the president do not take that view. They see the lack of strong government agency, such as was provided in the original Wagner labor bill, as the reason for failure to effect an immediate settlement.

The New York Times probably expresses the administration point of view on this when it states:

"The point is that if one is going to insist upon the maintenance of law, he must not himself violate it. If he is resolved to demand, as President Roosevelt did, 'common sense and good order' in others, he must not himself act like a disorderly fanatic."

DISTRIBUTION

Economists being widely read in New York today blame today's widespread disturbances far beyond elements generally accepted.

Stuart Chase, for example(one of the best sellers), is of the opinion, shared by some of the largest financiers, that the world problem now is one of distribution, and that the battle for control of distribution will be the uppermost one.

World markets have disappeared due to a breakdown of currency and exchange system and the barring of trade among nations.

So great has the breakdown been that governments themselves have taken over the matter of distribution of money, of goods, of crops—and, thus, all of a sudden, we have a new social order which bewilders us and to which we have not yet adapted ourselves.

More of that tomorrow—for the theory is supported in quarters that can vitally affect the nation, both economically and in the nature of its government.

A LOOK BACK

Last February this writer said in an article on "The Outlook for President Roosevelt's Second Year":

"If the mid-channel course of President Roosevelt fails or does not live up to hopes in the breasts of millions, there may be one of two reactions—or there may be a clash of both:

"1. Strong reactionism—in short, fascism.

"2. Militant swing to the left.

"The danger to the Roosevelt administration lies in the opposition of both groups—the reactionaries (the diehards) and the militant left-wingers. Both cannot win. Both, however, can join hands for a wrecking of the president's policies.

"The men who defy government's on, say, such a matter as NRA labor provisions, will not stand idly by as the government 'encroaches' and 'dictates'. No group willingly will permit itself to be deprived of its rule. It is not human nature to surrender might and power with meek consent.

"Nor will the workers who thought they had begun to see the light stop their forward movement at an inanimary line . . .

"The president's weakness lies chiefly in his dependence on political sagacity. . . .

"Economic events, because they touch the very bread and butter of man, provoke the most uncontrollable emotional crises. The battle for existence has remained paramount through the ages."

TODAY Is The Day

THURSDAY JULY 26

The World War 20 Years Ago Today—July 26, 1914—The German kaiser, at Potsdam, sees the text of the Serbian reply to the Austro-Hungarian demands for the first time. His ally had not cared to send him a copy of it, he learns the contents through Serbia! He is relieved, and he writes in the margin (as we know from the original document revealed after the German revolution in 1918):

"This is more than one could have expected! A great moral victory for Vienna; but with it every reason for war drops away, and Giesl might have remained quietly in Belgrade! On the strength of this I should never have ordered mobilization!"

The imperial chancellor, Count von Berthmann Hollweg, telegraphs the German ambassador at London, Prince Lichnowsky (a kinsman of the Russian ambassador there):

"Austria-Hungary has declared officially and solemnly in St. Petersburg that she contemplates no acquisition of territory in Serbia, and that she will not endanger the continuance of the kingdom but wishes only to secure quiet. According to report arriving here, Russia is about to summon several bodies of reservists immediately, which would be equivalent to mobilization against us. If this news is corroborated, we shall be forced against our will to take measures to meet it. Today our efforts are still directed toward localizing the trouble and maintaining the peace in Europe. For this reason we ask that the strongest possible pressure be brought to bear in St. Petersburg for achieving this end."

Great Days—July 26, 1281—A typhoon of cyclonic force and peculiar violence, occurring in the China sea) saved Japan from the Mongol horde that had conquered all the rest of Asia.

Kublai Khan, who inspired the classic pages of Marco Polo (his servant for 17 years), dispatched 100,000 of his warriors in 3,000 ships to capture the island empire. The typhoon wrecked the fleet on its shores, and 65,000 of the troops were drowned. The others, demoralized, were butchered by the Japanese.

July 26, 1775—Service was begun over post-routes between Falmouth, Me., and Savannah, Ga., by the first "constitutional" postal system, instituted by the Continental congress with Benjamin Franklin as postmaster general.

To this postal system must go a large share of the credit for the success of the Revolution. Without a system of communication free from British control and espionage, the colonies could not have been drawn into and kept in cooperation.

July 26, 1788—New York ratified the constitution and became the 11th state. Motto: Excelsior. Mower: Rose.

July 26, 1915—U. S. marines were landed in Haiti, ostensibly to restore order, but actually to prevent the possibility of German seizure of the island as a naval base.

(They're still there, but this October, President Roosevelt promises the Haitians the occupation that has cost the U. S. $50,000,000 will be ended.)

VERY OLD

The oldest known live creature in the world is an alligator on exhibition at St. Augustine, Florida, known as "Old Ponce."

He is named for Ponce de Leon, but was about five hundred years old at the time that explorer discovered Florida. Old Ponce's present age is estimated at nine hundred years.

He lies immovable for hours, showing no signs of life until food comes. Then he is as vigorous and youthful as his youngest great-great-great alligator grandson, fifty times removed.

He weighs 1,200 pounds and eats seventy-five pounds of meat one meal.

TIME FOR A DECISION

CONDEMNATION of the navy dirigible, Los Angeles, as unsafe for further active service will have the effect of reviving the question of the value of airships as weapons of national defense.

The issue has been debated for years, with no decision recorded. Supposed experts in such matters are divided in their opinions. Tests have been made, but these have not served to settle the controversy.

With the Los Angeles out of commission, the country has only one dirigible, the Macon, in active service. It participated in the recent maneuvers of the fleet on the latter's passage from the Pacific to the Atlantic, and a report on its performance now is before naval authorities. Unofficial reports at the time credited the Macon with doing valuable work.

Several million dollars has been expended by the United States in experimenting with dirigibles. These experiments have been marked by disasters that have taken a number of lives. They are not to be condemned merely because of this. Nearly all progress is purchased at the sacrifice of life.

It seems, though, that the experiments by now should have furnished sufficient reliable data on which to base a decision as to the value of dirigibles in warfare. Before indulging in further costly tests, the government would do well to make a serious and expert study of the results to date, in an effort to determine whether new expenditures and risks would be justified.

LOCAL POLICE HANDICAPPED

Department of Justice agents have cut another notch in their guns and given municipal police an inferiority complex. They are living nobly up to their reputation of getting their man. The big mistake in the career of "Dangerous John" Dillinger seems to have been the unlawful transportation of a stolen automobile across a state line, the crime for which he was sought by the federal government.

Advocates of a system of federal police to supplant all municipal and state police will use the slaying of Dillinger with good effect as propaganda. Where several states and great cities had failed the federal government had succeeded.

What lesson the desperado fraternity shall learn from this latest chapter in the amazing history of crime in America it is too early to say. Some may turn to making a living honestly or at least within the law; others may just make it an inviolable rule to stay away from state lines with stolen automobiles.

As for the American public it is now more convinced than ever that if crime is to be put down in the United States the federal government will have to do it. And yet that is unfair to the other law enforcement officers, who are less at fault than the system under which they operate. The department of justice agent gets his man because he takes no time off from the hunt to slow down motorists, or shoot stray dogs. You cannot stop to shoot squirrels while hunting wolves.

Reading of the taking of Dillinger, dead or alive, a society outraged by the brutal Lindbergh kidnapping and murder will take new hope that some day the perpetrators of that atrocity will be overtaken by retributive justice.

DECLINING BIRTH RATE

If viewed merely in the light of the great army of unemployed that now constitutes the country's biggest problem, the nation's declining birth rate fails to take on the alarming proportions attributed to it by Dr. Oliver M. Baker, senior economist of the department of agriculture.

Were the country's population suddenly reduced by from 10,000,000 to 15,000,000, the present economic situation would take on a quite different and improved appearance.

Dr. Baker, however, takes a long-range view of the situation. He naturally expects that industrial and economic conditions eventually will return to normal, when there will be plenty of work for everybody who wants to work and food for those willing to earn it.

The county's population, he says, is approaching a stationary point, which may be reached within the next 50 years. Should the birth rate then continue to drop, there would be precipitated a serious economic situation marked by lessened demand for farm and industrial products.

Nature, however, has a way of correcting matters and readjusting conditions that can not always be foreseen by man.

HISTORIC FINALE

When Secretary of the Navy Swanson recently signed an order directing the scrapping of 17 over-age destroyers, he closed the careers of some rather historic vessels.

For among these 17 obsolete warships were five which once played a spectacular role. They were the first American fighting ships to enter the European war zone, and play an active part in it, after the United States declared war on Germany.

This country had been in the war only a few weeks when that little destroyer flotilla reached an English port. They were the first visible, tangible sign of American participation in the conflict; as such, they bore significance infinitely greater than that of any other ships in our whole navy.

And now they're going out of existence—the destroyers Conygham, Porter, McDougal, Wainwright and Davis. Their passing is a reminder of a historic event.

NO HEROISM ABOUT DILLINGER

No amount of sentiment, by any stretch of the imagination, can make heroes of men of the Dillinger type. The phrase "public enemies" describes them with relentless accuracy. Not the fainest tinge of romance can be honestly woven about the career of John Dillinger. No phase of it calls for admiration. Many of his "girl friends" are now serving terms in prison for mistakenly trying to protect him from the law.

His life and death should be a stern lesson to misguided youths who may be tempted to follow in the tinseled path of this cheap desperado. For the community at large his eradication is an incentive to the authorities to go ahead with their well-planned progrom of ridding the nation of thugs.

Another cause of heart trouble is the idea that a 50-year-old heart can take a 10-year-old's exercise.

NO MORE PRIVATE WORLDS

We make private worlds for ourselves. We think we can escape from the irritating world by going indoors and turning the lock on life—and then we'll be safe and secure and happy.

But if you try to escape, you can't do it. When you run away you run straight into a self-made prison, and if you shut the doors tight enough and lock all the windows and pull down the blinds and stuff every crack, in time you go a little mad or entirely mad. . . . That's what is wrong with insane people, and that's what is wrong with permanently unhappy people of all kinds. People who whimper or snarl and complain that the world is not cut to their measure.

But what can an unhappy mortal do?" you may ask.

"He can unlock his doors," says Phyllis Bottome, "and stand open to life." And if he does that he will be happy and useful, with a clean wind blowing through his house.

"The way I look at it now," says a man named Arnold in Phyllis Bottome's "Private Worlds", "is that there mustn't be any private worlds! Letting oneself be cut off by pride—or shutting oneself up completely in a dangerous intimacy—or hiding because of fear—well, those things aren't the escapes they look like. There is in all of them a sort of solitary confinement—even in the intimacy; one's got to belong to the outside world as well! Then one's all right! I don't mean that one need go on about talking—but one mustn't keep the best of oneself up one's sleeve. One must stand open to life. . . . One needn't bother about individuals letting one down. What is it Nietzche says: 'In the end man experiences only his true self.' It's the way one takes what one goes through, not what one goes through, that is to be trusted or distrusted.

"When you come to think of it, you can't do anyone more good than he'll let you, either! No patient in this hospital, for instance, can be cured if he becomes inaccessible! The private world is complete then, and has unhitched itself forever from mankind."

The man who speaks these words was once a madman, shut away in himself. He hated and distrusted the world and would not come out. . . . But at last, through the trust of other men, he came to trust himself and to live easily and freely once more, in the wide world instead of his private world.

TAKE THE BLAME WHEN YOU DESERVE IT

Why do you always blame another person when you make a fool of yourself?

If you imbibe too freely, you claim that it was a case of the crowd forcing you to take more than you should have taken.

If you step out a bit, you assert that your home is not congenial. If you sustain a heavy loss in a game of draw, you allege that it was necessary for you to set in order to make the game interesting for the other fellows.

If you remain out too late at night, you say you did not want to break up the party by leaving at the time you should have left.

If you plunge on a horse race, you claim that the crowd was making up a pot and needed what you put in.

If you engage in a quarrel in your home, you insist that the other person in the dispute was responsible.

If you get into a fight, you say you were not the aggressor.

Always excusing yourself and never admitting your weakness.

As an adult, in full possession of your facilities, you should be able to regulate your actions.

Can't you see that always blaming another for your misdeeds makes you out a pretty weak brother?

THE DITCH DIGGER TALKS

A youngster to his father said:
"I ran away from school today.
I thought I'd rather work instead
And earn a grown man's pay.

"For all you said I failed to heed,
But I have had a talk today
With one who scarce can write and read,
And I am back at home to stay.

"A digger of a ditch was he,
Who said, while learning on his spade,
'Tis only strong you have to be
To learn my very common trade.

"'I could have gone to school but I,
About the self-same age as you,
Threw every chance for knowledge by
To get a job that I could do.

"'Man gets no further than his will,
In spite of blunders and mistakes,
The place in life which he shall fill
Is settled by the choice he makes.

"'If nothing more you wish to be
Than I am now, then run away;
But, youngster, take this tip from me,
This is a cheerless place to stay.'"

A digger of a ditch was he,
Who met a boy and understood,
And showed him things he ought to see
Much better than his father could.

IDEA FOR COLLECTING DELINQUENT ACCOUNTS

Playwrights well know the importance of ending the play just before the wedding—they leave that to the imagination.

The same principal might well be applied to stopping some collection letters just before you get ready to ask for the money—on the theory that a collection letter which does not ask for a check is so unusual that it is outstanding.

This may not be in order when the amount of the account is large but it has possibilities in collecting small bills where it is essentially important to get the money and leave the customer feeling kindly toward you.

The World At A Glance

Great Problems Await President Roosevelt's Return; What Will The Answer Be? Are These Views Of His Advisers?

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, July 26.—Momentous problems await President Roosevelt's arrival on American shores August 2 at Portland, Ore.

Dramatic events have occurred in his absence—the most dramatic having been the San Francisco strike and the so-called Vigilante raids following it.

Beneath the surface, however, there has been more. France has suffered a severe financial crisis. Germany has headed definitely toward devaluation.

In the United States, a drought has blighted million of acres, cost of living has outstripped wages, and industrial production has declined (although good business has been promised for autumn).

What will the president's words to the nation be? What action will be take, or what action can he take?

Those are questions repeatedly asked of this writer.

BASIC TROUBLE?

Agitators have been blamed for the San Francisco, Seattle, Minneapolis strikes. Persons in the Roosevelt administration who have made a study of the labor problem and who undoubtedly influence the president do not take that view. They see the lack of strong government agency, such as was provided in the original Wagner labor bill, as the reason for failure to effect an immediate settlement.

The New York Times probably expresses the administration point of view on this when it states:

"The point is that if one is going to insist upon the maintenance of law, he must not himself violate it. If he is resolved to demand, as President Roosevelt did, 'common sense and good order' in others, he must not himself act like a disorderly fanatic."

DISTRIBUTION

Economists being widely read in New York today blame today's widespread disturbances far beyond elements generally accepted.

Stuart Chase, for example(one of the best sellers), is of the opinion, shared by some of the largest financiers, that the world problem now is one of distribution, and that the battle for control of distribution will be the uppermost one.

World markets have disappeared due to a breakdown of currency and exchange system and the barring of trade among nations.

So great has the breakdown been that governments themselves have taken over the matter of distribution of money, of goods, of crops—and, thus, all of a sudden, we have a new social order which bewilders us and to which we have not yet adapted ourselves.

More of that tomorrow—for the theory is supported in quarters that can vitally affect the nation, both economically and in the nature of its government.

A LOOK BACK

Last February this writer said in an article on "The Outlook for President Roosevelt's Second Year":

"If the mid-channel course of President Roosevelt fails or does not live up to hopes in the breasts of millions, there may be one of two reactions—or there may be a clash of both:

"1. Strong reactionism—in short, fascism.

"2. Militant swing to the left.

"The danger to the Roosevelt administration lies in the opposition of both groups—the reactionaries (the diehards) and the militant left-wingers. Both cannot win. Both, however, can join hands for a wrecking of the president's policies.

"The men who defy governments on, say, such a matter as NRA labor provisions, will not stand idly by as the government 'encroaches' and 'dictates'. No group willingly will permit itself to be deprived of its rule. It is not human nature to surrender might and power with meek consent.

"Nor will the workers who thought they had begun to see the light stop their forward movement at an imaginary line. . . .

"The president's weakness lies chiefly in his dependence on political sagacity.

"Economic events, because they touch the very bread and butter of man, provoke the most uncontrollable emotional crises. The battle for existence has remained paramount through the ages."

TODAY Is The Day

By CLARK KINNAIRD Copyright 1934 Central Press

THURSDAY JULY 26

The World War 20 Years Ago Today—July 26, 1914—The German kaiser, at Potsdam, sees the text of the Serbian reply to the Austro-Hungarian demands for the first time. His ally had not cared to send him a copy of it, he learns the contents through Serbia! He is relieved, and he writes in the margin (as we know from the original document revealed after the German revolution in 1918):

"This is more than one could have expected! A great moral victory for Vienna; but with it every reason for war drops away, and Giesl might have remained quietly in Belgrade! On the strength of this I should never have ordered mobilization!"

The imperial chancellor, Count von Berthmann Hollweg, telegraphs the German ambassador at London, Prince Lichnowsky (a kinsman of the Russian ambassador there):

"Austria-Hungary has declared officially and solemnly in St. Petersburg that she contemplates no acquisition of territory in Serbia, and that she will not endanger the continuance of the kingdom but wishes only to secure quiet. According to report reaching here, Russia is about to summon several bodies of reservists immediately, which would be equivalent to mobilization against us. If this news is corroborated, we shall be forced against our will to take measures to meet it. Today our efforts are still directed toward localizing the trouble and maintaining the peace in Europe. For this reason we ask that the strongest possible pressure be brought to bear in St. Petersburg for achieving this end."

Great Days—July 26, 1281—A typhoon of cyclonic force and peculiar violence, occurring in the China sea) saved Japan from the Mongol horde that had conquered all the rest of Asia.

Kublai Khan, who inspired the classic pages of Marco Polo (his servant for 17 years), dispatched 100,000 of his warriors in 3,000 ships to capture the island empire. The typhoon wrecked the fleet on its shores, and 65,000 of the troops were drowned. The others, demoralized, were butchered by the Japanese.

July 26, 1775—Service was begun over post-routes between Falmouth, Me., and Savannah, Ga., by the first "constitutional" postal system, instituted by the Continental congress with Benjamin Franklin as postmaster general.

To this postal system must go a large share of the credit for the success of the Revolution. Without a system of communication free from British control and espionage, the colonies could not have been drawn into and kept in cooperation.

July 26, 1788—New York ratified the constitution and became the 11th state. Motto: Excelsior. Flower: Rose.

July 26, 1915—U. S. marines were landed in Haiti, ostensibly to restore order, but actually to prevent the possibility of German seizure of the island as a naval base.

(They're still there, but this October, President Roosevelt promises the Haitians the occupation that has cost the U. S. $50,000,000 will be ended.)

Sun Bakes Camp Phillips But Activities Don't Stop

CAMP JOHN M. PHILLIPS, July 26—Scout Camp was awakened Monday morning with a bang. The cannon was shot off at 7 o'clock. This started the camp on its second week.

A most delicious breakfast was served by the cooks, then the boys went into the regular camp routine. This started with community service. Each hut has certain duties to perform during the next hour.

The life-saving classes were started with fifteen boys turning out for the first class. The first lesson consisted of trying the boys out. They have to swim 10 yards, tread water, float, and surface dive, after which the boys went into the regular training. The boys must learn different approaches and stronger holds and how to break them.

Swims Chase Heat Off

The weather in camp has been rather hot during the day so the boys have enjoyed their daily swims. There are two general swims each day. One is at eleven o'clock and the other at 4 o'clock.

There are no non-swimmers in camp this week. The beginners are rapidly passing their swimmer's test and are being placed in the swimmer's group.

After the morning swim, the boys return to camp to get ready for dinner.

The main discussion around camp for the last couple of days is about the water polo game. The staff challenged the campers to a game. Of course, the campers reputation was at stake as they immediately accepted the challenge. The game was announced to be started at 3:30 sharp.

The campers were captained by Robert Cole with Hunt Davis as guard, Sidney Verier, guard: Patton, center forward: Elverson,, forward and Jones goalie. The staff consisted of Moore and Pherson as forwards; Hermann and Allen, guards: Howard, center forward and Ferris goalie.

Ralph Davis was chosen as the referee and at the assigned time, he tossed the ball to the center of the playing field. Both teams were on their toes and there was a race for the ball. Moore succeeded in catching the ball first. He was away with a fast stroke when the star of the Royal Frace Climbers (the campers name) Verrier grabbed him and both went to the bottom. When they came up, the ball was smashed. Then the game was delayed for ten minutes while a new ball was secured. The game ended with the staff winning with a score of 8 to 0.

After the game, the captains were overheard saying that they would play again Thursday.

After supper, the color ceremony was held. It was very impressive with Bob Moore lining the boys up and marching them in front of the flag at which time Sandy Howard took charge. The bugler Ferris and cannoners Bill Pherson were in position. The color guards were ordered front and center. After the colors were lowered the guards, bugler and cannoners were posted.

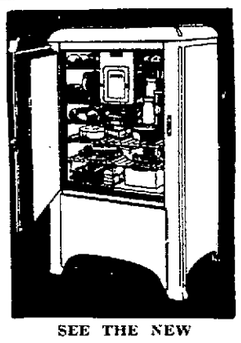

The presentation of the inspection banner was next and Hut V-37 won it with a perfect score of 100.

Games completed the evening's program and at 10 o'clock, the bugler sounded taps. This means lights out and go to sleep. It also means that another group of Boy Scouts have spent another eventful day in Camp Phillips. Memories that will linger long in the minds of the boys.

AROUND CITY HALL

Police chronology for 24 hours ending at 3:30 p. m. July 26, four arests on charges as follows: violation of parking law 2, drunkenness and drunkenness and complaint of wife1.

Solicitor Robert White has prepared a bill which may be submitted by the law committee of the League of Third class cities for consideration by the next legislature. The bill elaborates on the Third Class city code and would give cities in Pennsylvania the right to build, operate and take over utility plants.

William Tyrell, city patrolman, was honored at the Fraternal Order of police meeting held at Altoona, Wednesday where it was decided to take into membership all police of Pennsylvania. Tyrrell who is a veteran in service was made a trustee of the national order and appointed a committeeman for the state organization to be organized.

Reports received in the city building say that a youngster sustained a fractured arm following a fall from a slide at Cascade park. The case was cared for by the insurance company. Some time ago the city took out insurance and as a result will not have to pay for the injuries the child received.

B. F. Butler, director of streets, today stated that he could not give any attention to putting tennis courts in condition until the more important affairs were completed. There are numerous streets which need repair, he stated and this is being done first.

Sun Bakes Camp Phillips But Activities Don't Stop

CAMP JOHN M. PHILLIPS, July 26—Scout Camp was awakened Monday morning with a bang. The cannon was shot off at 7 o'clock. This started the camp on its second week.

A most delicious breakfast was served by the cooks, then the boys went into the regular camp routine. This started with community service. Each hut has certain duties to perform during the next hour.

The life-saving classes were started with fifteen boys turning out for the first class. The first lesson consisted of trying the boys out. They have to swim 10 yards, tread water, float, and surface dive, after which the boys went into the regular training. The boys must learn different approaches and stronger holds and how to break them.

Swims Chase Heat Off

The weather in camp has been rather hot during the day so the boys have enjoyed their daily swims. There are two general swims each day. One is at eleven o'clock and the other at 4 o'clock.

There are no non-swimmers in camp this week. The beginners are rapidly passing their swimmer's test and are being placed in the swimmer's group.

After the morning swim, the boys return to camp to get ready for dinner.

The main discussion around camp for the last couple of days is about the water polo game. The staff challenged the campers to a game. Of course, the campers reputation was at stake as they immediately accepted the challenge. The game was announced to be started at 3:30 sharp.

The campers were captained by Robert Cole with Hunt Davis as guard, Sidney Verier, guard: Patton, center forward: Elverson,, forward and Jones goalie. The staff consisted of Moore and Pherson as forwards; Hermann and Allen, guards: Howard, center forward and Ferris goalie.

Ralph Davis was chosen as the referee and at the assigned time, he tossed the ball to the center of the playing field. Both teams were on their toes and there was a race for the ball. Moore succeeded in catching the ball first. He was away with a fast stroke when the star of the Royal Frace Climbers (the campers name) Verrier grabbed him and both went to the bottom. When they came up, the ball was smashed. Then the game was delayed for ten minutes while a new ball was secured. The game ended with the staff winning with a score of 8 to 0.

After the game, the captains were overheard saying that they would play again Thursday.

After supper, the color ceremony was held. It was very impressive with Bob Moore lining the boys up and marching them in front of the flag at which time Sandy Howard took charge. The bugler Ferris and cannoners Bill Pherson were in position. The color guards were ordered front and center. After the colors were lowered the guards, bugler and cannoners were posted.

The presentation of the inspection banner was next and Hut V-37 won it with a perfect score of 100.

Games completed the evening's program and at 10 o'clock, the bugler sounded taps. This means lights out and go to sleep. It also means that another group of Boy Scouts have spent another eventful day in Camp Phillips. Memories that will linger long in the minds of the boys.

Sun Bakes Camp Phillips But Activities Don't Stop

CAMP JOHN M. PHILLIPS, July 26—Scout Camp was awakened Monday morning with a bang. The cannon was shot off at 7 o'clock. This started the camp on its second week.

A most delicious breakfast was served by the cooks, then the boys went into the regular camp routine. This started with community service. Each hut has certain duties to perform during the next hour.

The life-saving classes were started with fifteen boys turning out for the first class. The first lesson consisted of trying the boys out. They have to swim 10 yards, tread water, float, and surface dive, after which the boys went into the regular training. The boys must learn different approaches and stronger holds and how to break them.

Swims Chase Heat Off

The weather in camp has been rather hot during the day so the boys have enjoyed their daily swims. There are two general swims each day. One is at eleven o'clock and the other at 4 o'clock.

There are no non-swimmers in camp this week. The beginners are rapidly passing their swimmer's test and are being placed in the swimmer's group.

After the morning swim, the boys return to camp to get ready for dinner.

The main discussion around camp for the last couple of days is about the water polo game. The staff challenged the campers to a game. Of course, the campers reputation was at stake as they immediately accepted the challenge. The game was announced to be started at 3:30 sharp.

The campers were captained by Robert Cole with Hunt Davis as guard, Sidney Verier, guard: Patton, center forward: Elverson,, forward and Jones goalie. The staff consisted of Moore and Pherson as forwards; Hermann and Allen, guards: Howard, center forward and Ferris goalie.

Ralph Davis was chosen as the referee and at the assigned time, he tossed the ball to the center of the playing field. Both teams were on their toes and there was a race for the ball. Moore succeeded in catching the ball first. He was away with a fast stroke when the star of the Royal Frace Climbers (the campers name) Verrier grabbed him and both went to the bottom. When they came up, the ball was smashed. Then the game was delayed for ten minutes while a new ball was secured. The game ended with the staff winning with a score of 8 to 0.

After the game, the captains were overheard saying that they would play again Thursday.

After supper, the color ceremony was held. It was very impressive with Bob Moore lining the boys up and marching them in front of the flag at which time Sandy Howard took charge. The bugler Ferris and cannoners Bill Pherson were in position. The color guards were ordered front and center. After the colors were lowered the guards, bugler and cannoners were posted.

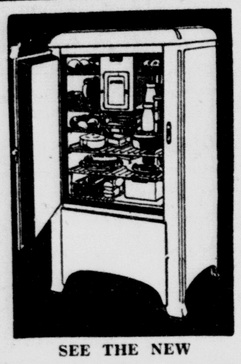

The presentation of the inspection banner was next and Hut V-37 won it with a perfect score of 100.

Games completed the evening's program and at 10 o'clock, the bugler sounded taps. This means lights out and go to sleep. It also means that another group of Boy Scouts have spent another eventful day in Camp Phillips. Memories that will linger long in the minds of the boys.

AT CASTLE BEACH

A very delicious luncheon was spread under the large trees and afterwards, there was a short program conducted by boys of the East Brook group including Omar Fink, Stanley Stetson and David Baxter.

Mrs. W. G. Wilkins, county president, gave a report of the encampment at Meyerstown, Pa., and plans were adopted for the new year's work.

So enjoyable was the picnic yesterday, that it was voted to make the event an annual one.

INSPECTS 'THE NIP'

Superintendent E. S. Reed of the Pennsylvania railroad yesterday made his first inspection trip over the Stoneboro branch of the Erie & Ashtabula division, commonly known as the "nip." It was the new superintendent's first trip over the line.

The Governor Says

What Is Going On In Harrisburg— And Why

By GIFFORD PINCHOT
Governor of Pennsylvania

Have you ever gone exploring on Pennsylvania highways?

If you haven't taken any exploring trips—just starting out without any definite destination in view to see our marvelously beautiful Pennsylvania countryside—you are missing something really worth while.

To get the most out of such trips try the new rural roads that have opened up so many thousands of square miles of beautiful Commonwealth that have heretofore been just about inaccessible to motorists.

Where the old dirt roads were forbidding to the driver the new roads are inviting.

The tendency, too often, is to stick to the main highways. That is wrong. For too many trucks and busses and business cars and tourists take the fun out of driving for pleasure on the main roads.

Of course, these rural low-cost "Pinchot" roads were built primarily to get the farmer out of the mud. They were built to give the farmers a chance to get their produce to market easily and quickly: they were built so that the farmer might get to town or church or school all the year round without getting bogged down in the mud. And they were also built to relieve the farmer of road taxation. All these things—and more—this rural road system is doing.

What I am suggesting is that in addition to those practical uses we can all get a great deal of pleasure out of them. There are now—or will be when work under way is completed—13,000 miles of these hard surfaced roads. No matter where you live in Pennsylvania they are at your doorstep.

On August 15, 1931—when the rural system of highways was taken over by the State—it comprised a total of 20,157 miles of former township roads, of which 3,070 miles were what we might call improved. About 1,600 miles were partially improved and the rest were just plain dirt—the kind that get hub-deep when it rains.

When projects now under way on the rural system are completed, we will have constructed approximately 8,790 miles of new highway and reclaimed 1,609 miles of semi-improved roads. In other words, we will have added 10,399 miles of durable all weather roads to the rural system.

If we add the 3,070 miles that were already passable, when the work under way is completed only 6,687 miles of unimproved road will be left on the 20,000 mile rural system.

More than 10,000 miles of rural roads is a lot of road. The distance from Philadelphia to Los Angeles is about 3,000 miles. When you stop to think that you can drive on our rural roads three times the distance from Philadelphia to Los Angeles and have 1,000 miles left over, you get an idea of the tremendous advantages that have come to the farmers through the so called Pinchot roads. And, by the way, I didnt' give them that name. The people who live on them did it themselves.

Try mapping out a hundred mile drive for a Sunday afternoon or holiday over those roads.

You will get a closer contact with the scenic beauties of Pennsylvania the most beautiful state anywhere—than the main highways can possibly give you.

Try it!

Castlewood

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hogue of Mercer spent Sunday with friends in Castlewood.

Edyce Lou Benson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Benson of the Harlansburg road came to Gardner on Tuesday to spend a week with her cousin Ruth Elizabeth Johnson.

Mr. Brest of the old Pittsburgh road is now employed at Youngstown. Mrs. Brest and son Bobby spent last Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Webster, of the Butler road.

Mrs. Frank M. Hay and children and their relatives Mrs. Maude Stewart and her son Wade Stewart, and his little daughter Wadine, all went last Friday to Yankee lake for a picnic outing.

Mrs. Calvin F. Clark of the Butler road has been in the hospital for treatment for more than a week but is improving rapidly and her many friends will be glad to learn that she will be able to go home the last of the week.

At the Taylor home a little surprise party was given in honor of Mary L. Wilson, Marjorie Taylor and Dorothy Hay were hostesses. Games and music caused the hours to pass on velvet feet, at a late hour the young entertainers served a delicious concoction which were pronounced excellent by the guests.

A young man from Gardner who is an expert automobile mechanic had an embarrassing experience not so long ago. In turning off Pearson to go into East Washington street, he blew his horn to clear the crossing, but as he started up the hill the horn kept on blowing. The young man used all his skill to stop the noise but his efforts were all in vain and all the way out home that siren was shreiking, people sitting on their porches cast scornful glances as the car rolled past and "What's the big idea?" was read on many faces.

The F. N. club met with Mrs. Frank Hay on Tuesday night. Special guests were Mrs. John Kirkwood, of New Castle, Mrs. Coy Price, and Mrs. Maude Stewart, of Florida. Contests and Bingo were the pastimes and prizes were won by Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. John Morrow of New Castle. Plans were made for a picnic to be held at Cascade park in the near future. Mrs. Robb, of New Castle will be the next hostess, August 17. At a late hour Marian and Louise Hay asisted their mother in serving what proved to be the crowning point of the evening, delightful edibles.

YOU BET THERE'S A DIFFERENCE IN GASOLINES! . . . HERE'S PROOF!

WHERE THE GOING WAS TOUGH—Bear Mt., N. Y., where 9 leading gasolines competed to see which could pull a 3,400 lb. load farthest up a steep mountain grade. Gulf won!

Don't let anyone tell you that it makes little difference which gasoline you use! There's a big difference in even the best-known brands. To prove it, Gulf made a series of power tests with 33 gasolines—and uncovered some facts worth knowing. Read them!

For that very reason, Gulf chose 15 of America's toughest hills for a series of show-down power tests—in which 33 gasolines fought it out.

On each of these hills, leading gasolines from local service stations competed to see which could take a car and heavy load farthest up hill in high gear before the motor "died."

Here is plain, unpainted evidence—evidence which shows beyond question that it does make a difference which gasoline you put into your tank—a difference you can notice in your motor! Next time try Gulf!

LOADS LIKE THIS—on steep mountain grades tax the power of any gasoline. But in 10 out of 15 power tests Gulf walked away with first honors!

GETTING READY TO START—gas being tested was placed in a jar, which fed direct to the carburetor. This made possible quick changes of gasoline for each test run.

The NEW GULF wins more power tests than 32 gasolines combined

HOW 33 GASOLINES RANKED (IN ALL TESTS TO DATE)

All gasolines tested, except a few "third grade" brands, sold for approximately the same price as That Good Gulf. Each brand is denoted by a letter.

On Court House Hill

Money borrowed by the Lawrence county commissioners last spring to tide them over until the 1934 taxes began to come in, was all paid off this week. The amount was $65,000. County Treasurer William O. Pitts issued two checks, one for $35,000 which was the amount borrowed for the general fund, and $30,000, the amount borrowed for the poor fund.

Two weddings of colored people were held in the court house yesterday both couples coming here from Youngstown, and bringing a ministerd with them. One couple, George Suber and Pearl Risby, asked Sheriff Pritchard if they could be married on the porch of the court house and he referred them to the county commissioners. On their way to the commissioners office Register and Recorder William R. Hanna invited them into his office where the knot was tied. The other couple, William R. Craighead and Mabel Boyd, were married in one of the jury rooms.

County Treasurer William O. Pitts took in $10,829.97 on Tuesday. This was the second largest amount taken in on any one day since June 1, the largest amount being on July 10 when receipts were $11,675.49. The money taken in Tuesday was distributed as follows: County $6,916.95 state, $454.52, poor $3,558.50.

Deputy Sheriff Elmer P. Taylor reports that there are now only 25 prisoners in the county jail. There is only one woman among the number, and she has rather a lonesome time in the women's section of the jail. Most of the male inmates are serving short sentences imposed by court.

New Castle people don't seem to be as nervous as they are in Butler or maybe they are just naturally better sleepers. The Butlerites have complained that the striking of the court house clock keeps them awake and so the county commissioners have arranged it so that the clock will stop striking at 10 a. m. and keep quiet until 8 o'clock in the morning. Lawrence county's court house clock can be heard over a greater part of the city, but so far as can be learned, there have been no complaints to the local county commissioners. Occasionally you hear people say they heard the court house clock strike every hour during the night, but they don't blame their sleeplessness on the clock.

Twenty six county and township bridges in Lawrence county have now been taken over by the state, according to the county commissioners. Among them are the following: Wampum-Chewton bridge, two at Willow Grove, West Pittsburg, Edenburg, four at Ellwood and Wurtemburg, Enon, Rose Point, Elliott's Mills, Harlansburg, Rock Springs, Grant City, Bessemer, Weingartner, in Shenango township, Morehead in Scott township, Rhodes Run, New Wilmington and Potter Run in Washington township. The taking of these bridges over by the state has lifted a big burden from the county and the townships. Efforts are being made to have the state take over other bridges.

Friendship ends when one party no longer finds the other useful.

One kind of nudism we could stand more of its the naked truth.

Mr. and Mrs. Coy rice and family spent last Sunday at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Price, of New Castle.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hemmerly, of Atlantic city were recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lowery of Shenango Stop.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Diller, Paul junior, Charles Watkins, and Mr. and Mrs. Merle Wise, of Cleveland, spent a week at Atlantic city.

Bobby Taylor is enjoying a pleasant vacation at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hartwell, of New Wilmington.

Mr. and Mrs. Reider and family of New Castle and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jones, of Covert station were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Derr the first of the week.

Miss Virginia Hay, is visiting some points of interest in Pittsburgh this week and is a guest at the home of her uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hay.

Edyce Lou Benson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Benson of the Harlansburg road came to Gardner on Tuesday to spend a week with her cousin Ruth Elizabeth Johnson.

Mr. Brest of the old Pittsburgh road is now employed at Youngstown. Mrs. Brest and son Bobby spent last Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Webster, of the Butler road.

Mrs. Frank M. Hay and children and their relatives Mrs. Maude Stewart and her son Wade Stewart, and his little daughter Wadine, all went last Friday to Yankee lake for a picnic outing.

Mrs. Calvin F. Clark of the Butler road has been in the hospital for treatment for more than a week but is improving rapidly and her many friends will be glad to learn that she will be able to go home the last of the week.

At the Taylor home a little surprise party was given in honor of Mary L. Wilson, Marjorie Taylor and Dorothy Hay were hostesses. Games and music caused the hours to pass on velvet feet, at a late hour the young entertainers served a delicious concoction which were pronounced excellent by the guests.

A young man from Gardner who is an expert automobile mechanic had an embarrassing experience not so long ago. In turning off Pearson to go into East Washington street, he blew his horn to clear the crossing, but as he started up the hill the horn kept on blowing. The young man used all his skill to stop the noise but his efforts were all in vain and all the way out home that siren was shreiking, people sitting on their porches cast scornful glances as the car rolled past and "What's the big idea?" was read on many faces.

The F. N. club met with Mrs. Frank Hay on Tuesday night. Special guests were Mrs. John Kirkwood, of New Castle, Mrs. Coy Price, and Mrs. Maude Stewart, of Florida. Contests and Bingo were the pastimes and prizes were won by Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. John Morrow of New Castle. Plans were made for a picnic to be held at Cascade park in the near future. Mrs. Robb, of New Castle will be the next hostess, August 17. At a late hour Marian and Louise Hay asisted their mother in serving what proved to be the crowning point of the evening, delightful edibles.

YOU BET THERE'S A DIFFERENCE IN GASOLINES! . . . HERE'S PROOF!

WHERE THE GOING WAS TOUGH—Bear Mt., N.Y., where 9 leading gasolines competed to see which could pull a 3,400 lb. load farthest up a steep mountain grade. Gulf won!

Don't let anyone tell you that it makes little difference which gasoline you use! There's a big difference in even the best-known brands. To prove it, Gulf made a series of power tests with 33 gasolines—and uncovered some facts worth knowing. Read them!

For that very reason, Gulf chose 15 of America's toughest hills for a series of show-down power tests—in which 33 gasolines fought it out.

On each of these hills, leading gasolines from local service stations competed to see which could take a car and heavy load farthest up hill in high gear before the motor "died."

Here is plain, unpainted evidence—evidence which shows beyond question that it does make a difference which gasoline you put into your tank—a difference you can notice in your motor! Next time try Gulf!

LOADS LIKE THIS—on steep mountain grades tax the power of any gasoline. But in 10 out of 15 power tests Gulf walked away with first honors!

GETTING READY TO START—gas being tested was placed in a jar, which fed direct to the carburetor. This made possible quick changes of gasoline for each test run.

The NEW GULF wins more power tests than 32 gasolines combined

There's more power in THAT GOOD GULF GASOLINE

On Court House Hill

Money borrowed by the Lawrence county commissioners last spring to tide them over until the 1934 taxes began to come in, was all paid off this week. The amount was $65,000. County Treasurer William O. Pitts issued two checks, one for $35,000 which was the amount borrowed for the general fund, and $30,000, the amount borrowed for the poor fund.

Two weddings of colored people were held in the court house yesterday both couples coming here from Youngstown, and bringing a ministerd with them. One couple, George Suber and Pearl Risby, asked Sheriff Pritchard if they could be married on the porch of the court house and he referred them to the county commissioners. On their way to the commissioners office Register and Recorder William R. Hanna invited them into his office where the knot was tied. The other couple, William R. Craighead and Mabel Boyd, were married in one of the jury rooms.

County Treasurer William O. Pitts took in $10,829.97 on Tuesday. This was the second largest amount taken in on any one day since June 1, the largest amount being on July 10 when receipts were $11,675.49. The money taken in Tuesday was distributed as follows: County $6,916.95 state, $454.52, poor $3,558.50.

Deputy Sheriff Elmer P. Taylor reports that there are now only 25 prisoners in the county jail. There is only one woman among the number, and she has rather a lonesome time in the women's section of the jail. Most of the male inmates are serving short sentences imposed by court.

New Castle people don't seem to be as nervous as they are in Butler or maybe they are just naturally better sleepers. The Butlerites have complained that the striking of the court house clock keeps them awake and so the county commissioners have arranged it so that the clock will stop striking at 10 a. m. and keep quiet until 8 o'clock in the morning. Lawrence county's court house clock can be heard over a greater part of the city, but so far as can be learned, there have been no complaints to the local county commissioners. Occasionally you hear people say they heard the court house clock strike every hour during the night, but they don't blame their sleeplessness on the clock.

Twenty six county and township bridges in Lawrence county have now been taken over by the state, according to the county commissioners. Among them are the following: Wampum-Chewton bridge, two at Willow Grove, West Pittsburg, Edenburg, four at Ellwood and Wurtemburg, Enon, Rose Point, Elliott's Mills, Harlansburg, Rock Springs, Grant City, Bessemer, Weingartner, in Shenango township, Morehead in Scott township, Rhodes Run, New Wilmington and Potter Run in Washington township. The taking of these bridges over by the state has lifted a big burden from the county and the townships. Efforts are being made to have the state take over other bridges.

The Governor Says

What Is Going On In Harrisburg— And Why

By GIFFORD PINCHOT
Governor of Pennsylvania

Have you ever gone exploring on Pennsylvania highways?

If you haven't taken any exploring trips—just starting out without any definite destination in view to see our marvelously beautiful Pennsylvania countryside—you are missing something really worth while.

To get the most out of such trips try the new rural roads that have opened up so many thousands of square miles of beautiful Commonwealth that have heretofore been just about inaccessible to motorists.

Where the old dirt roads were forbidding to the driver the new roads are inviting.

The tendency, too often, is to stick to the main highways. That is wrong. For too many trucks and busses and business cars and tourists take the fun out of driving for pleasure on the main roads.

Of course, these rural low-cost "Pinchot" roads were built primarily to get the farmer out of the mud. They were built to give the farmers a chance to get their produce to market easily and quickly: they were built so that the farmer might get to town or church or school all the year round without getting bogged down in the mud. And they were also built to relieve the farmer of road taxation. All these things—and more—this rural road system is doing.

What I am suggesting is that in addition to those practical uses we can all get a great deal of pleasure out of them. There are now—or will be when work under way is completed—13,000 miles of these hard surfaced roads. No matter where you live in Pennsylvania they are at your doorstep.

On August 15, 1931—when the rural system of highways was taken over by the State—it comprised a total of 20,157 miles of former township roads, of which 3,070 miles were what we might call improved. About 1,600 miles were partially improved and the rest were just plain dirt—the kind that get hub-deep when it rains.

When projects now under way on the rural system are completed, we will have constructed approximately 8,790 miles of new highway and reclaimed 1,609 miles of semi-improved roads. In other words, we will have added 10,399 miles of durable all weather roads to the rural system.

If we add the 3,070 miles that were already passable, when the work under way is completed only 6,687 miles of unimproved road will be left on the 20,000 mile rural system.

More than 10,000 miles of rural roads is a lot of road. The distance from Philadelphia to Los Angeles is about 3,000 miles. When you stop to think that you can drive on our rural roads three times the distance from Philadelphia to Los Angeles and have 1,000 miles left over, you get an idea of the tremendous advantages that have come to the farmers thrpugh the so called Pinchot roads. And, by the way, I didnt' give them that name. The people who live on them did it themselves.

Try mapping out a hundred mile drive for a Sunday afternoon or holiday over those roads.

You will get a closer contact with the scenic beauties of Pennsylvania the most beautiful state anywhere—than the main highways can possibly give you.

Try it!

The money taken in Tuesday was distributed as follows: County $6,916.95 state, $454.52, poor $3,558.50.

Deputy Sheriff Elmer P. Taylor reports that there are now only 25 prisoners in the county jail. There is only one woman among the number, and she has rather a lonesome time in the women's section of the jail. Most of the male inmates are serving short sentences imposed by court.

New Castle people don't seem to be as nervous as they are in Butler or maybe they are just naturally better sleepers. The Butlerites have complained that the striking of the court house clock keeps them awake and so the county commissioners have arranged it so that the clock will stop striking at 10 a. m. and keep quiet until 8 o'clock in the morning. Lawrence county's court house clock can be heard over a greater part of the city, but so far as can be learned, there have been no complaints to the local county commissioners. Occasionally you hear people say they heard the court house clock strike every hour during the night, but they don't blame their sleeplessness on the clock.

Twenty six county and township bridges in Lawrence county have now been taken over by the state, according to the county commissioners. Among them are the following: Wampum-Chewton bridge, two at Willow Grove, West Pittsburg, Edenburg, four at Ellwood and Wurtemburg, Enon, Rose Point, Elliott's Mills, Harlansburg, Rock Springs, Grant City, Bessemer, Weingartner, in Shenango township, Morehead in Scott township, Rhodes Run, New Wilmington and Potter Run in Washington township. The taking of these bridges over by the state has lifted a big burden from the county and the townships. Efforts are being made to have the state take over other bridges.

One kind of nudism we could stand more of its the naked truth.

Tighe Facing Stiff Contest

Radical Element Seeking To Oust Head Of Amalgamated

FIVE IN CONTEST FOR PRESIDENCY

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 26.—Militant youth, striving for greater recognition, pushed to the front today in the pre-primary election campaign of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers.

Release of the full list of candidates in the September 15 primary revealed that the conservative strength of the association will experience its first real test in 58 years of the power of the "rank and file" element. The left wing battle is directed principally at Michael F. Tighe, association president for 15 years.

Four candidates seek his office while Louis Leonard, Pittsburgh, secretary-treasurer of the organization, is the only candidate unopposed for office.

Those seeking the presidency in addition to Tighe are George J. Williams, Canonsburg; B. F. Bennett, Granite City, Ill., regarded as a semi-conservative; and Earl J. Forbeck, aggressive "rank and file" leader of McKeesport.

gress at Graz but the government claimed its troops were gaining the upper hand.

The fighting along the frontiers presented a delicate situation. Jugo-Slavian troops are massed along the frontier. A stray shell fired by either side in the civil warfare easily might land outside Austrian territory.

On every side armed forces watched what was going on in Austria. Italy has mobilized troops to the south. Germany has closed the Austro-German border. Jugo-Slavia has her soldiers ready to move into Austria if events occur to justify a military invasion or if the powers should deem necessary joint military action to preserve the independence of Austria.

Watch Apprehensively

Cautious Austrians and foreign observers watched the situation with apprehensive eyes, their minds turning back to 1914 when a less menacing situation launched the world into war.

Prince Starhemberg's first act when he returned to Vienna was to order complete mobilization of the Heimwehr, the Fascist military organization of which he is the leader.

Then he attended a cabinet meeting which marked his assumption of provisional control of the government. As Vice Chancellor Starhemberg automatically became head of the government. Dr. Kurt Schuschnigg, minister of education, who became provisional chancellor yesterday, after the death of Dollfuss, was only an ad interim appointee, who resumed his former position in the cabinet with the return of Starhemberg.

Starhemberg is only acting head of the government, however, carrying on until President Wilhelm Miklas decides upon a permanent appointment. It was considered not improbable that President Miklas eventually might name Starhemberg to the post.

The cabinet decided to set up a military court, composed of a judge and three army officers, which will try the actual slayers of Chancellor Dollfuss. There will be no appeal from the verdict, or the sentence of this court.

It was reported that fourteen Nazis would be tried for the slaying of the "Little Chancellor."

The cabinet also approved a decree of amnesty for all members of the Heimwehr under arrest, either for the participation in the fighting incident to last February's abortive Socialist revolt, the events of yesterday or other offenses.

The only violence reported in Vienna today was the unconfirmed rumor that two men were killed when a mob attempted to storm trucks which were transporting a large number of the Nazis arrested yesterday from a police barracks to a railway station. Whether the mob intended to release the prisoners, or lynch them could not be learned as it was driven off by gunfire from the guards.

The Nazis, it was believed, were being taken to the railway station for transportation to the Austro-German border, to be dumped on to German territory.

Bootlegging Adds To Taxes

People Who Patronize Bootleggers Are Increasing Taxes Of State

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 26.—Patronize the bootlegger and increase taxes.

That, in effect, was the warning the state liquor control board delivered to Pennsylvania today in a statement commenting on a newspaper article relating to present-day bootlegging activities.

Is Hard Battle

Admitting it was having a hard job battling bootleggers, the liquor board said:

"Those who deliberately buy and sell non-taxed liquor are bringing about a rise in the tax burden for policing, court trials and maintenance of prisoners in jails. If sufficient money for relief is not produced by the state stores because the public is evading the tax by buying bootleg liquor, then the necessary funds will have to be produced by other forms of taxation."

The liquor board has decided to get a look at the business places of applicants for retail licenses. Hereafter applicants must submit pictures of both the interiors and exteriors of their places of business.

ONE TIME ENEMY POWERS ARE HOPE OF AUSTRIA NOW

tense day was the self-shooting of Dr. Anton Rintelen, Dollfuss's ambassador to Rome, who was announced by the Nazis as Dollfuss's successor when they seized the radio station. Rintelen who was under arrest at the war ministry shot himself in the chest early this morning and later was reported dying.

Rintelen is said to have left a note saying, "I'm not guilty," before shooting himself with a revolver.

It was also reported that several officers friendly to Rintelen had been arrested. One of them is said to be the former General Wagner.

Fighting is continuing today in Styria where Rintelen was an uncrowned king, having been governor of the province for more than a decade. The army and the Heimwehr last night and this morning occupied the towns of Judenburg, Knittelfeld, Stainz and Alpenkirchen, driving open Nazi supporters out of them.

Hold 144 Nazis

The 144 Nazis who captured the chancellory in the uniforms of the Heimwehr will not escape through the bargain they made in surrendering it was learned today.

Marquis Odo Neustaedter-Steurmer, minister of social affairs, informed International News Service today that three of the Nazis captured in the chancellory were charged with the slaying of Chancellor Dollfuss and will be court-martialed. As for the others, he said, the government had not yet determined what to do with them but that it was certain that they would be handed over to the courts.

"There can be no question of their free passage into Germany," he said, "because the promises exacted from Major Emil Fey, were obtained under pressure of the force of arms."

Seek To Lynch Nazis

A furious crowd of Heimwehr troops and aroused citizens during the night unsuccessfully attempted to lynch the 144 Nazis who captured the chancellery and assassinated Dollfuss, again and again they stormed the Morocconer barracks where the prisoners are held. But the barracks is well protected with barbed wire and guarded by police and a military force who repulsed them with threats of firing upon the crowd.

President Miklas arrived early this morning from Klagenfurt and proceeded immediately to the chancellory, the scene of Dollfuss' tragic death.

Madame Dollfuss was enroute to this city by plane from Riccione, Italy, where she had been awaiting the arrival of her husband there for a conference with Mussolini tomorrow. It was said that she is still close to a nervous breakdown and had to be carried in a chair to the train which brought her to be airport at Venice.

Inspection Day For Guardsmen

First Group Of National Guards Will End Training Saturday

(International News Service)

CAMP MUIR, MT. GRETNA, Pa., July 26.—Completing their tactical and technical problems, most of the units of the 12,000 Pennsylvania national guardsmen encamped here underwent field inspection today prior to their entrainment for home tomorrow and Saturday.

Units whose homes are farthest away will entrain Friday and the others will leave Saturday.

Completing its 40-hour field problem today, the 213th coast artillery drew praise from commanding officers for so successfully concealing its operations from "enemy" airmen. So skillfully did the anti-aircraft unit screen its operations that not one "enemy" pilot accurately reported its position.

Artillerymen continued to blast away at deserted barns and homes on the Blue Mountain ranges in their final practice problem.

A severe electrical storm last night leveled many tents on the reservation but brought welcome relief from the heat. Medical units treated many citizens soldiers affected by the heat but no serious cases were reported.

behaved with the philosophy of Mexican bandits.

Dollfuss Brave Man

Dollfuss was a brave man. He was one of the most valorous officers in the Austrian army. He did not run. He faced the murderers, ten of them, single handed.

The Nazis fell upon one unarmed man.

According to eye-witnesses accounts, Dollfuss got the first alarm when his servant, hearing a tumult in the hall outside his door, closed and locked it. The servant and Dollfuss then ran to the so-called congress hall, where the famous congress of Vienna sat a century ago.

They had hardly reached the hall when ten men beat in the door with rifle butts and stormed in.

Their leader flung himself upon Dollfuss and, holding a revolver close to him, fired twice.

One shot struck Dollfuss in the neck, the other in the shoulder. Dollfuss remained standing for a moment, then brought both hands up before his face and fell backward to the floor.

Lying there he cried twice, "help! help!"

Then he became unconscious.

Thought Him Dead

The murderers let him lie there a while. Then one of them dragged him onto a divan and covered his face with a towel.

They thought him dead.

Later Major Emil Fey was permitted to come to Dollfuss for a moment. By that time the chancellor enough to murmur "don't let there be any bloodshed." These were almost his last words.

Vienna is clothed in mourning today. Black crepe flags fly from many private buildings as well as public buildings.

Dollfuss dead is greater in the heart of Austria than ever the living Dollfuss was.

The Nazis killed the chancellor but they made him a more effective enemy than he ever was in life. Ironically the German legation today placed the Swastika flag of Hitler at half-mast.

An officer of the Heimwehr bitterly remarked:

"It won't stay there long."

Fey Gives Details

At a dramatic midnight session Major Emil Fey gave the diplomatic corps the first account of his view of Dollfuss's death.

"I saw Dollfuss shot," said Fey. "As the Nazis rushed me through a doorway I heard a shot and caught a glimpse of Dollfuss staggering. Then they forced me away.

"They put me in a room with twelve other high officials but kept a revolver trained on us, threatening to shoot if a word was spoken. So I could not even tell my colleagues that Dollfuss was shot. It was 3 o'clock before a Nazi officer led me at the point of a revolver to Dollfuss.

Denied Doctor

"He was lying on a couch, half covered with a tablecloth. He could barely speak. He murmured to me 'try to straighten this thing out without bloodshed.' Then he barely whispered 'you are my friend. Please take care of my family,' then, in a weaker voice, 'get me a priest'.

"I tried to speak but a Nazi shoved me out of the room and I did not succeed in saying a word. At the door I cried, 'but get him a doctor.'

"But the Nazis said 'we'll take care of that'. But they did not get a doctor and they did not get a priest."

Anton Rintelen Dies As Suicide

Austrian Minister To Rome Shoots Self To Death, In Vienna

HAD BEEN ARRESTED IN VIENNA OUTBREAK

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

VIENNA, July 26—Anton Rintelen, Austrian minister to Rome, died here today of self inflicted wounds. Rintelen shot himself after he had been arrested as a leader in yesterday's tragic Nazi "putsch" in which Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss was killed.

LONDON, July 26—Several close friends and collaborators of Anton Rintelen, the Austrian minister to Rome who ended his life in Vienna after being apprehended in connection with yesterday's "putsch" have been arrested, according to an exchange telegraph dispatch from Vienna.

Reports to the exchange telegraph from Hungary stated other friends of Rintelen had committed suicide.

Fighting continues in Syria, the dispatches stated, and several were killed in clashes between Nazis and the army.

EX-CONVICT SLAIN

CHICAGO, July 26—Samuel Serpa, 37, an ex-convict sought for murders in Philadelphia and Camden, N. J., was found stabbed to death today in a gutter on the South Side.

Just before the body was discovered a brown automobile was seen speeding away. Indications were he had been knifed.

LAWRENCE RESIGNS

PHILADELPHIA, July 26—David L. Lawrence, chairman of the Democratic state committee, has resigned as collector of internal revenue at Pittsburgh so that he may devote all his time to his political duties.

During a brief visit to Philadelphia yesterday Lawrence said he has forwarded his resignation to Washington.

POLICE BATTLE MOB

PHILADELPHIA, July 26—A crowd of 150 men attacked three policemen here early today in an attempt to free three prisoners arrested for street fighting. In the ensuing struggle about a dozen police bullets were fired, one of which struck and wounded Anthony Cerebyus, 18.

Police reserves rushed to the scene in a patrol wagon.

YOUNG MAN KILLED

LEBANON Pa., July 26.—Donald J. Whatford, 21, of (210 11th street) Franklin, Pa., a member of the howitzer company, 112th infantry, Pennsylvania national guard, Oil City, met instant death early today when he was thrown from an automobile as it struck a tree on the Lebanon-Colebrook road. Four other guardsmen were injured, none seriously.

GUM DROPS AND SALTS

PITTSBURGH, July 26.—The repeated complaint that one cannot eat because of the intense heat was remedied here today.

To relieve the sweltering workers at their Brackenridge plant, officials of the Allegheny Steel company fed them gum drops and salt tablets.

REPORT SUSPICIOUS MAN ON NORTH HILL

Police last night dispatched a scout car filled with police to the Lincoln avenue and North Mercer street district where a call told police a man who acted suspiciously was in the neighborhood. The police reported no one was in the neighborhood when they arrived.

Tighe Facing Stiff Contest

Radical Element Seeking To Oust Head Of Amalgamated

FIVE IN CONTEST FOR PRESIDENCY

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 26.—Militant youth, striving for greater recognition, pushed to the front today in the pre-primary election campaign of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers.

Release of the full list of candidates in the September 15 primary revealed that the conservative strength of the association will experience its first real test in 58 years of the power of the "rank and file" element. The left wing battle is directed principally at Michael F. Tighe, association president for 15 years.

Four candidates seek his office while Louis Leonard, Pittsburgh, secretary-treasurer of the organization, is the only candidate unopposed for office.

Those seeking the presidency in addition to Tighe are George J. Williams, Canonsburg; B. F. Bennett, Granite City, Ill., regarded as a semi-conservative; and Earl J. Forbeck, aggressive "rank and file" leader of McKeesport.

Bootlegging Adds To Taxes

People Who Patronize Bootleggers Are Increasing Taxes Of State

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 26.—Patronize the bootlegger and increase taxes.

That, in effect, was the warning the state liquor control board delivered to Pennsylvania today in a statement commenting on a newspaper article relating to present-day bootlegging activities.

Later Major Emil Fey was permitted to come to Dollfuss for a moment. By that time the chancellor enough to murmur "don't let there be any bloodshed." These were almost his last words.

Vienna is clothed in mourning today. Black crepe flags fly from many private buildings as well as public buildings.

Dollfuss dead is greater in the heart of Austria than ever the living Dollfuss was.

The Nazis killed the chancellor but they made him a more effective enemy than he ever was in life. Ironically the German legation today placed the Swastika flag of Hitler at half-mast.

An officer of the Heimwehr bitterly remarked:

"It won't stay there long."

Fey Gives Details

At a dramatic midnight session Major Emil Fey gave the diplomatic corps the first account of his view of Dollfuss's death.

"I saw Dollfuss shot," said Fey. "As the Nazis rushed me through a doorway I heard a shot and caught a glimpse of Dollfuss staggering. Then they forced me away.

"They put me in a room with twelve other high officials but kept a revolver trained on us, threatening to shoot if a word was spoken. So I could not even tell my colleagues that Dollfuss was shot. It was 3 o'clock before a Nazi officer led me at the point of a revolver to Dollfuss.

Denied Doctor

"He was lying on a couch, half covered with a tablecloth. He could barely speak. He murmured to me 'try to straighten this thing out without bloodshed." Then he barely whispered 'you are my friend. Please take care of my family.' then, in a weaker voice, 'get me a priest'.

"I tried to speak but a Nazi shoved me out of the room and I did not succeed in saying a word. At the door I cried, 'but get him a doctor.'

"But the Nazis said 'we'll take care of that'. But they did not get a doctor and they did not get a priest."

GIRL TRIES SUICIDE

(International News Service)

CHARLEROI, Pa., July 26.—Ruby Abel, 17, was recovering in Monessen hospital today from bullet wounds in her left arm, described by police as an unsuccessful suicide attempt.

Constable George Dennis announced his investigations showed the girl made the attempt on her life after being refused permission to see her "boy friend".

Anton Rintelen Dies As Suicide

Austrian Minister To Rome Shoots Self To Death, In Vienna

HAD BEEN ARRESTED IN VIENNA OUTBREAK

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

VIENNA, July 26—Anton Rintelen, Austrian minister to Rome, died here today of self inflicted wounds. Rintelen shot himself after he had been arrested as a leader in yesterday's tragic Nazi "putsch" in which Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss was killed.

LONDON, July 26—Several close friends and collaborators of Anton Rintelen, the Austrian minister to Rome who ended his life in Vienna after being apprehended in connection with yesterday's "putsch" have been arrested, according to an exchange telegraph dispatch from Vienna.

Reports to the exchange telegraph from Hungary stated other friends of Rintelen had committed suicide.

Fighting continues in Syria, the dispatches stated, and several were killed in clashes between Nazis and the army.

EX-CONVICT SLAIN

CHICAGO, July 26—Samuel Serpa, 37, an ex-convict sought for murders in Philadelphia and Camden, N. J., was found stabbed to death today in a gutter on the South Side.

Just before the body was discovered a brown automobile was seen speeding away. Indications were he had been knifed.

LAWRENCE RESIGNS

PHILADELPHIA, July 26—David L. Lawrence, chairman of the Democratic state committee, has resigned as collector of internal revenue at Pittsburgh so that he may devote all his time to his political duties.

During a brief visit to Philadelphia yesterday Lawrence said he has forwarded his resignation to Washington.

POLICE BATTLE MOB

PHILADELPHIA, July 26—A crowd of 150 men attacked three policemen here early today in an attempt to free three prisoners arrested for street fighting. In the ensuing struggle about a dozen police bullets were fired, one of which struck and wounded Anthony Cerebyus, 18.

Police reserves rushed to the scene in a patrol wagon.

YOUNG MAN KILLED

LEBANON Pa., July 26.—Donald J. Whatford, 21, of (210 11th street) Franklin, Pa., a member of the howitzer company, 112th infantry, Pennsylvania national guard, Oil City, met instant death early today when he was thrown from an automobile as it struck a tree on the Lebanon-Colebrook road. Four other guardsmen were injured, none seriously.

GUM DROPS AND SALTS

PITTSBURGH, July 26.—The repeated complaint that one cannot eat because of the intense heat was remedied here today.

To relieve the sweltering workers at their Brackenridge plant, officials of the Allegheny Steel company fed them gum drops and salt tablets.

REPORT SUSPICIOUS MAN ON NORTH HILL

Police last night dispatched a scout car filled with police to the Lincoln avenue and North Mercer street district where a call told police a man who acted suspiciously was in the neighborhood. The police reported no one was in the neighborhood when they arrived.

Tighe Facing Stiff Contest

Radical Element Seeking To Oust Head Of Amalgamated

FIVE IN CONTEST FOR PRESIDENCY

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 26.—Militant youth, striving for greater recognition, pushed to the front today in the pre-primary election campaign of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers.

Release of the full list of candidates in the September 15 primary revealed that the conservative strength of the association will experience its first real test in 58 years of the power of the "rank and file" element. The left wing battle is directed principally at Michael F. Tighe, association president for 15 years.

Four candidates seek his office while Louis Leonard, Pittsburgh, secretary-treasurer of the organization, is the only candidate unopposed for office.

Those seeking the presidency in addition to Tighe are George J. Williams, Canonsburg; B. F. Bennett, Granite City, Ill., regarded as a semi-conservative; and Earl J. Forbeck, aggressive "rank and file" leader of McKeesport.

UNCERTAIN FATE AWAITS AUSTRIA; FEAR WAR SPARK

gress at Graz but the government claimed its troops were gaining the upper hand.

The fighting along the frontiers presented a delicate situation. Jugo-Slavian troops are massed along the frontier. A stray shell fired by either side in the civil warfare easily might land outside Austrian territory.

On every side armed forces watched what was going on in Austria. Italy has mobilized troops to the south. Germany has closed the Austro-German border. Jugo-Slavia has her soldiers ready to move into Austria if events occur to justify a military invasion or if the powers should deem necessary joint military action to preserve the independence of Austria.

Watch Apprehensively

Cautious Austrians and foreign observers watched the situation with apprehensive eyes, their minds turning back to 1914 when a less menacing situation launched the world into war.

Prince Starhemberg's first act when he returned to Vienna was to order complete mobilization of the Heimwehr, the Fascist military organization of which he is the leader.

Then he attended a cabinet meeting which marked his assumption of provisional control of the government. As Vice Chancellor Starhemberg automatically became head of the government. Dr. Kurt Schuschnigg, minister of education, who became provisional chancellor yesterday, after the death of Dollfuss, was only an ad interim appointee, who resumed his former position in the cabinet with the return of Starhemberg.

Starhemberg is only acting head of the government, however, carrying on until President Wilhelm Miklas decides upon a permanent appointment. It was considered not improbable that President Miklas eventually might name Starhemberg to the post.

The cabinet decided to set up a military court, composed of a judge and three army officers, which will try the actual slayers of Chancellor Dollfuss. There will be no appeal from the verdict, or the sentence of this court.

It was reported that fourteen Nazis would be tried for the slaying of the "Little Chancellor."

The cabinet also approved a decree of amnesty for all members of the Heimwehr under arrest, either for the participation in the fighting incident to last February's abortive Socialist revolt, the events of yesterday or other offenses.

The only violence reported in Vienna today was the unconfirmed rumor that two men were killed when a mob attempted to storm trucks which were transporting a large number of the Nazis arrested yesterday from a police barracks to a railway station. Whether the mob intended to release the prisoners, or lynch them could not be learned as it was driven off by gunfire from the guards.

The Nazis, it was believed, were being taken to the railway station for transportation to the Austro-German border, to be dumped on to German territory.

Bootlegging Adds To Taxes

People Who Patronize Bootleggers Are Increasing Taxes Of State

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 26.—Patronize the bootlegger and increase taxes.

That, in effect, was the warning the state liquor control board delivered to Pennsylvania today in a statement commenting on a newspaper article relating to present-day bootlegging activities.

Is Hard Battle

Admitting it was having a hard job battling bootleggers, the liquor board said:

"Those who deliberately buy and sell non-taxed liquor are bringing about a rise in the tax burden for policing, court trials and maintenance of prisoners in jails. If sufficient money for relief is not produced by the state stores because the public is evading the tax by buying bootleg liquor, then the necessary funds will have to be produced by other forms of taxation."

The liquor board has decided to get a look at the business places of applicants for retail licenses. Hereafter applicants must submit pictures of both the interiors and exteriors of their places of business.

tense day was the self-shooting of Dr. Anton Rintelen, Dollfuss's ambassador to Rome, who was announced by the Nazis as Dollfuss's successor when they seized the radio station. Rintelen who was under arrest at the war ministry shot himself in the chest early this morning and later was reported dying.

Rintelen is said to have left a note saying, "I'm not guilty." before shooting himself with a revolver.

It was also reported that several officers friendly to Rintelen had been arrested. One of them is said to be the former General Wagner.

Fighting is continuing today in Styria where Rintelen was an uncrowned king, having been governor of the province for more than a decade. The army and the Heimwehr last night and this morning occupied the towns of Judenburg, Knittelfeld, Stainz and Alpenkirchen, driving open Nazi supporters out of them.

Hold 144 Nazis

The 144 Nazis who captured the chancellory in the uniforms of the Heimwehr will not escape through the bargain they made in surrendering it was learned today.

Marquis Odo Neustaedter-Steurmer, minister of social affairs, informed International News Service today that three of the Nazis captured in the chancellory were charged with the slaying of Chancellor Dollfuss and will be court-martialed. As for the others, he said, the government had not yet determined what to do with them but that it was certain that they would be handed over to the courts.

"There can be no question of their free passage into Germany," he said, "because the promises exacted from Major Emil Fey, were obtained under pressure of the force of arms."

Seek To Lynch Nazis

A furious crowd of Heimwehr troops and aroused citizens during the night unsuccessfully attempted to lynch the 144 Nazis who captured the chancellery and assassinated Dollfuss, again and again they stormed the Morocconer barracks where the prisoners are held. But the barracks is well protected with barbed wire and guarded by police and a military force who repulsed them with threats of firing upon the crowd.

President Miklas arrived early this morning from Klagenfurt and proceeded immediately to the chancellory, the scene of Dollfuss' tragic death.

Madame Dollfuss was enroute to this city by plane from Riccione, Italy, where she had been awaiting the arrival of her husband there for a conference with Mussolini tomorrow. It was said that she is still close to a nervous breakdown and had to be carried in a chair to the train which brought her to be airport at Venice.

Inspection Day For Guardsmen

First Group Of National Guards Will End Training Saturday

(International News Service)

CAMP MUIR, MT. GRETNA, Pa., July 26.—Completing their tactical and technical problems, most of the units of the 12,000 Pennsylvania national guardsmen encamped here underwent field inspection today prior to their entrainment for home tomorrow and Saturday.

Units whose homes are farthest away will entrain Friday and the others will leave Saturday.

Completing its 40-hour field problem today, the 213th coast artillery drew praise from commanding officers for so successfully concealing its operations from "enemy" airmen. So skillfully did the anti-aircraft unit screen its operations that not one "enemy" pilot accurately reported its position.

Artillerymen continued to blast away at deserted barns and homes on the Blue Mountain ranges in their final practice problem.

A severe electrical storm last night leveled many tents on the reservation but brought welcome relief from the heat. Medical units treated many citizens soldiers affected by the heat but no serious cases were reported.

GIVES TRAGIC DETAILS OF DEATH OF DOLLFUSS

behaved with the philosophy of Mexican bandits.

Dollfuss Brave Man

Dollfuss was a brave man. He was one of the most valorous officers in the Austrian army. He did not run. He faced the murderers, ten of them, single handed.

The Nazis fell upon one unarmed man.

According to eye-witnesses accounts, Dollfuss got the first alarm when his servant, hearing a tumult in the hall outside his door, closed and locked it. The servant and Dollfuss then ran to the so-called congress hall, where the famous congress of Vienna sat a century ago.

They had hardly reached the hall when ten men beat in the door with rifle butts and stormed in.

Their leader flung himself upon Dollfuss and, holding a revolver close to him, fired twice.

One shot struck Dollfuss in the neck, the other in the shoulder. Dollfuss remained standing for a moment, then brought both hands up before his face and fell backward to the floor.

Lying there he cried twice, "help! help!"

Then he became unconscious.

Thought Him Dead

The murderers let him lie there a while. Then one of them dragged him onto a divan and covered his face with a towel.

They thought him dead.

Later Major Emil Fey was permitted to come to Dollfuss for a moment. By that time the chancellor enough to murmur "don't let there be any bloodshed." These were almost his last words.

Vienna is clothed in mourning today. Black crepe flags fly from many private buildings as well as public buildings.

End Of Hitlerism Is Seen By Earle

Returned Minister To Austria Discusses Killing Of Chancellor Dollfuss

TERRORISM ONLY RESORT OF HITLERITES

(International News Service)

ALLENTOWN, Pa., July 26.—The murder of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss means the end of Hitlerism, in the opinion of George E. Earle, former United States minister to Austria.

"The brutal death of Chancellor Dollfuss," Earle said, "cannot be condoned. It was a despicable act of terrorism that convinces me that the Nazi movement in Austria is cracking up just as it is in Germany."

Earle, who is Democratic candidate for governor of Pennsylvania, was here on a pre-campaign survey when news of Dollfuss' assassination reached this city.

"Terrorism is now the only resort of the Hitlerites—and it is bound to fail," Earle declared in his interpretation of yesterday's startling events in Vienna.

Can't Go Nazi.

"Austria now cannot go Nazi without a European war," he asserted, declaring that neither Italy nor France would stand for it.

"The murder of Dollfuss is bound to be a terrible blow to the peace of Europe. To my mind only one of three men, Prince Von Stahremberg, Major Emil Fey or Anton Rintelen, ambassador to Italy, can avert disaster or the return of a monarchy in Austria. I don't believe that Kurt Schuschnigg can handle the situation."

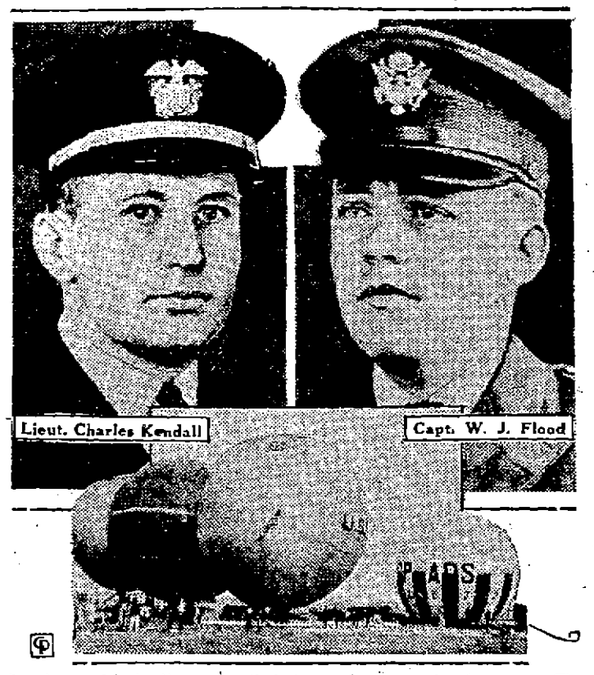

Earle spoke of the friendship he and Mrs. Earle had struck up with Dollfuss and Frau Dollfuss while he was minister to Austria and said:

"I know what his plans were. His were not ideas of bloodshed. From the conversations we had together, I know without even being familiar with details of the killing, that it was in cold blood.

"With his passing there leaves the world one of the most lovable, sincere and human men of modern times."

Earle was appointed to the important post of minister to Austria by President Roosevelt. Immediately upon his arrival in Vienna he sounded a warning to Austria of the dangers of Nazism and anti-semitism.

Plans For Camp Will Be Made By Girls Of Guild

A short business meeting for members of the Westminster Guild of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church who plan to camp at Cottage Grove this year will take place at the home of Mrs. D. C. Schnebly, Newell avenue, this evening from seven to 7:30 o'clock.

The Guild rents a cottage each summer for several weeks at the pretty grove and has a traditional good time. It is believed that quite a number will attend this year.

Observations In 7th Ward

Snaps taken here and there: Cows greatly cowering together under improvised shelters in field north of Mahoning avenue at Liberty street intersection.....Dome of Lawrence school, recently painted red, shining conspicuously like that of Mercer county courthouse.....Men working on North Cedar street job are eligible for membership in the Hottest Job club.....Swansea avenue now open again.....Garbage department has some now bright red trucks.....Local druggist presenting a rival gardener with some ears of corn, thus proving his superiority as an early producer.....They tasted fine.....Some little boys and girls in bathing suits dancing around gleefully in the South Liberty street vicinity while mother stood and sprinkled them with a garden hose.

Children Of Home Enjoy Tent Show

The boys and girls of Crawford-Oakridge children's home were treated to free shows and free rides Wednesday afternoon by the American Legion at the exposition on the Scotland Lane.

Transportation to the show grounds was provided by William Smeal.

This Popcorn Is Demanding Notice

That popcorn in C. J. Bernhart's garden, North Liberty street, is growing so fast that Mr. Bernhart is seriously considering attaching some weights on it just as a matter of discipline.

Two stalks are nine feet high now and are just getting up momentum.

HOTTEST SPOT?

The thermometer located at the Pennsylvania shops registered 122 degrees (above zero) yesterday, thus setting the record for thermometer readings here.

Several on North Liberty street showed 115 degrees and others were up in the hot nineties.

AVERY IS BETTER

Francis (Frank) Avery, of Wabash avenue, a member of Troop F 103rd Cavalry, who was kicked by a horse several days ago at Mt. Gretna, is reported as getting along very nicely. He was not seriously hurt.

GIRL VICTIM DROWNS IN BEAVER RIVER

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., July 26.—Police and firemen at the Eastvale dam last night recovered the body of Miss Isabelle Vitari, daughter of Mrs. Fortune Vitari, of 372 Shaw street, Toronto, Can., drowned late yesterday.

A guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reda, of 1604 Eighth avenue, Miss Vitari had gone to the river with a party of friends. She was seized with cramps while swimming in a deep pool and sank before friends could reach her.

CLIMBED MOUNTAIN PEAK IN SLIPPERS

(International News Service)

PORTLAND, Ore.—The contempt Robert Henison, C. C. C. trooper, held for Mount Hood has been dissipated at the expense of two badly bruised and nearly frozen feet. Henison had scoffed at the reported difficulties of ascending the mountain and essayed to make the summit in a pair of bedroom slippers. When halfway up the ascent the slippers wore through.

So he discarded his flimsy footwear and proceeded barefoot, making the climb, but suffering intensely from rigor of the trail which leads over huge snowfields, glaciers and ragged rocks.

End Of Hitlerism Is Seen By Earle

Returned Minister To Austria Discusses Killing Of Chancellor Dollfuss

TERRORISM ONLY RESORT OF HITLERITES

(International News Service)

ALLENTOWN, Pa., July 26.—The murder of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss means the end of Hitlerism, in the opinion of George E. Earle, former United States minister to Austria.

"The brutal death of Chancellor Dollfuss," Earle said, "cannot be condoned. It was a despicable act of terrorism that convinces me that the Nazi movement in Austria is cracking up just as it is in Germany."

Earle, who is Democratic candidate for governor of Pennsylvania, was here on a pre-campaign survey when news of Dollfuss' assassination reached this city.

"Terrorism is now the only resort of the Hitlerites—and it is bound to fail," Earle declared in his interpretation of yesterday's startling events in Vienna.

Can't Go Nazi.

"Austria now cannot go Nazi without a European war," he asserted, declaring that neither Italy nor France would stand for it.

"The murder of Dollfuss is bound to be a terrible blow to the peace of Europe. To my mind only one of three men, Prince Von Stahremberg, Major Emil Fey or Anton Rintelen, ambassador to Italy, can avert disaster or the return of a monarchy in Austria. I don't believe that Kurt Schuschnigg can handle the situation."

Earle spoke of the friendship he and Mrs. Earle had struck up with Dollfuss and Frau Dollfuss while he was minister to Austria and said:

"I know what his plans were. His were not ideas of bloodshed. From the conversations we had together, I know without even being familiar with details of the killing, that it was in cold blood.

"With his passing there leaves the world one of the most lovable, sincere and human men of modern times."

Earle was appointed to the important post of minister to Austria by President Roosevelt. Immediately upon his arrival in Vienna he sounded a warning to Austria of the dangers of Nazism and anti-semitism.

GIRL VICTIM DROWNS IN BEAVER RIVER

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., July 26.—Police and firemen at the Eastvale dam last night recovered the body of Miss Isabelle Vitari, daughter of Mrs. Fortune Vitari, of 372 Shaw street, Toronto, Can., drowned late yesterday.

A guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reda, of 1604 Eighth avenue, Miss Vitari had gone to the river with a party of friends. She was seized with cramps while swimming in a deep pool and sank before friends could reach her.

CLIMBED MOUNTAIN PEAK IN SLIPPERS

(International News Service)

PORTLAND, Ore.—The contempt Robert Henison, C. C. C. trooper, held for Mount Hood has been dissipated at the expense of two badly bruised and nearly frozen feet. Hnison had scoffed at the reported difficulties of ascending the mountain and essayed to make the summit in a pair of bedroom slippers. When halfway up the ascent the slippers wore through.

So he discarded his flimsy footwear and proceeded barefoot, making the climb, but suffering intensely from rigor of the trail which leads over huge snowfields, glaciers and ragged rocks.

End Of Hitlerism Is Seen By Earle

Returned Minister To Austria Discusses Killing Of Chancellor Dollfuss

TERRORISM ONLY RESORT OF HITLERITES

(International News Service)

ALLENTOWN, Pa., July 26.—The murder of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss means the end of Hitlerism, in the opinion of George E. Earle, former United States minister to Austria.

"The brutal death of Chancellor Dollfuss," Earle said, "cannot be condoned. It was a despicable act of terrorism that convinces me that the Nazi movement in Austria is cracking up just as it is in Germany."

Earle, who is Democratic candidate for governor of Pennsylvania, was here on a pre-campaign survey when news of Dollfuss' assassination reached this city.

"Terrorism is now the only resort of the Hitlerites—and it is bound to fail," Earle declared in his interpretation of yesterday's startling events in Vienna.

Can't Go Nazi.

"Austria now cannot go Nazi without a European war," he asserted, declaring that neither Italy nor France would stand for it.

"The murder of Dollfuss is bound to be a terrible blow to the peace of Europe. To my mind only one of three men, Prince Von Stahremberg, Major Emil Fey or Anton Rintelen, ambassador to Italy, can avert disaster or the return of a monarchy in Austria. I don't believe that Kurt Schuschnigg can handle the situation."

Earle spoke of the friendship he and Mrs. Earle had struck up with Dollfuss and Frau Dollfuss while he was minister to Austria and said:

"I know what his plans were. His were not ideas of bloodshed. From the conversations we had together, I know without even being familiar with details of the killing, that it was in cold blood.

"With his passing there leaves the world one of the most lovable, sincere and human men of modern times."

Earle was appointed to the important post of minister to Austria by President Roosevelt. Immediately upon his arrival in Vienna he sounded a warning to Austria of the dangers of Nazism and anti-semitism.

FLY FOR U. S. IN BALLOON RACE

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Plans For Camp Will Be Made By Girls Of Guild

A short business meeting for members of the Westminster Guild of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church who plan to camp at Cottage Grove this year will take place at the home of Mrs. D. C. Schnebly, Newell avenue, this evening from seven to 7:30 o'clock.

The Guild rents a cottage each summer for several weeks at the pretty grove and has a traditional good time. It is believed that quite a number will attend this year.

Observations In 7th Ward

Snaps taken here and there: Cows greatly cowering together under improvised shelters in field north of Mahoning avenue at Liberty street intersection.....Dome of Lawrence school, recently painted red, shining conspicuously like that of Mercer county courthouse.....Men working on North Cedar street job are eligible for membership in the Hottest Job club.....Swansea avenue now open again.....Garbage department has some now bright red trucks.....Local druggist presenting a rival gardener with some ears of corn, thus proving his superiority as an early producer.....They tasted fine. ....Some little boys and girls in bathing suits dancing around gleefully in the South Liberty street vicinity while mother stood and sprinkled them with a garden hose.

Children Of Home Enjoy Tent Show

The boys and girls of Crawford-Oakridge children's home were treated to free shows and free rides Wednesday afternoon by the American Legion at the exposition on the Scotland Lane.

Transportation to the show grounds was provided by William Smeal.

This Popcorn Is Demanding Notice

That popcorn in C. J. Bernhart's garden, North Liberty street, is growing so fast that Mr. Bernhart is seriously considering attaching some weights on it just as a matter of discipline.

Two stalks are nine feet high now and are just getting up momentum.

HOTTEST SPOT?

The thermometer located at the Pennsylvania shops registered 122 degrees (above zero) yesterday, thus setting the record for thermometer readings here.

Several on North Liberty street showed 115 degrees and others were up in the hot nineties.

Schnader Will Fight Earle On Party Dictation

Home Rule Vs. Dictation From Washington Basis Of Fall Campaign

GOVERNORSHIP PRIZE SOUGHT

George H. Earle, Democratic Nominee, Is Friend Of Roosevelt

By HARRY BEREMAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, July 26—Home rule versus dictation from Washington.

On the basis of this issue, it was apparent today, Attorney General William A. Schnader and his Republican cohorts plan to prosecute the fight for Pennsylvania's governorship against George H. Earle and the state's Democrats.

Whether it be real or fancied, the Republican strategists obviously see in the nomination of Earle a threat of undue influence from the White House, should the Haverford millionaire be elected in the November balloting.

Roosevelt's Friend

Earle was President Roosevelt's minister to Austria before he became the Democratic gubernatorial nominee. He is a good friend of the president. Furthermore, the National Administration has taken no pains to conceal its desire that Pennsylvania chooses Earle as its chief executive. This desire was given emphatic expression a few days ago by Postmaster General James A. Farley.

Thus, the policies and practices of the new deal which seems destined to become the principal issue in the senatorial battle between U. S. Senator David A. Reed and the Democratic candidate for Reed's office, Joseph F. Guffy, bid fair to reverberate in the gubernatorial arena in the guise of a contest over state's right versus federal influence.

Question Raised

"Our candidates," he asserted, "will not let the policies of our state government be dictated by outsiders, not permit our state government to become a mere branch of the national government.

"They will fight for the right of our people to continue to determine for themselves the policies which should be followed in handling that portion of the government which was not surrendered to the federal government when the constitution was adopted."

Against Special Session

Schnader lifted his voice against calling of a special session of the state legislature to grapple with the relief problem, intimating that the more for such a session is impelled by pressure from the federal government and has Guffey's approval.

What reply, if any, Earle will make to his adversary on the home rule challenge remains to be seen. Thus far the Democratic candidate, who is now conducting a "get-acquainted" tour of the commonwealth, has not seen fit to answer any of Schnader's repeated charges of federal intervention.

TURNS STOVE UP; GOES SWIMMING

Wednesday evening at 8:15, firemen were called to the home of Nick Capitola, of 813 East Main street, by an alarm from box 38.

Firemen from No. 4 department, arriving on the scene first found a blazing oil stove in the kitchen. Mrs. Capitola was making ready to cold pack some beans, and turned the valve too high on the oil stove. She then went swimming. It was blazing briskly when firemen arrived but no damage was done. Firemen carried the stove out into the yard.

AVENGER, AND THE "WOMAN IN RED"

MRS. ANNA SAGE SERGT. MARTIN ZARKOVICH

Important parts in the drama of John Dillinger's death were played by Sergt. Martin Zarkovich, above, of the Indiana Harbor, Ind., police force, and Mrs. Anna Sage, "woman in red" who accompanied Dillinger to the Chicago theater where he was trapped and slain by federal agents. The tip that Dillinger was to attend the theater is said to have come from Indiana Harbor police, and Mrs. Sage admitted knowing Sergt. Zarkovich, according to police who questioned her when found.

Troop Will Get Here Saturday

Will Leave Camp On Friday Evening, Arriving In New Castle Early Saturday

CLOSING ACTIVITIES KEEP TROOPERS BUSY

(Special To The News)
By Sgt. F. F. Florida and Pvt. 1st Class Jack B. Bryan.

COLEBROOK, July 25.—With most of the work of the training period completed, Troop F is looking forward to Friday, which will mark the close of the training period and give the boys a little breathing spell before they return home.

Tomorrow evening we start to check our equipment in preparation for the return home on Friday evening. We expect to leave at the usual time, about 8 p. m. and should arrive in New Castle betwen 7 and 8 a. m. Saturday.

This has been an excellent camp, and the troop members will return home with the feeling that a good job has been done well, and that no discredit has fallen on our regiment or our home town.

Overnight Camp.

Troop F along with the other troops of the 103rd cavalry left Colebrook Monday, July 23, for Walmer's church in the vicinity of Indiantown Gap. The troops cleared the area at Colebrook at 6:20 a. m., and three hours later arrived at the site of their bivouac. Picket lines were immediately set up, the horses were cared for and then pup tents were erected by the men.

The entire 52nd calvary brigade of the 103rd and 104th regiments of cavalry were encamped for the bivouac of one night prior to the 28th division review. The trip to Indiantown was covered in unusually fast time in spite of clouds of dust kicked up by the horses' hoofs and the heat of one of the summer's warmest days.

The duties of the morning of Tuesday, the 24th, consisted of making preparations for the review. An army of visitors greatly outnumbering the troops invaded the 15,000-acre Indiantown Gap military reservation to witness the entire 28th division in maneuvers seen only twice before. Once when the division marched down Broad street in Philadelphia after disembarkment from overseas, and again for a review by Marshal Foch several years later.

Pinchot Reviews Men.

Shortly after noon the troops were massed on the parade grounds. Besides Governor Gifford Pinchot and Major General Shannon the following officers were present: Major General Paul B. Malone, commander of the Third Corps Area, United States army; Major General William G. Price, Jr., former division commander; Major General George B. Simonds, head of the army war college, and General Lieutenant Franz von Boetticher, military attache at the German embassy and a member of Von Hindenburg's staff during the World war.

The cavalry traveled light during the review, their packs having been shipped back to Colebrook at the start. Immediately after the last line of cavalry had passed the reviewing stands the men started preparations for a night ride over the country roads back to the home camp site.

Visitors Present.

Several New Castle visitors were present at the review, among whom were L. B. Round, Mrs. Harvey G. Bintrim, Mrs. F. L. Florida, Miss Virginia Sager. Mr. and Mrs. W. Fulton Jackson stopped over for several hours enroute to Fort Monroe, Va., where Major Jackson will be on duty for two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Avery remained here until Sunday evening and expressed their pleasure at having made the trip down here, stating that they intended to return next year. Mrs. O. J. Shannon, mother of Jack Bryan; Mrs. David Owens, mother of Edward Owens, arrived Sunday and remained for the division review, as did Mrs. Florida, Miss Sager and Mr. Round. Mr. and Mrs. James Moorehead also visited us on Sunday, remaining until late in the day.

All our guests had an opportunity to taste "army chow" and had the satisfaction of knowing that their sons and friends had plenty to eat and that while there is plenty of work to be done in the two weeks' training period, there is time for play also. All of our visitors expect to return next year and we are hoping that next year and ever after that more parents, wives and sweethearts will come at camp time for a taste of army life.

Have Rest Day.

Today—Wednesday—is a rest day, the men spending the bulk of the time washing clothes, bathing and resting. hTe march back from Indiantown yesterday was a strenuous one and it apparently judged best to permit the man a day of quiet. The only ones who have any regular duties today are the kitchen force and the stable force. Both men and horses must be fed and taken care of and—as always—someone has to do the work.

I guess we must be getting old. Anyway, this year we brought an electric fan down for the orderly room and it certainly has been a wonderful help during this extremely hot two weeks. Our visitors have been many and our greatest need for discipline has been in enforcing the usual "no loafing" regulations in the first sergeant's tent. We hope to always be fortunate enough to have one during our encampment periods.

Monday evening the entire troop had their pictures taken individually and these will be placed on a card in the center of which will be a reproduction of an aerial photo taken of our camp. This camp picture is the best picture of our area that has ever been offered for sale and it is expected that a large number of the boys will take one home with them.

The famous "G-3" All-Weather

You get the broader road contact of a flatter, wider All-Weather Tread.
You get quicker-stopping and the greater road grip of more non-skid blocks in the center.
You get the easy steering and smooth travel of wider riding-ribs.
You get the slow, even wear of closer-nested non-skid blocks and ribs.
You get more rubber in the tread, an average of two pounds more per tire.
—all of which adds up to 43% MORE NON-SKID MILEAGE at no extra cost to you!

FRANKLY, we've never seen a tire make such a sensation! Ever since Goodyear told the amazing story of its development—how they frazzled brakes, ruined cars, burned up roads day and night to test it—old friends and new ones have flocked in to us and said, "Give us this tire that delivers 43% longer non-skid mileage."
Come in! See this winner! See the extra grip, the extra rubber in its broader, flatter tread. Ask us about the guarantee. See why patented Supertwist cord in the tire body is the only foundation that makes such a tire possible. Make no mistake. No other tire gives you what you get in the new "G-3" All-Weather—and you pay no more for its extra miles of non-skid safety!

Squire Reynolds Marries Couples

Four Ceremonies Are Performed Last Night And This Morning

Squire H. N. Reynolds, of Union township was busy last evening and this morning, tying the wedding knot for four couples from distant points.

Toivo A. Penn, of Warren, Pa., and Helen A. Bonig, of Cleveland were married last evening with the ring ceremony, as was Harry Mesnick and Alice J. Bayne, both of Cleveland, O.

The double ring ceremony was used by Frank J. Catsoules, of Youngstown and Mildred Evantush, of Girard, O. The other couple married by Squire Reynolds was Lester Foutz and Ruth Clapp, both of Youngstown.

TWO AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS HERE

Louis Perretti, 207 South Jefferson street, reported to police that last night he was driving south on Moravia street and when at the intersection of Long avenue a car bearing Pennsylvania license 9357L, operating in the same direction struck his car.

Charles R. Elliott, 41 Wright apartment, was driving north on Croton avenue and made a left turn into East Brook street. An Ohio car, license 540-066, attempted to pass, struck and damaged Elliott's car, yesterday morning, he reported.

Wake strikes in Australia are increasing.

WASH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES
Win Back Pep . . . Vigor . . . Vitality
Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy.
If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount causing burning and discomfort, the 15 MILES of kidney tubes need washing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and vitality, getting up nights, lumbago, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.
If kidneys don't empty 3 pints every day and get rid of 4 pounds of waste matter, your body will take up these poisons causing serious trouble. It may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS . . . a doctor's prescription . . . which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give quick relief and will help to wash out the 15 MILES of kidney tubes.
But don't take chances with strong drugs or so-called "kidney cures" that claim to fix you up in 15 minutes, for they may seriously injure and irritate delicate tissues. Insist on DOAN'S PILLS . . . the old reliable relief that contain no "dope" or habit-forming drugs. Be sure you get DOAN'S PILLS at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

Schnader Will Fight Earle On Party Dictation

GOVERNORSHIP PRIZE SOUGHT

By HARRY BEKCMAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, July 26—Home rule versus dictation from Washington.

On the basis of this issue, it was apparent today, Attorney General William A. Schnader and his Republican cohorts plan to prosecute the fight for Pennsylvania's governorship against George H. Earle and the state's Democrats.

Whether it be real or fancied, the Republican strategists obviously see in the nomination of Earle a threat of undue influence from the White House, should the Haverford millionaire be elected in the November ballotting.

Roosevelt's Friend

Earle was President Roosevelt's minister to Austria before he became the Democratic gubernatorial nominee. He is a good friend of the president. Furthermore, the National Administration has taken no pains to conceal its desire that Pennsylvania chooses Earle as its chief executive. This desire was given emphatic expression a few days ago by Postmaster General James A. Farley.

Thus, the policies and practices of the new deal which seems destined to become the principal issue in the senatorial battle between U. S. Senator David A. Reed and the Democratic candidate for Reed's office, Joseph F. Guffy, bid fair to reverberate in the gubernatorial arena in the guise of a contest over state's right versus federal influence.

Qeustion Raised

"Our candidates," he asserted, "will not let the policies of our state government be dictated by outsiders, not permit our state government to become a mere branch of the national government.

"They will fight for the right of our people to continue to determine for themselves the policies which should be followed in handling that portion of the government which was not surrendered to the federal government when the constitution was adopted."

Against Special Session

Schnader lifted his voice against calling of a special session of the state legislature to grapple with the relief problem, intimating that the more for such a session is impelled by pressure from the federal government and has Guffey's approval.

What reply, if any, Earle will make to his adversary on the home rule challenge remains to be seen. Thus far the Democratic candidate, who is now conducting a "get-acquainted" tour of the commonwealth, has not seen fit to answer any of Schnader's repeated charges of federal intervention.

TURNS STOVE UP; GOES SWIMMING

Wednesday evening at 8:15, firemen were called to the home of Nick Capitola, of 813 East Main street, by an alarm from box 38.

Firemen from No. 4 department, arriving on the scene first found a blazing oil stove in the kitchen. Mrs. Capitola was making ready to cold pack some beans, and turned the valve too high on the oil stove. She then went swimming. It was blazing briskly when firemen arrived but no damage was done. Firemen carried the stove out into the yard.

STEAL 50 CENTS

Someone entered the Durant Grocery store, 303 Ray street last night and stole 50 cents from the register.

AVENGER, AND THE "WOMAN IN RED"

MRS. ANNA SAGE SERGT. MARTIN ZARKOVICH

Important parts in the drama of John Dillinger's death were played by Sergt. Martin Zarkovich, above, of the Indiana Harbor, Ind., police force, and Mrs. Anna Sage, "woman in red" who accompanied Dillinger to the Chicago theater where he was trapped and slain by federal agents. The tip that Dillinger was to attend the theater is said to have come from Indiana Harbor police, and Mrs. Sage admitted knowing Sergt. Zarkovich, according to police who questioned her when found.

Troop Will Get Here Saturday

Will Leave Camp On Friday Evening, Arriving In New Castle Early Saturday

CLOSING ACTIVITIES KEEP TROOPERS BUSY

(Special To The News)
By Sgt. F. F. Florida and Pvt. 1st Class Jack B. Bryan.

COLEBROCK, July 25.—With most of the work of the training period completed, Troop F is looking forward to Friday, which will mark the close of the training period and give the boys a little breathing spell before they return home.

Tomorrow evening we start to check our equipment in preparation for the return home on Friday evening. We expect to leave at the usual time, about 8 p. m. and should arrive in New Castle betwen 7 and 8 a. m. Saturday.

This has been an excellent camp, and the troop members will return home with the feeling that a good job has been done well, and that no discredit has fallen on our regiment or our home town.

Overnight Camp.

Troop F along with the other troops of the 103rd cavalry left Colebrook Monday, July 23, for Walmer's church in the vicinity of Indiantown Gap. The troops cleared the area at Colebrook at 6:20 a. m., and three hours later arrived at the site of their bivouac. Picket lines were immediately set up, the horses were cared for and then pup tents were erected by the men.

The entire 52nd calvary brigade of the 103rd and 104th regiments of cavalry were encamped for the bivouac of one night prior to the 28th division review. The trip to Indiantown was covered in unusually fast time in spite of clouds of dust kicked up by the horses' hoofs and the heat of one of the summer's warmest days.

The duties of the morning of Tuesday, the 24th, consisted of making preparations for the review. An army of visitors greatly outnumbering the troops invaded the 15,000-acre Indiantown Gap military reservation to witness the entire 28th division in maneuvers seen only twice before. Once when the division marched down Broad street in Philadelphia after disembarkment from overseas, and again for a review by Marshal Foch several years later.

Pinchot Reviews Men.

Shortly after noon the troops were massed on the parade grounds. Besides Governor Gifford Pinchot and Major General Shannon the following officers were present: Major General Paul B. Malone, commander of the Third Corps Area, United States army; Major General William G. Price, Jr., former division commander; Major General George B. Simonds, head of the army war college, and General Lieutenant Franz von Boetticher, military attache at the German embassy and a member of Von Hindenburg's staff during the World war.

The cavalry traveled light during the review, their packs having been shipped back to Colebrook at the start. Immediately after the last line of cavalry had passed the reviewing stands the men started preparations for a night ride over the country roads back to the home camp site.

Visitors Present.

Several New Castle visitors were present at the review, among whom were L. B. Round, Mrs. Harvey G. Bintrim, Mrs. F. L. Florida, Miss Virginia Sager. Mr. and Mrs. W. Fulton Jackson stopped over for several hours enroute to Fort Monroe, Va., where Major Jackson will be on duty for two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Avery remained here until Sunday evening and expressed their pleasure at having made the trip down here, stating that they intended to return next year. Mrs. O. J. Shannon, mother of Jack Bryan; Mrs. David Owens, mother of Edward Owens, arrived Sunday and remained for the division review, as did Mrs. Florida, Miss Sager and Mr. Round. Mr. and Mrs. James Moorehead also visited us on Sunday, remaining until late in the day.

All our guests had an opportunity to taste "army chow" and had the satisfaction of knowing that their sons and friends had plenty to eat and that while there is plenty of work to be done in the two weeks' training period, there is time for play also. All of our visitors expect to return next year and we are hoping that next year and ever after that more parents, wives and sweethearts will come at camp time for a taste of army life.

Roosevelt's Friend

Earle was President Roosevelt's minister to Austria before he became the Democratic gubernatorial nominee. He is a good friend of the president. Furthermore, the National Administration has taken no pains to conceal its desire that Pennsylvania chooses Earle as its chief executive. This desire was given emphatic expression a few days ago by Postmaster General James A. Farley.

Thus, the policies and practices of the new deal which seems destined to become the principal issue in the senatorial battle between U. S. Senator David A. Reed and the Democratic candidate for Reed's office, Joseph F. Guffy, bid fair to reverberate in the gubernatorial arena in the guise of a contest over state's right versus federal influence.

Question Raised

In sounding the keynote of his campaign before a huge rally here late yesterday Schnader brought this question definitely to the fore. "Our candidates," he asserted, "will not let the policies of our state government be dictated by outsiders, not permit our state government to become a mere branch of the national government.

"They will fight for the right of our people to continue to determine for themselves the policies which should be followed in handling that portion of the government which was not surrendered to the federal government when the constitution was adopted."

Against Special Session

Schnader lifted his voice against calling of a special session of the state legislature to grapple with the relief problem, intimating that the more for such a session is impelled by pressure from the federal government and has Guffey's approval.

What reply, if any, Earle will make to his adversary on the home rule challenge remains to be seen. Thus far the Democratic candidate, who is now conducting a "get-acquainted" tour of the commonwealth, has not seen fit to answer any of Schnader's repeated charges of federal intervention.

TURNS STOVE UP; GOES SWIMMING

Wednesday evening at 8:15, firemen were called to the home of Nick Capitola, of 813 East Main street, by an alarm from box 38.

Firemen from No. 4 department, arriving on the scene first found a blazing oil stove in the kitchen. Mrs. Capitola was making ready to cold pack some beans, and turned the valve too high on the oil stove. She then went swimming. It was blazing briskly when firemen arrived but no damage was done. Firemen carried the stove out into the yard.

STEAL 50 CENTS

Someone entered the Durant Grocery store, 303 Ray street last night and stole 50 cents from the register.

AVENGER, AND THE "WOMAN IN RED"

MRS. ANNA SAGE SERGT. MARTIN ZARKOVICH

Important parts in the drama of John Dillinger's death were played by Sergt. Martin Zarkovich, above, of the Indiana Harbor, Ind., police force, and Mrs. Anna Sage, "woman in red" who accompanied Dillinger to the Chicago theater where he was trapped and slain by federal agents. The tip that Dillinger was to attend the theater is said to have come from Indiana Harbor police, and Mrs. Sage admitted knowing Sergt. Zarkovich, according to police who questioned her when found.

Troop Will Get Here Saturday

Will Leave Camp On Friday Evening, Arriving In New Castle Early Saturday

CLOSING ACTIVITIES KEEP TROOPERS BUSY

(Special To The News)
By Sgt. F. F. Florida and Pvt. 1st Class Jack B. Bryan.

COLEBROOK, July 25.—With most of the work of the training period completed, Troop F is looking forward to Friday, which will mark the close of the training period and give the boys a little breathing spell before they return home.

Tomorrow evening we start to check our equipment in preparation for the return home on Friday evening. We expect to leave at the usual time, about 8 p. m. and should arrive in New Castle betwen 7 and 8 a. m. Saturday.

This has been an excellent camp, and the troop members will return home with the feeling that a good job has been done well, and that no discredit has fallen on our regiment or our home town.

Overnight Camp.

Troop F along with the other troops of the 103rd cavalry left Colebrook Monday, July 23, for Walmer's church in the vicinity of Indiantown Gap. The troops cleared the area at Colebrook at 6:20 a. m., and three hours later arrived at the site of their bivouac. Picket lines were immediately set up, the horses were cared for and then pup tents were erected by the men.

The entire 52nd calvary brigade of the 103rd and 104th regiments of cavalry were encamped for the bivouac of one night prior to the 28th division review. The trip to Indiantown was covered in unusually fast time in spite of clouds of dust kicked up by the horses' hoofs and the heat of one of the summer's warmest days.

The duties of the morning of Tuesday, the 24th, consisted of making preparations for the review. An army of visitors greatly outnumbering the troops invaded the 15,000-acre Indiantown Gap military reservation to witness the entire 28th division in maneuvers seen only twice before. Once when the division marched down Broad street in Philadelphia after disembarkment from overseas, and again for a review by Marshal Foch several years later.

Pinchot Reviews Men.

Shortly after noon the troops were massed on the parade grounds. Besides Governor Gifford Pinchot and Major General Shannon the following officers were present: Major General Paul B. Malone, commander of the Third Corps Area, United States army; Major General William G. Price, Jr., former division commander; Major General George B. Simonds, head of the army war college, and General Lieutenant Franz von Boetticher, military attache at the German embassy and a member of Von Hindenburg's staff during the World war.

The cavalry traveled light during the review, their packs having been shipped back to Colebrook at the start. Immediately after the last line of cavalry had passed the reviewing stands the men started preparations for a night ride over the country roads back to the home camp site.

Visitors Present.

Several New Castle visitors were present at the review, among whom were L. B. Round, Mrs. Harvey G. Bintrim, Mrs. F. L. Florida, Miss Virginia Sager, Mr. and Mrs. W. Fulton Jackson stopped over for several hours enroute to Fort Monroe, Va., where Major Jackson will be on duty for two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Avery remained here until Sunday evening and expressed their pleasure at having made the trip down here, stating that they intended to return next year. Mrs. O. J. Shannon, mother of Jack Bryan; Mrs. David Owens, mother of Edward Owens, arrived Sunday and remained for the division review, as did Mrs. Florida, Miss Sager and Mr. Round. Mr. and Mrs. James Moorehead also visited us on Sunday, remaining until late in the day.

All our guests had an opportunity to taste "army chow" and had the satisfaction of knowing that their sons and friends had plenty to eat and that while there is plenty of work to be done in the two weeks' training period, there is time for play also. All of our visitors expect to return next year and we are hoping that next year and ever after that more parents, wives and sweethearts will come at camp time for a taste of army life.

Have Rest Day.

Today—Wednesday—is rest day, the men spending the bulk of the time washing clothes, bathing and resting. hTe march back from Indiantown yesterday was a strenuous one and it apparently judged best to permit the man a day of quiet. The only ones who have any regular duties today are the kitchen force and the stable force. Both men and horses must be fed and taken care of and—as always—someone has to do the work.

I guess we must be getting old. Anyway, this year we brought an electric fan down for the orderly room and it certainly has been a wonderful help during this extremely hot two weeks. Our visitors have been many and our greatest need for discipline has been in enforcing the usual "no loafing" regulations in the first sergeant's tent. We hope to always be fortunate enough to have one during our encampment periods.

Monday evening the entire troop had their pictures taken individually and these will be placed on a card in the center of which will be a reproduction of an aerial photo taken of our camp. This camp picture is the best picture of our area that has ever been offered for sale and it is expected that a large number of the boys will take one home with them.

Squire Reynolds Marries Couples

Four Ceremonies Are Performed Last Night And This Morning

Squire H. N. Reynolds, of Union township was busy last evening and this morning, tying the wedding knot for four couples from distant points.

"Give me "G-3" and nothing else"
throngs of car owners are saying!

The famous "G-3" All-Weather

You get the broader road contact of a flatter, wider All-Weather Tread.
You get quicker-stopping and the greater road grip of more non-skid blocks in the center.
You get the easy steering and smooth travel of wider riding-ribs.
You get the slow, even wear of closer-nested non-skid blocks and ribs.
—all of which adds up to 43% MORE NON-SKID MILEAGE at no extra cost to you!

FRANKLY, we've never seen a tire make such a sensation! Ever since Goodyear told the amazing story of its development—how they frazzled brakes, ruined cars, burned up roads day and night to test it—old friends and new ones have flocked in to us and said, "Give us this tire that delivers 43% longer non-skid mileage."

Come in! See this winner! See the extra grip, the extra rubber in its broader, flatter tread. Ask us about the guarantee. See why patented Supertwist cord in the tire body is the only foundation that makes such a tire possible. Make no mistake. No other tire gives you what you get in the new "G-3" All-Weather—and you pay no more for its extra miles of non-skid safety!

WASH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES
Win Back Pep . . . Vigor . . . Vitality
Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy.
If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount causing burning and discomfort, the 15 MILES of kidney tubes need washing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache; leg pains, loss of pep and vitality, getting up nights, lumbago, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.
If kidneys don't empty 3 pints every day and get rid of 4 pounds of waste matter, your body will take up these poisons causing serious trouble. It may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS . . . a doctor's prescription . . . which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give quick relief and will help to wash out the 15 MILES of kidney tubes.
But don't take chances with strong drugs or so-called "kidney cures" that claim to fix you up in 15 minutes, for they may seriously injure and irritate delicate tissues. Insist on DOAN'S PILLS . . . the old reliable relief that contain no "dope" or habit-forming drugs. Be sure you get DOAN'S PILLS at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

Scout Campers Play Water Polo With Camp Staff

Boys Lose Thrilling Match At Camp Phillips; Court Next Friday

(Special To The News)

CAMP JOHN M. PHILLIPS, July 26.—Camping days here are narrowing down for the scouts lucky enough to enjoy the program this season, and every camper is rolling up his record so that he may take back with him a record of work done besides the pleasant memories of new fellowships made this season. Frank Elverson of Beaver Falls has been in camp the past week and the New Wilmington bunch are enjoying themselves, as well as the New Castle V-17 group and the Ellwood standbys. A number of different badges are being worked for, and there should be a good court of honor on Friday night.

The campers again took on the staff in a water polo game this week and made no better success of it than did their predecessors—in fact, they got defeated by a larger score, so they turned again to mushball and challenged the staff to a game last night. This time the staff got organized and went after them to a 27-11 tune. While the campers were faster on the bases they could not make up for the long hits of the staff men. However, it was a good game and everyone enjoyed it. Even the Royal Frame Climbers rooted for their side, while the Homicide Squad smashed them to all corners of the lot.

V-37-V-18 group got another cabin inspection award yesterday, while the V-17-New Bedford 55 combination took the trophy today for a 24-hour stretch. A game and early campfire may be put on tonight. The marksmen are clearing a space for their range. Coaching started yesterday.

The Ladies' Friendship club held their July meeting at the hall with 36 in attendance. Mrs. Earl Smith was a special guest. Plans were made for the annual club picnic which will be held August 9 at Memorial Park, Grove City. Mesdames Knauff, Masson, Minich, Johnston, and Hartt and Miss Anna Butler were the hostesses for the day.

No More Piles

Doctor's Prescription Guaranteed

Thousands of Pile sufferers do not know that the cause of Piles is internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel.

This is the scientific truth about Piles—the real reason why salves and suppositories do not give lasting relief, why cutting does not remove the cause.

Your itching, bleeding or protruding Piles will only go when you actually remove the cause. External treatments can't do this—an internal medicine should be used. HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, sold by good druggists everywhere succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, heals and restores the affected parts.

So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when Eckerd's Cut Rate and New Castle Drug Co. invite every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID with guarantee of money-back if not joyfully satisfied with the help one bottle gives.

There are some things we refuse to do to sell a car

There are some things we refuse to do to sell a car. We like sales, but fair-dealing and the confidence of our customers are desirable too.

For one thing, we refuse to poison any one's mind against another make of car. We know what our car is and what it will do, and we are ready to tell you about that. But to imply defects in another car is not our business.

We have done our utmost to encourage intelligent buying of motor cars by showing purchasers how to protect their own interests. All that a good producer asks is a customer who knows quality when he sees it. An intelligent purchaser will speedily conclude that only a bad product requires bad sales methods.

We refuse to keep dinning in your ears that the Ford V-8 is the best, most economical, lowest priced car. That is claimed for several cars. Obviously, it cannot be true of all. There comes a point where claims and adjectives and all advertising hysteria disappears in its own fog. Personally, I prefer facts.

We say the Ford V-8 is the best car we have ever made.

We say that our 8-cylinder car is as economical to operate as any lower number of cylinders.

We say that we have always been known as the makers of good cars and that the many good, well-balanced qualities of our present car place it at the head of our line to date.

Any one wishing to do business with us on these principles will find our word and the quality of our product to be A-1. What we say about economy, operation and durability will stand good anywhere.

Alimony Award Depends On Her Business Study

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA.— Estranged wives in Philadelphia are now attending business schools. This was the idea of letting them make a living wage, prescribed by Judge Theodore Rosen, of Domestic relations court.

He handed down a decree recently when Dorothy A. Bresban, 28-year-old blonde, appeared before him demanding support from her husband, Leon Breban.

"I don't want to have to depend on him," Mrs. Breban told the court, "but I have no means of making a living."

Breban's counsel suggested a business course and Judge Rosen was quick to grasp it.

"I will make the support order for $15 a week," he declared, "with the understanding that you use part of it as tuition. This order may be reduced as soon as you obtain a position, in proportion to the amount of your salary."

Scout Campers Play Water Polo With Camp Staff

Boys Lose Thrilling Match At Camp Phillips; Court Next Friday

(Special To The News)

CAMP JOHN M. PHILLIPS, July 26.—Camping days here are narrowing down for the scouts lucky enough to enjoy the program this season, and every camper is rolling up his record so that he may take back with him a record of work done besides the pleasant memories of new fellowships made this season. Frank Elverson of Beaver Falls has been in camp the past week and the New Wilmington bunch are enjoying themselves, as well as the New Castle V-17 group and the Ellwood standbys. A number of different badges are being worked for, and there should be a good court of honor on Friday night.

The campers again took on the staff in a water polo game this week and made no better success of it than did their predecessors—in fact, they got defeated by a larger score, so they turned again to mushball and challenged the staff to a game last night. This time the staff got organized and went after them to a 27-11 tune. While the campers were faster on the bases they could not make up for the long hits of the staff men. However, it was a good game and everyone enjoyed it. Even the Royal Frame Climbers rooted for their side, while the Homicide Squad smashed them to all corners of the lot.

V-37-V-18 group got another cabin inspection award yesterday, while the V-17-New Bedford 55 combination took the trophy today for a 24-hour stretch. A game and early campfire may be put on tonight. The marksmen are clearing a space for their range. Coaching started yesterday.

There are some things we refuse to do

There are some things we refuse to do to sell a car. We like sales, but fair-dealing and the confidence of our customers are desirable too.

For one thing, we refuse to poison any one's mind against another make of car. We know what our car is and what it will do, and we are ready to tell you about that. But to imply defects in another car is not our business.

We have done our utmost to encourage intelligent buying of motor cars by showing purchasers how to protect their own interests. All that a good producer asks is a customer who knows quality when he sees it. An intelligent purchaser will speedily conclude that only a bad product requires bad sales methods.

We refuse to keep dinning in your ears that the Ford V-8 is the best, most economical, lowest priced car. That is claimed for several cars. Obviously, it cannot be true of all. There comes a point where claims and adjectives and all advertising hysteria disappears in its own fog. Personally, I prefer facts.

We say the Ford V-8 is the best car we have ever made.

We say that our 8-cylinder car is as economical to operate as any lower number of cylinders.

We say that we have always been known as the makers of good cars and that the many good, well-balanced qualities of our present car place it at the head of our line to date.

Any one wishing to do business with us on these principles will find our word and the quality of our product to be A-1. What we say about economy, operation and durability will stand good anywhere.

Alimony Award Depends On Her Business Study

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA.— Estranged wives in Philadelphia are now attending business schools. This was the idea of letting them make a living wage, prescribed by Judge Theodore Rosen, of Domestic relations court.

He handed down a decree recently when Dorothy A. Bresban, 28-year-old blonde, appeared before him demanding support from her husband, Leon Breban.

"I don't want to have to depend on him," Mrs. Breban told the court, "but I have no means of making a living."

Breban's counsel suggested a business course and Judge Rosen was quick to grasp it.

"I will make the support order for $15 a week," he declared, "with the understanding that you use part of it as tuition. This order may be reduced as soon as you obtain a position, in proportion to the amount of your salary."

So, Mrs. Breban is now attending business school.

There are some things we refuse to do to sell a car. We like sales, but fair-dealing and the confidence of our customers are desirable too.

For one thing, we refuse to poison any one's mind against another make of car. We know what our car is and what it will do, and we are ready to tell you about that. But to imply defects in another car is not our business.

We have done our utmost to encourage intelligent buying of motor cars by showing purchasers how to protect their own interests. All that a good producer asks is a customer who knows quality when he sees it. An intelligent purchaser will speedily conclude that only a bad product requires bad sales methods.

We refuse to keep dinning in your ears that the Ford V-8 is the best, most economical, lowest priced car. That is claimed for several cars. Obviously, it cannot be true of all. There comes a point where claims and adjectives and all advertising hysteria disappears in its own fog. Personally, I prefer facts.

We say the Ford V-8 is the best car we have ever made.

We say that our 8-cylinder car is as economical to operate as any lower number of cylinders.

We say that we have always been known as the makers of good cars and that the many good, well-balanced qualities of our present car place it at the head of our line to date.

Any one wishing to do business with us on these principles will find our word and the quality of our product to be A-1. What we say about economy, operation and durability will stand good anywhere.

Alimony Award Depends On Her Business Study

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA.— Estranged wives in Philadelphia are now attending business schools. This was the idea of letting them make a living wage, prescribed by Judge Theodore Rosen, of Domestic relations court.

He handed down a decree recently when Dorothy A. Bresban, 28-year-old blonde, appeared before him demanding support from her husband, Leon Breban.

"I don't want to have to depend on him," Mrs. Breban told the court, "but I have no means of making a living."

Breban's counsel suggested a business course and Judge Rosen was quick to grasp it.

"I will make the support order for $15 a week," he declared, "with the understanding that you use part of it as tuition. This order may be reduced as soon as you obtain a position, in proportion to the amount of your salary."

So, Mrs. Breban is now attending business school.

THREE SUDDEN DEATHS IN BUTLER FAMILY

BUTLER, Pa., July 26.—For the third time in eight months, death and Coroner M. E. Headland have visited the Daniels' home in East Butler.

Last November, Mrs. Rose Daniels was killed when her automobile was struck by a train at a crossing near her home.

In May, James Daniels dropped dead after a dance hall dispute. Yesterday, Tillie Daniels, 4, granddaughter of the train victim and niece of the victim of the dance hall quarrel, was dead. She played with matches.

TRAIN WAS BEEHIOVE

(International News Service)

GREENFIELD, Mass.—When 25,000 bees take possession of a railroad train—what then. That's what happened on a north-bound passenger train when a shipping box containing the bees broke open. The bees were consigned to Police Sergeant Franklin L. Woodard, all the way from the south, and Woodard is still looking for the greater part of the swarm.

TWO GOVERNORS TO ATTEND PYMATUNING EVENT

Plan Program For Dedication

EXPECT 25,000 TO GATHER AT EVENT

Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania and Governor Geo. White of Ohio will lead a party of high state officials and heads of industrial plants of the Lawrence-Mercer-Beaver county district on a one-hour automobile inspection trip of the entire Pymatuning dam region just prior to the dedicatory ceremonies at the dam itself on Friday, August 17.

Coming here by airplane from Harrisburg, Governor Pinchot will land at the Mercer airport sometime before noon that day and go direct to the Greenville Country Club, near Greenville, for luncheon. Governor White and other dignitaries will be awaiting him there.

Definite plans for the dedication exercises and for the entertainment of prominent visitors who will participate in the program were laid when the general committee for the Pymatuning affair, one which promises to outdo all local celebrations of the past, met in New Castle on Wednesday.

Organize For Event

Officers elected to head the general committee acting as the official sponsor of the dedication event, were as follows:

President, Fred L. Rentz, The News New Castle; Vice President for Mercer county, C. B. Lartz, Sharon News-Telegraph; Vice President for Beaver county, Dr. W. S. Cook, Beaver Falls, dentist and Secretary G. A. Harshman, members of the Sharon-News-Telegraph editorial staff.

The general committee approved the "sightseeing" trip for the visiting leaders as one of its first items of business. Arrangements for an estate of state highway patrolmen are being made, and the roads over which the party will travel are to be freshly oiled.

Joining the Mercer, Lawrence and Beaver county delegations, according to committee estimates, will be representatives from surrounding countries whose interest in the Pymatuning dam as a recreation spot alone will be a direct one.

Expect 25,000

Close to 25,000 persons are expected to motor to the dam site for the day's program. Almost that many jammed the locality on the day Governor Pinchot "broke ground" for the huge dam construction project.

The merchant's division of the Sharon Chamber of Commerce is declaring a half holiday for the occasion, and indications are that many other business and industrial interests of the valley will slow down operations that day.

At the breastwork of the dam near Jamestown the large platform upon which outstanding notables will sit will be erected. Other prominent guests who will be spectators at the event and the press will occupy a special reserved section nearby the platfrom. Ample opportunity will be afforded for the crowd to see and hear the speakers.

A desire to stage only a short interesting progrm of dedication has led the committee to limit the speakers to Governor Pinchot and Governor White and possibly a county spokesmen.

Fruit To Preside

Hon. Fred T. Fruit, leading citizen of Sharon will preside over the dedication exercises as master of ceremonies.

The dedication hour has been set for three o'clock.

Leaders of the tri-county area will contact industrial and business representatives of their localities to urge them to attend the celebration. The Chamber of Commerce is also cooperating to have civic delegations present.

To Tour Area

With the luncheon for the two governors and industrial leaders at Greenville concluded the carnvan of motor cars, preceded by highway police, will start its tour of the reservoir area. That will come around one o'clock.

The party will go to Conneaut Lake from Greenville, from Conneaut to Linesville, from Linesville to Andover, O. and south to the dam itself near Jamestown. On the trip may be seen at close range the present lage waters and the acreage it is expected to cover later.

While the inspection tour of officials is under way, cars bearing interested citizens from points all over Western Pennsylvania will be streaming into the Jamestown locality for the program at 3 o'clock.

Special highway patrol forces will be stationed in the locality that day to prevent traffic from being clogged.

Dinner Event

With the dedicatory affair at on end, the party of leaders and other civic officials of the district will go to Sharon for an informal dinner at the Buhl Club.

The evening dinner will honor the governors and the heads of industrial concerns of the Valley. The program following the banquet will be brief. Attendance will be limited to about 150 and it will be sponsored by the industrial leaders of the Shenango Valley.

Announcement that a 200 page historical volume giving a chronological development of the Pymatuning project is now in the course of preparation and will be ready for distribution on the day of dedication. Editing it is a group headed by C. B. Lartz, president of Sharon's Chamber of Commerce.

To further enlighten the citizenry on plans for the day a committee on publicity headed by A. W. McDowell of the Sharon Herald, was named. Serving with Mr. McDowell will be Jno. L. Morrison, Greenville publisher: James N. March, Beaver Falls publisher and Mr. Rentz.

Formal acceptance to invitations to attend the community affair have been received, it was said yesterday from Gov. Pinchot, S. S. Lewis secretary of the Pennsylvania highway department: Samuel Eckels, chief engineer, department of highways; Thomas Frame, division engineer, department of highways, Attorney General William A. Schnader and Charles E. Ryder, department of forests and waters. Others are expected shortly.

Present for the general committee meeting yesterday in the office of Fred L. Rentz at The News were the following tri-county leaders:

Attorney Fred T. Fruit, of Sharon, chairman of the dedicatory exercises.

Mayor J. Fred Thomas of Sharon
C. B. Lartz, president of the Chamber of Commerce.
Former Burgess George Mahaney of Sharpsville.
A. W. McDowell, publisher of the Sharon Herald.
C. E Brockway, president of the First National bank of Sharon
W. T. Baines, Sharon businessman
Norman S. Powell head of the National Re-Employment Service in Sharon
Howard L. McBride, Sharon undertaker
Dr. William S. Cook, Beaver Falls civic leader
James H. March, publisher of the Beaver Falls News-Tribune
John D. Bruhn, New Brighton manufacturer and banker.
G. A. Harshman, Sharon, News-Telegraph
Assemblyman A. M. F. Stiteler, Beaver
John L. Morrison, Greenville, publisher
Fred L. Rentz, New Castle.

It's Already Smashed. Out of Hawaii, What? Dillinger, Jealousy, Cash. So They Spend $25,516.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

SENATOR BORAH denounces monopoly as the cause of all our troubles, and says "smash the monopolies." As it happens, happenings since 1925 have smashed the monoplies fairly well.

If anybody has a monopoly that you would like to own you can get it at a bargain.

SENATOR BORAH says purchasing power must be restored to the great mass of the people. President Roosevelt agrees, combines deeds with words, according to the recommendation of the other Roosevelt, and has handed out thousands of millions of dollars, thinly disguised as wages, saying in effect "go and buy yourself something."

Hundreds of millions are paid to the farmer for not working, leaving fields unplanted and other millions have been paid to cotton growers for ploughing cotton under.

What more could you do except gather income taxpayers together, take their capital from them, what they have left, and distribute that also.

The PRESIDENT reaching Hawaii is greeted with the friendly "Aloha," also with a remark which when "the good" Tom Williams repeated it sounded like "moloki-hoi."

The President will have a string of flowers put around his neck, and then, like little children that have said "Merry Christmas" to papa and mamma, Hawaiians like other good Americans, will stand around, wondering what they will get. It must be a wonderful thing to say as President Roosevelt can say, "Here, have a billion, or two."

WHAT POPULATION will Hawaii develop in time, with its present mixture described by Time as 146,000 Japanese, 6,000 Filipinos, 27,000 Chinese, 22,000 Polynesians, 29,000 Portuguese, 7,000 Puerto Ricans, 45,000 whites and 31,000 mixed breeds.

These human 'breeds" are intermarrying, carrying out on the little island on a small scale, the process of mixing two-legged races that has gone on ever since the first Cromagnon gentleman type met the first Neanderthal lady type in the old stone age.

There is nothing more important than these mixtures of races, for real peace on earth and good will toward men will not come, probably, until the earth has only ONE race, and therefore no "enemy."

ALREADY IMAGINATION starts building the Dillinger "romance." The lady in the case, whom criminals would call "the finger woman," because she obliged the detectives by putting her finger on Dillinger, is supposed to have hidden in the woods with the bandit. Jealous rage seized her when another woman came to join the killer and she betrayed him to his death.

The reward of $15,000 probably had more to do with the "finger" than any jealous rage.

"Jealousy is cruel as the grave; the coals thereof are coals of fire, which hath a most vehement flame," as we learn from Solomon.

But in these practical days there is something about fifteen thousands dollars that is also powerful and vehement.

MR. AND MRS. PETERS (he was "night man" in a small Hoboken, N. J., lunchroom) won $25,516 in a sweepstake lottery, and felt that they should show that winning, in a lottery, is a good thing. They drove to collect their money in a rented 16-cylinder car with a liveried chauffeur, and "opened" champagne.

Any expert accountant can show them that four per cent on $25,516 will not stand that strain. Some "get-rich-quick" expert will probably show them how to change $25,516 into $10,000,000—then Mr. Peters will be "night man" again.

CONDITIONS IN Vienna are bad, with more dangerous riots expected as Nazi terrorism continues its bomb explosions. Nazis in Austria declare that "Roman Catholic priests led Chancellor Dollfuss in his campaign against the Nazis," and a Nazi spokesman declares that Nazis "have determined to kidnap the Roman Catholic priests as hostages." As soon as any Nazi terrorists are sentenced to death, and hanged, their friends will kill the priests held as hostages.

IN PENNSYLVANIA, where the substantial "Pennsylvania Dutch" once presided over families of ten, twenty or moree children, the birth rate has fallen to 16 per 1,000 of population, lowest on record.

Knowledge of birth control plus foolish laws that keep out the kind of emigrants that created the United States make a combination not very promising.

CHICAGO SUPPLIES a photograph of the dead bandit Dillinger lying on his back, blood stains from various bullets showing on his shirt.

Sitting above him, looking down, with satisfaction and triumph, you observe a detective and wonder how that detective's expression would change if Dillinger suddenly came to life. The picture reminds you of the frequent photographs of small Englishmen each with one foot on the body of a big dead tiger. What a difference if the proud hunter had met the tiger face to face in the jungle instead of shooting him from the back of an elephant.

In CHICAGO, with a temperature of 100, cattle pens in the stockyards are crowded and a strike of 750 stock handlers, compels the animals to go without food or water. Many cattle were shot to end their suffering. If they could write a description of the "new era" it would have exclamation points scattered through it.

MISTAKE BLOOD CLOT FOR FRACTURED SKULL

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND — The appalling death rate in the United States from automobile accidents and other lesser hazards could be greatly decreased if a systematic, thorough examination of the victims is made, Dr. Timothy Leary of Boston told the American Medical Association here.

Dr. Leary, who is medical examiner of Suffolk County, Mass., said that often what appears to be a fractured skull is a blood clot on the brain and that an operation would save the patient if performed promptly.

Instead, the physician declared, many doctors treat unconscious accident victims as if they suffered from a fractured skull and while awaiting a report on X-ray pictures the patients die. Many could be saved, he asserted.

Meadville Man Suicide Victim

Glenn W. Miller, 43, Ends Life After Being Arrested

DRUNKEN DRIVING CHARGE WAS MADE

(International News Service)

MEADVILLE, Pa., July 26.—Jailed for driving an automobile while intoxicated, Glenn W. Miller, 43, prominent Meadville business man, had taken his life today.

Fashioning a noose out of his shirt, Miller hanged himself in the Crawford county jail last night. His body, hanging from a hook in his cell, was found by Sheriff H. A. Nickels and his father, Charles E. Miller.

Miller was arrested while driving on the east side of Conneaut Lake. His wife was taken into custody by Patrolman M. E. Hans and Corporal C. H. Blocker on a disorderly conduct charge.

SLEEPER SNOOZED DESPITE HOME FIRE

(International News Service)

PORTLAND, Ore.—When Hans Stein lies down to sleep, he does just that, fire or other disturbances notwithstanding.

Neighbors turned in an alarm when they saw smoke emitting from Stein's house. Stein slept peacefully in an adjoining bedroom while firemen tramped through a front room, carried a burning davenport outside and doused it with water.

Firemen attempted to waken him to explain the damage but failed. Disgusted, they locked the door and went away, leaving Stein to enjoy his dreams.

Ignorance must have some value. It is impossible to shake convictions that are based on it.

Parent-Teacher Associations

CHAUTAUQUA DAY

Mrs. Carrie Jeffrey Roberts, president of the Lawrence County Parent-Teacher Association, has received word from Mrs. Walter E. Greenwood, retiring national president of P. T. A., that there will be a P. T. A. day at Chautauqua Lake Friday, August 10.

There will be a conference at 2:15 p. m., in Chautauqua Hall and at 8 p. m., there will be an address by Mrs. A. B. F. Langworthy, Chicago, new national president.

Mrs. Roberts is anxious that Lawrence County be well represented at this time and those planning on attending will get in touch with her.

INSTALL ADVISERS IN FRATERNITY HOUSES

(International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O.—A plan to install tutors and advisers in three fraternity houses on Ohio State University's campus as "an educational experiment" will be inaugurated this fall, it was announced here.

Three graduate students will be placed in as many chapter houses of fraternities to determine the benefits of such a plan "in improving scholarship and general chapter relations."

You don't need so much wisdom in youth. There aren't so many things that aren't good for you.

"NATURALLY SKINNY FOLKS"

3 WAYS IN 1 TO ADD WEIGHT Quick!

Gain 5 Lbs. in One Week - - - or No Cost.

Thousands of thin, pale, rundown folks—and even "Naturally Skinny" men and women—are amazed at this new and easy way to put on healthy needed pounds quickly. Gains of 15 to 20 lbs. in one month—5 lbs. in a week—are reported regularly.

Kelp-a-Malt, the new mineral concentrate from the sea—free from drugs—gets right down to the cause of thin, underweight conditions and adds weight through a "3 way in one" natural process.

First, its rich supply of easily assimilable minerals nourish the digestive glands which produce the juices that alone enable you to digest the fats and starches in your daily diet . . . the weightmaking elements in food. Second, Kelp-a-Malt provides an amazingly effective digestive substance which actually digests 4 times its own weight of the flesh-building foods you eat. Third, Kelp-a-Malt's natural FOOD IODINE stimulates and nourishes the internal glands which control assimilation—the process of converting digested food into firm flesh, new strength and energy. Three Kelp-a-Malt tablets contain more iron and copper than a pound of spinach or 7½ lbs. of fresh tomatoes; more calcium than 6 eggs; more phosphorus than 1½ lbs. carrots; more FOOD IODINE than 1600 lbs. of beef.

Try Kelp-a-Malt for a single week and notice the difference—how much better you sleep, how ordinary stomach distress vanishes, how firm flesh appears in place of crawny hollows and the new energy and strength it brings you! Prescribed and used by physicians, Kelp-a-Malt contains no drugs and is fine for children too—Improves their appetites. Remember the name, Kelp-a-Malt, the original and genuine kelp and malt tablets. There is nothing else like them so don't accept imitations and substitutes. Try Kelp-a-Malt today, and if you don't gain at least 5 lbs. of good, firm flesh in 1 week the trial is free. Kelp-a-Malt costs only a few cents a day to use and can be had at the New Castle Drug Stores.

TWO GOVERNORS TO ATTEND PYMATUNING EVENT

Plan Program For Dedication

EXPECT 25,000 TO GATHER AT EVENT

Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania and Governor Geo. White of Ohio will lead a party of high state officials and heads of industrial plants of the Lawrence-Mercer-Beaver county district on a one-hour automobile inspection trip of the entire Pymatuning dam region just prior to the dedicatory ceremonies at the dam itself on Friday, August 17.

Coming here by airplane from Harrisburg, Governor Pinchot will land at the Mercer airport sometime before noon that day and go direct to the Greenville Country Club, near Greenville, for luncheon. Governor White and other dignitaries will be awaiting him there.

Definite plans for the dedication exercises and for the entertainment of prominent visitors who will participate in the program were laid when the general committee for the Pymatuning affair, one which promises to outdo all local celebrations of the past, met in New Castle on Wednesday.

Organize For Event

Officers elected to head the general committee acting as the official sponsor of the dedication event, were as follows:

President, Fred L. Rentz, The News New Castle: Vice President for Mercer county, C. B. Lartz, Sharon News-Telegraph; Vice President for Beaver county, Dr. W. S. Cook, Beaver Falls, dentist and Secretary G. A. Harshman, members of the Sharon-News-Telegraph editorial staff.

The general committee approved the "sightseeing" trip for the visiting leaders as one of its first items of business. Arrangements for an estate of state highway patrolmen are being made, and the roads over which the party will travel are to be freshly oiled.

Joining the Mercer, Lawrence and Beaver county delegations, according to committee estimates, will be representatives from surrounding countries whose interest in the Pymatuning dam as a recreation spot alone will be a direct one.

Expect 25,000

Close to 25,000 persons are expected to motor to the dam site for the day's program. Almost that many jammed the locality on the day Governor Pinchot "broke ground" for the huge dam construction project.

The merchant's division of the Sharon Chamber of Commerce is declaring a half holiday for the occasion, and indications are that many other business and industrial interests of the valley will slow down operations that day.

At the breastwork of the dam near Jamestown the large platform upon which outstanding notables will sit will be erected. Other prominent guests who will be spectators at the event and the press will occupy a special reserved section nearby the platfrom. Ample opportunity will be afforded for the crowd to see and hear the speakers.

A desire to stage only a short interesting progrm of dedication has led the committee to limit the speakers to Governor Pinchot and Governor White and possibly a county spokesmen.

Fruit To Preside

Hon. Fred T. Fruit, leading citizen of Sharon will preside over the dedication exercises as master of ceremonies.

The dedication hour has been set for three o'clock.

Leaders of the tri-county area will contact industrial and business representatives of their localities to urge them to attend the celebration. The Chamber of Commerce is also cooperating to have civic delegations present.

To Tour Area

With the luncheon for the two governors and industrial leaders at Greenville concluded the caravan of motor cars, preceded by highway police, will start its tour of the reservoir area. That will come around one o'clock.

The party will go to Conneaut Lake from Greenville. from Conneaut to Linesville, from Linesville to Andover, O. and south to the dam itself near Jamestown. On the trip may be seen at close range the present lage waters and the acreage it is expected to cover later.

While the inspection tour of officials is under way, cars bearing interested citizens from points all over Western Pennsylvania will be streaming into the Jamestown locality for the program at 3 o'clock.

Special highway patrol forces will be stationed in the locality that day to prevent traffic from being clogged.

Dinner Event

With the dedicatory affair at on end, the party of leaders and other civic officials of the district will go to Sharon for an informal dinner at the Buhl Club.

The evening dinner will honor the governors and the heads of industrial concerns of the Valley. The program following the banquet will be brief. Attendance will be limited to about 150 and it will be sponsored by the industrial leaders of the Shenango Valley.

Announcement that a 200 page historical volume giving a chronological development of the Pymatuning project is now in the course of preparation and will be ready for distribution on the day of dedication. Editing it is a group headed by C. B. Lartz, president of Sharon's Chamber of Commerce

To further enlighten the citizenry on plans for the day a committee on publicity headed by A. W. McDowell of the Sharon Herald, was named. Serving with Mr. McDowell will be Jno. L. Morrison, Greenville publisher: James N. March, Beaver Falls publisher and Mr. Rentz.

Formal acceptance to invitations to attend the community affair have been received, it was said yesterday from Gov. Pinchot, S. S. Lewis secretary of the Pennsylvania highway department: Samuel Eckels, chief engineer, department of highways; Thomas Frame, division engineer, department of highways, Attorney General William A. Schnader and Charles E. Ryder, department of forests and waters. Others are expected shortly.

Present for the general committee meeting yesterday in the office of Fred L. Rentz at The News were the following tri-county leaders:

Mayor J. Fred Thomas of Sharon

C. B. Lartz, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Former Burgess George Mahaney of Sharpsville.

A. W. McDowell, publisher of the Sharon Herald.

C. E Brockway, president of the First National bank of Sharon

W. T. Baines, Sharon businessman

Norman S. Powell head of the National Re-Employment Service in Sharon

Howard L. McBride, Sharon undertaker

Dr. William S. Cook, Beaver Falls civic leader

James H. March, publisher of the Beaver Falls News-Tribune

John D. Bruhn, New Brighton manufacturer and banker.

G. A. Harshman, Sharon, News-Telegraph

Assemblyman A. M. F. Stiteler, Beaver

John L. Morrison, Greenville, publisher

Fred L. Rentz, New Castle.

Today

It's Already Smashed. Out of Hawaii, What? Dillinger, Jealousy, Cash. So They Spend $25,516.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

SENATOR BORAH denounces monopoly as the cause of all our troubles, and says "smash the monopolies." As it happens, happenings since 1929 have smashed the monoplies fairly well.

If anybody has a monopoly that you would like to own you can get it at a bargain.

SENATOR BORAH says purchasing power must be restored to the great mass of the people. President Roosevelt agrees, combines deeds with words, according to the recommendation of the other Roosevelt, and has handed out thousands of millions of dollars, thinly disguised as wages, saying in effect "go and buy yourself something."

Hundreds of millions are paid to the farmer for not working, leaving fields unplanted and other millions have been paid to cotton growers for ploughing cotton under.

What more could you do except gather income taxpayers together, take their capital from them, what they have left, and distribute that also.

The PRESIDENT reaching Hawaii is greeted with the friendly "Aloha," also with a remark which when "the good" Tom Williams repeated it sounded like "moloki-hoi."

The President will have a string of flowers put around his neck, and then, like little children that have said "Merry Christmas" to papa and mamma, Hawaiians like other good Americans, will stand around, wondering what they will get. It must be a wonderful thing to say as President Roosevelt can say, "Here, have a billion, or two."

WHAT POPULATION will Hawaii develop in time, with its present mixture described by Time as 146,000 Japanese, 6,000 Filipinos, 27,000 Chinese, 22,000 Polynesians, 29,000 Portuguese, 7,000 Puerto Ricans, 45,000 whites and 31,000 mixed breeds.

These human 'breeds" are intermarrying, carrying out on the little island on a small scale, the process of mixing two-legged races that has gone on ever since the first Cromagnon gentleman type met the first Neanderthal lady type in the old stone age.

There is nothing more important than these mixtures of races, for real peace on earth and good will toward men will not come, probably, until the earth has only ONE race, and therefore no "enemy."

ALREADY IMAGINATION starts building the Dillinger "romance." The lady in the case, whom criminals would call "the finger woman," because she obliged the detectives by putting her finger on Dillinger, is supposed to have hidden in the woods with the bandit. Jealous rage seized her when another woman came to join the killer and she betrayed him to his death.

The reward of $15,000 probably had more to do with the "finger" than any jealous rage.

"Jealousy is cruel as the grave; the coals thereof are coals of fire, which hath a most vehement flame," as we learn from Solomon.

But in these practical days there is something about fifteen thousands dollars that is also powerful and vehement.

MR. AND MRS. PETERS (he was "night man" in a small Hoboken, N. J., lunchroom) won $25,516 in a sweepstake lottery, and felt that they should show that winning, in a lottery, is a good thing. They drove to collect their money in a rented 16-cylinder car with a liveried chauffeur, and "opened" champagne.

Any expert accountant can show them that four per cent on $25,516 will not stand that strain. Some "get-rich-quick" expert will probably show them how to change $25,516 into $10,000,000—then Mr. Peters will be "night man" again.

CONDITIONS IN Vienna are bad, with more dangerous riots expected as Nazi terrorism continues its bomb explosions. Nazis in Austria declare that "Roman Catholic priests led Chancellor Dollfuss in his campaign against the Nazis," and a Nazi spokesman declares that Nazis "have determined to kidnap the Roman Catholic priests as hostages." As soon as any Nazi terrorists are sentenced to death, and hanged, their friends will kill the priests held as hostages.

IN PENNSYLVANIA, where the substantial "Pennsylvania Dutch" once presided over families of ten, twenty or moree children, the birth rate has fallen to 16 per 1,000 of population, lowest on record.

Knowledge of birth control plus foolish laws that keep out the kind of emigrants that created the United States make a combination not very promising.

CHICAGO SUPPLIES a photograph of the dead bandit Dillinger lying on his back, blood stains from various bullets showing on his shirt.

Sitting above him, looking down, with satisfaction and triumph, you observe a detective and wonder how that detective's expression would change if Dillinger suddenly came to life. The picture reminds you of the frequent photographs of small Englishmen each with one foot on the body of a big dead tiger. What a difference if the proud hunter had met the tiger face to face in the jungle instead of shooting him from the back of an elephant.

In CHICAGO, with a temperature of 100, cattle pens in the stockyards are crowded and a strike of 750 stock handlers, compels the animals to go without food or water. Many cattle were shot to end their suffering. If they could write a description of the "new era" it would have exclamation points scattered through it.

MISTAKE BLOOD CLOT FOR FRACTURED SKULL

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND — The appalling death rate in the United States from automobile accidents and other lesser hazards could be greatly decreased if a systematic, thorough examination of the victims is made, Dr. Timothy Leary of Boston told the American Medical Association here.

Dr. Leary, who is medical examiner of Suffolk County, Mass., said that often what appears to be a fractured skull is a blood clot on the brain and that an operation would save the patient if performed promptly.

Instead, the physician declared, many doctors treat unconscious accident victims as if they suffered from a fractured skull and while awaiting a report on X-ray pictures the patients die. Many could be saved, he asserted.

Meadville Man Suicide Victim

Glenn W. Miller, 43, Ends Life After Being Arrested

DRUNKEN DRIVING CHARGE WAS MADE

(International News Service)

MEADVILLE, Pa., July 26.—Jailed for driving an automobile while intoxicated, Glenn W. Miller, 43, prominent Meadville business man, had taken his life today.

Fashioning a noose out of his shirt, Miller hanged himself in the Crawford county jail last night. His body, hanging from a hook in his cell, was found by Sheriff H. A. Nickels and his father, Charles E. Miller.

Miller was arrested while driving on the east side of Conneaut Lake. His wife was taken into custody by Patrolman M. E. Hans and Corporal C. H. Blocker on a disorderly conduct charge.

SLEEPER SNOOZED DESPITE HOME FIRE

(International News Service)

PORTLAND, Ore.—When Hans Stein lies down to sleep, he does just that, fire or other disturbances notwithstanding.

Neighbors turned in an alarm when they saw smoke emitting from Stein's house. Stein slept peacefully in an adjoining bedroom while firemen tramped through a front room, carried a burning davenport outside and doused it with water.

Firemen attempted to waken him to explain the damage but failed. Disgusted, they locked the door and went away, leaving Stein to enjoy his dreams.

Ignorance must have some value. It is impossible to shake convictions that are based on it.

CHAUTAUQUA DAY

Mrs. Carrie Jeffrey Roberts, president of the Lawrence County Parent-Teacher Association, has received word from Mrs. Walter E. Greenwood, retiring national president of P. T. A., that there will be a P. T. A. day at Chautauqua Lake Friday, August 10.

There will be a conference at 2:15 p. m., in Chautauqua Hall and at 8 p. m., there will be an address by Mrs. A. B. F. Langworthy, Chicago, new national president.

Mrs. Roberts is anxious that Lawrence County be well represented at this time and those planning on attending will get in touch with her.

INSTALL ADVISERS IN FRATERNITY HOUSES

(International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O.—A plan to install tutors and advisers in three fraternity houses on Ohio State University's campus as "an educational experiment" will be inaugurated this fall, it was announced here.

Three graduate students will be placed in as many chapter houses of fraternities to determine the benefits of such a plan "in improving scholarship and general chapter relations."

You don't need so much wisdom in youth. There aren't so many things that aren't good for you.

TWO GOVERNORS TO ATTEND PYMATUNING EVENT

Plan Program For Dedication

EXPECT 25,000 TO GATHER AT EVENT

Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania and Governor Geo. White of Ohio will lead a party of high state officials and heads of industrial plants of the Lawrence-Mercer-Beaver county district on a one-hour automobile inspection trip of the entire Pymatuning dam region just prior to the dedicatory ceremonies at the dam itself on Friday, August 17.

Coming here by airplane from Harrisburg, Governor Pinchot will land at the Mercer airport sometime before noon that day and go direct to the Greenville Country Club, near Greenville, for luncheon. Governor White and other dignitaries will be awaiting him there.

Definite plans for the dedication exercises and for the entertainment of prominent visitors who will participate in the program were laid when the general committee for the Pymatuning affair, one which promises to outdo all local celebrations of the past, met in New Castle on Wednesday.

Organize For Event

Officers elected to head the general committee acting as the official sponsor of the dedication event, were as follows:

President, Fred L. Rentz, The News New Castle; Vice President for Mercer county, C. B. Lartz, Sharon News-Telegraph; Vice President for Beaver county, Dr. W. S. Cook, Beaver Falls, dentist and Secretary G. A. Harshman, members of the Sharon-News-Telegraph editorial staff.

The general committee approved the "sightseeing" trip for the visiting leaders as one of its first items of business. Arrangements for an estate of state highway patrolmen are being made, and the roads over which the party will travel are to be freshly oiled.

Joining the Mercer, Lawrence and Beaver county delegations, according to committee estimates, will be representatives from surrounding countries whose interest in the Pymatuning dam as a recreation spot alone will be a direct one.

Expect 25,000

Close to 25,000 persons are expected to motor to the dam site for the day's program. Almost that many jammed the locality on the day Governor Pinchot "broke ground" for the huge dam construction project.

The merchant's division of the Sharon Chamber of Commerce is declaring a half holiday for the occasion, and indications are that many other business and industrial interests of the valley will slow down operations that day.

At the breastwork of the dam near Jamestown the large platform upon which outstanding notables will sit will be erected. Other prominent guests who will be spectators at the event and the press will occupy a special reserved section nearby the platfrom. Ample opportunity will be afforded for the crowd to see and hear the speakers.

A desire to stage only a short interesting progrm of dedication has led the committee to limit the speakers to Governor Pinchot and Governor White and possibly a county spokesmen.

Fruit To Preside

Hon. Fred T. Fruit, leading citizen of Sharon will preside over the dedication exercises as master of ceremonies.

The dedication hour has been set for three o'clock.

Leaders of the tri-county area will contact industrial and business representatives of their localities to urge them to attend the celebration. The Chamber of Commerce is also cooperating to have civic delegations present.

To Tour Area

With the luncheon for the two governors and industrial leaders at Greenville concluded the caravan of motor cars, preceded by highway police, will start its tour of the reservoir area. That will come around one o'clock.

The party will go to Conneaut Lake from Greenville, from Conneaut to Linesville, from Linesville to Andover, O. and south to the dam itself near Jamestown. On the trip may be seen at close range the present lage waters and the acreage it is expected to cover later.

While the inspection tour of officials is under way, cars bearing interested citizens from points all over Western Pennsylvania will be streaming into the Jamestown locality for the program at 3 o'clock.

Special highway patrol forces will be stationed in the locality that day to prevent traffic from being clogged.

Dinner Event

With the dedicatory affair at on end, the party of leaders and other civic officials of the district will go to Sharon for an informal dinner at the Buhl Club.

The evening dinner will honor the governors and the heads of industrial concerns of the Valley. The program following the banquet will be brief. Attendance will be limited to about 150 and it will be sponsored by the industrial leaders of the Shenango Valley.

Announcement that a 200 page historical volume giving a chronological development of the Pymatuning project is now in the course of preparation and will be ready for distribution on the day of dedication. Editing it is a group headed by C. B. Lartz, president of Sharon's Chamber of Commerce

To further enlighten the citizenry on plans for the day a committee on publicity headed by A. W. McDowell of the Sharon Herald, was named. Serving with Mr. McDowell will be Jno. L. Morrison, Greenville publisher: James N. March, Beaver Falls publisher and Mr. Rentz.

Formal acceptance to invitations to attend the community affair have been received, it was said yesterday from Gov. Pinchot, S. S. Lewis secretary of the Pennsylvania highway department; Samuel Eckels, chief engineer, department of highways; Thomas Frame, division engineer, department of highways, Attorney General William A. Schnader and Charles E. Ryder, department of forests and waters. Others are expected shortly.

Present for the general committee meeting yesterday in the office of Fred L. Rentz at The News were the following tri-county leaders:

Attorney Fred T. Fruit, of Sharon, chairman of the dedicatory exercises.

Mayor J. Fred Thomas of Sharon
C. B. Lartz, president of the Chamber of Commerce.
Former Burgess George Mahaney of Sharpsville.
A. W. McDowell, publisher of the Sharon Herald.
C. E Brockway, president of the First National bank of Sharon
W. T. Baines, Sharon businessman
Norman S. Powell head of the National Re-Employment Service in Sharon
Howard L. McBride, Sharon undertaker
Dr. William S. Cook, Beaver Falls civic leader
James H. March, publisher of the Beaver Falls News-Tribune
John D. Bruhn, New Brighton manufacturer and banker.
G. A. Harshman, Sharon, News-Telegraph
Assemblyman A. M. F. Stiteler, Beaver
John L. Morrison, Greenville, publisher
Fred L. Rentz, New Castle.

It's Already Smashed. Out of Hawaii, What? Dillinger, Jealousy, Cash. So They Spend $25,516.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

SENATOR BORAH denounces monopoly as the cause of all our troubles, and says "smash the monopolies." As it happens, happenings since 1929 have smashed the monopolies fairly well.

If anybody has a monopoly that you would like to own you can get it at a bargain.

SENATOR BORAH says purchasing power must be restored to the great mass of the people. President Roosevelt agrees, combines deeds with words, according to the recommendation of the other Roosevelt, and has handed out thousands of millions of dollars, thinly disguised as wages, saying in effect "go and buy yourself something."

Hundreds of millions are paid to the farmer for not working, leaving fields unplanted and other millions have been paid to cotton growers for ploughing cotton under.

What more could you do except gather income taxpayers together, take their capital from them, what they have left, and distribute that also.

The PRESIDENT reaching Hawaii is greeted with the friendly "Aloha," also with a remark which when "the good" Tom Williams repeated it sounded like "moloki-hoi."

The President will have a string of flowers put around his neck, and then, like little children that have said "Merry Christmas" to papa and mamma, Hawaiians like other good Americans, will stand around, wondering what they will get. It must be a wonderful thing to say as President Roosevelt can say, "Here, have a billion, or two."

WHAT POPULATION will Hawaii develop in time, with its present mixture described by Time as 146,000 Japanese, 6,000 Filipinos, 27,000 Chinese, 22,000 Polynesians, 29,000 Portuguese, 7,000 Puerto Ricans, 45,000 whites and 31,000 mixed breeds.

These human 'breeds" are intermarrying, carrying out on the little island on a small scale, the process of mixing two-legged races that has gone on ever since the first Cromagnon gentleman type met the first Neanderthal lady type in the old stone age.

There is nothing more important than these mixtures of races, for real peace on earth and good will toward men will not come, probably, until the earth has only ONE race, and therefore no "enemy."

ALREADY IMAGINATION starts building the Dillinger "romance." The lady in the case, whom criminals would call "the finger woman," because she obliged the detectives by putting her finger on Dillinger, is supposed to have hidden in the woods with the bandit. Jealous rage seized her when another woman came to join the killer and she betrayed him to his death.

The reward of $15,000 probably had more to do with the "finger" than any jealous rage.

"Jealousy is cruel as the grave; the coals thereof are coals of fire, which hath a most vehement flame," as we learn from Solomon.

But in these practical days there is something about fifteen thousands dollars that is also powerful and vehement.

MR. AND MRS. PETERS (he was "night man" in a small Hoboken, N. J., lunchroom) won $25,516 in a sweepstake lottery, and felt that they should show that winning, in a lottery, is a good thing. They drove to collect their money in a rented 16-cylinder car with a liveried chauffeur, and "opened" champagne.

Any expert accountant can show them that four per cent on $25,516 will not stand that strain. Some "get-rich-quick" expert will probably show them how to change $25,516 into $10,000,000—then Mr. Peters will be "night man" again.

CONDITIONS IN Vienna are bad, with more dangerous riots expected as Nazi terrorism continues its bomb explosions. Nazis in Austria declare that "Roman Catholic priests led Chancellor Dollfuss in his campaign against the Nazis," and a Nazi spokesman declares that Nazis "have determined to kidnap the Roman Catholic priests as hostages." As soon as any Nazi terrorists are sentenced to death, and hanged, their friends will kill the priests held as hostages.

IN PENNSYLVANIA, where the substantial "Pennsylvania Dutch" once presided over families of ten, twenty or moree children, the birth rate has fallen to 16 per 1,000 of population, lowest on record.

Knowledge of birth control plus foolish laws that keep out the kind of emigrants that created the United States make a combination not very promising.

CHICAGO SUPPLIES a photograph of the dead bandit Dillinger lying on his back, blood stains from various bullets showing on his shirt.

Sitting above him, looking down, with satisfaction and triumph, you observe a detective and wonder how that detective's expression would change if Dillinger suddenly came to life. The picture reminds you of the frequent photographs of small Englishmen each with one foot on the body of a big dead tiger. What a difference if the proud hunter had met the tiger face to face in the jungle instead of shooting him from the back of an elephant.

In CHICAGO, with a temperature of 100, cattle pens in the stockyards are crowded and a strike of 750 stock handlers, compels the animals to go without food or water. Many cattle were shot to end their suffering. If they could write a description of the "new era" it would have exclamation points scattered through it.

MISTAKE BLOOD CLOT FOR FRACTURED SKULL

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND — The appalling death rate in the United States from automobile accidents and other lesser hazards could be greatly decreased if a systematic, thorough examination of the victims is made, Dr. Timothy Leary of Boston told the American Medical Association here.

Dr. Leary, who is medical examiner of Suffolk County, Mass., said that often what appears to be a fractured skull is a blood clot on the brain and that an operation would save the patient if performed promptly.

Instead, the physician declared, many doctors treat unconscious accident victims as if they suffered from a fractured skull and while awaiting a report on X-ray pictures the patients die. Many could be saved, he asserted.

Meadville Man Suicide Victim

Glenn W. Miller, 43, Ends Life After Being Arrested

DRUNKEN DRIVING CHARGE WAS MADE

(International News Service)

MEADVILLE, Pa., July 26.—Jailed for driving an automobile while intoxicated, Glenn W. Miller, 43, prominent Meadville business man, had taken his life today.

Fashioning a noose out of his shirt, Miller hanged himself in the Crawford county jail last night. His body, hanging from a hook in his cell, was found by Sheriff H. A. Nickels and his father, Charles E. Miller.

Miller was arrested while driving on the east side of Conneaut Lake. His wife was taken into custody by Patrolman M. E. Hans and Corporal C. H. Blocker on a disorderly conduct charge.

SLEEPER SNOOZED DESPITE HOME FIRE

(International News Service)

PORTLAND, Ore.—When Hans Stein lies down to sleep, he does just that, fire or other disturbances notwithstanding.

Neighbors turned in an alarm when they saw smoke emitting from Stein's house. Stein slept peacefully in an adjoining bedroom while firemen tramped through a front room, carried a burning davenport outside and doused it with water.

Firemen attempted to waken him to explain the damage but failed. Disgusted, they locked the door and went away, leaving Stein to enjoy his dreams.

Ignorance must have some value. It is impossible to shake convictions that are based on it.

CHAUTAUQUA DAY

Mrs. Carrie Jeffrey Roberts, president of the Lawrence County Parent-Teacher Association, has received word from Mrs. Walter E. Greenwood, retiring national president of P. T. A., that there will be a P. T. A. day at Chautauqua Lake Friday, August 10.

There will be a conference at 2:15 p. m., in Chautauqua Hall and at 8 p. m., there will be an address by Mrs. A. B. F. Langworthy, Chicago, new national president.

Mrs. Roberts is anxious that Lawrence County be well represented at this time and those planning on attending will get in touch with her.

INSTALL ADVISERS IN FRATERNITY HOUSES

(International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O.—A plan to install tutors and advisers in three fraternity houses on Ohio State University's campus as "an educational experiment" will be inaugurated this fall, it was announced here.

Three graduate students will be placed in as many chapter houses of fraternities to determine the benefits of such a plan "in improving scholarship and general chapter relations."

You don't need so much wisdom in youth. There aren't so many things that aren't good for you.

"NATURALLY SKINNY FOLKS"

3 WAYS IN 1 TO ADD WEIGHT Quick!

Gain 5 Lbs. in One Week --- or No Cost.

Thousands of thin, pale, rundown folks—and even "Naturally Skinny" men and women—are amazed at this new and easy way to put on healthy needed pounds quickly. Gains of 15 to 20 lbs. in one month—5 lbs. in a week—are reported regularly.

Kelp-a-Malt, the new mineral concentrate from the sea—free from drugs—gets right down to the cause of thin, underweight conditions and adds weight through a "3 way in one" natural process.

First, its rich supply of easily assimilable minerals nourish the digestive glands which produce the juices that alone enable you to digest the fats and starches in your daily diet . . . the weight-making elements in food. Second, Kelp-a-Malt provides an amazingly effective digestive substance which actually digests 4 times its own weight of the flesh-building foods you eat. Third, Kelp-a-Malt's natural FOOD IODINE stimulates and nourishes the internal glands which control assimilation—the process of converting digested food into firm flesh, new strength and energy. Three Kelp-a-Malt tablets contain more iron and copper than a pound of spinach or 7½ lbs. of fresh tomatoes; more calcium than 6 eggs; more phosphorus than 1½ lbs. carrots; more FOOD IODINE than 1600 lbs. of beef.

Try Kelp-a-Malt for a single week and notice the difference—how much better you sleep, how ordinary stomach distress vanishes, how firm flesh appears in place of crawny hollows and the new energy and strength it brings you! Prescribed and used by physicians, Kelp-a-Malt contains no drugs and is fine for children too—improves their appetites. Remember the name, Kelp-a-Malt, the original and genuine kelp and malt tablets. There is nothing else like them so don't accept imitations and substitutes. Try Kelp-a-Malt today, and if you don't gain at least 5 lbs. of good, firm flesh in 1 week the trial is free. Kelp-a-Malt costs only a few cents a day to use and can be had at the New Castle Drug Stores.

Croton M. E. Sunday School Has Picnic

Annual Event Takes Place At Castle Beach Wednesday Afternoon And Evening

With over 200 present, the annual picnic of the Croton M. E. Sunday school took place at Castle Beach Wednesday afternoon and evening.

The arrangements were in the hands of the following committee:

Grove arrangements, Mrs. Jessie Nolan; tables and serving, Mrs. C. S. Joshua; sports, Clarence Reiber, assisted by Mrs. Vane Johns and Miss Lily Belle Hill; transportation, Jesse Hinkson; registration, Mrs. Frank L. Doerr.

A splendid program of sports was carried out during the afternoon, and there were also various contests during the afternoon and evening. Dinner was served in the grove at 6:30.

Following dinner, the married men and single men engaged in a game of mushball, in which the married men emerged triumphant by a score of 10-9. Roy Bales, who was on the mound for the single men, was given poor support, particularly in the final inning when several well placed hits, combined with a number of fielding errors, enabled the married men to come from way behind and nose out the youngsters. Rev. C. S. Joshua contributed his usual fine job of umpiring. He was given a special prize following the game by the married men.

Swimming was enjoyed throughout the afternoon and evening.

The Brilliant Ancients

Unknown Astronomer Before Christian Era Discovered Mercury

How Mercury, right compares with Earth.

By RICHARD BAYLIS
Central Press Science Writer

How efficient were the ancient astronomers in their study of the heavens is demonstrated definitely in the history of the planet, Mercury, one of the smallest of the planets.

The actual discovery of Mercury is unknown. The planet dates so far back into antiquity that no record has been handed down as the name of the individual who discovered it.

But great credit is attached to the feat. To make the discovery, the finder needed a comprehensive knowledge of the stars and an acute vision. It is said that perhaps one of the Chaldean shepherds was the discoverer, but that is mere opinion.

The first recorded mention of Mercury was made by the chief astronomer at Nineveh in a report to the king of Assyria. Observations, however, did not begin until about 265 B. C.

Mercury has been known by several names in the pages of history. To some of the ancients it was known as "the swift-winged messenger of the gods" because of its celerity of movement. The Greeks called it "the strong, sparkling one" because of its luster, when visible to the naked eye, amid the dense and often disturbed atmosphere near the horizon.

This planet is about 3,008 miles in diameter, and its sidereal period of revolution is 88 days. Of all the known planets, it is the nearest to the sun, its distance from that body being 35,958,000 miles.

BAPTIST CHURCH SUNDAY SPEAKERS

The Rev. C. H. Heaton, pastor of the First Baptist church, is enjoying his summer vacation in the west and each Sunday of the month splendid speakers have been supplied for the church services.

Sunday morning the Rev. H. G. Woodrow will address the congregation and at the evening service Rev. Alma Broadhead will speak, taking as her theme "Villains of the New Testament."

The trouble with most reform movements is that they try to reform the wicked place instead of its patrons.

CONDITION OF PAPST SERIOUS

Officials of the New Castle hospital reported this morning that the condition of John F. Papst, of Fairmont avenue, a lineman for the Pennsylvania Power company, is serious.

Mr. Papst was severely burned last week due to an electrical flash at the West Pittsburg sub-station. He was burned about the right arm and shoulders.

Great Britain And U. S. Will Play For Title

United States Tennis Team Is Favored To Defeat English Stars

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 26.—The United States plays Great Britain for the Davis cup, highest trophy of the tennis world, on Saturday and the wise men of the British Isles, laying aside their traditional patriotic support of their countrymen, today are betting 3 to 2 that those surprising Yankees will be able to take the historic cup back to its native land.

There is no gainsaying the fact that the American Davis cuppers created a tremendous impression when they came from behind to eliminate the strong Australian team, 3 matches to 2.

The Americans, in sporting parlance, are "hot" and there is every reason to suspect they will remain that way through the finals with the British.

Negotiations Under Way For Bellini To Box Ted Kara

ADVANCE SALE INCREASES DAILY

Troy Bellini, amateur bantamweight champion of the United States will probably box Ted Kara, a runner-up in a Golden Glove championship bout at the Police Benefit Boxing show to be held here August 10, it was announced today.

Negotiations between the police and Jimmy Avon, manager of the national champion were started Tuesday and it is expected that Avon, who is known and related here will consent to let his titleholder appear in a bout with the classy Kara.

Should this bout materialize the fans will see one of the best displays of scientific boxing they have witnessed in some time and with the Mickie Cutic-Lew Tamber bantamweight bout as another test between boys no bigger than a grasshopper there will be no dearth of skill.

Many Reservations

According to Chief Haven approximately 1500 reserved tickets have been already disposed of and within 48 hours there will be probably 500 additional tickets in the hands of persons who wish to held the cause along. All money will be used to buy police equipment. This does not include uniforms.

The plan calls for the ring to be pitched on the running track directly in front of the concrete stadium. The ring will be surrounded by chairs which are being donated by the various funeral directors of the city and the lighting effect will be provided by L. B. Round of the Pennsylvania Power company.

Several well known contractors have informed Police Chief Haven that they will supervise the placing together of the ring that formerly held such stellar battles at the Castle bowl. City police will direct the crowds and ushers have already been provided for.

Registered Amateurs

All of the boxers who will appear on the police calendar are registered with the Amateur Athletic union. Before any of them enter the ring they will be weighed and put through a medical examination by local physicians. A report as to each boxer's condition is kept.

There will be no delays and promptly at 8:15 p. m., the timekeeper will ring the bell. Mayor Mayne will hop through the ropes, introduce the principals. An amplifier is to be erected and his voice will reach every section of the big field.

Jimmy Marks, Jr., New Junior Champ

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 26.—Victory's laurels crowned the head of shy 18-year-old Jimmy Marks, Jr., Oakmont Country Club juvenile, today as the new Western Pennsylvania Golf Association junior champion.

Marks ascended the throne in the titular round of the 14th annual championship at Stanton Heights Golf Club yesterday after an extra-hole grueling grind with Charles Evans, Jr., of the Wanango Country Club, Oil City.

Evans showed his mettle as a putter and approacher in the greater part of the match, but faltered long enough at the critical stage to cost him the title before the son of Kiski's famous dean and producer of nationally known gridiron players.

New Tennis Star Looms On Horizon

(International News Service)

SEABRIGHT, N. J., July 26.—A new star twinkled in the tennis firmament last night.

Gracyn Wheeler, whose first contact with the game was made eight years ago when she found an old racquet and ball up in her attic and tried them out against the garage wall, was the newcomer.

She won her place among the elite by beating the Baroness Maud Levi in the quarter-final round of the Seabright Club's annual invitation tournament, and this afternoon she meets Carolin Babcock, Wightman Cup star and fifth ranking player of the country.

Scarazzos Take American League Victory At Canyon Field Wednesday

Scarazzos topped the Tolan A. C. last night at Canyon Field 11 to 8 in an American league battle. The victory keeps the Scarazzos in the American league pennant race for the second half championship.

Bartlett gave the Tolans 14 hits but kept them scattered. The Scarazzos found Rogers for 19 hits. The heaviest hitters were Valiensi, Viggiano and Bartlett. To date the Scarazzos have taken the measure of the Tolans four times. Engs, Robinson and Payne, featured for the colored boys.

THE SPORT PATROL

By JOHN J. MAHER, JR.

RESERVED STRENGTH.

The Tigers are in first place in the American League because their regulars have thus far been able to escape injuries. Detroit has a team worthy of a pennant as far as the first twelve men are concerned but if anything happens to the regulars they will probably topple quicker than a lion eats raw beef steak.

Looking over the roster we find such reserves as Clifton and Schuble in the infield, Doljack and White in the outfield, Hayworth behind the plate, and Fischer, Frasier, Hamlin, and Hogsett in the box.

It isn't so good for a pennant contender, is it? Hayworth is a better than average second string catcher, yet Detroit would miss Cochrane more than any other man on the team. Without Mickey the pitching staff wouldn't be able to keep the Tigers in the first division.

Where would the Auto City be if they had to play without Goslin, Fox, Owens, and Bridges at different intervals throughout the season? That is the situation in which the Yankees have battled thus far with Ruth, Combs, Lazzeri, and Allen on the shelf at different times. Detroit, under a similar handicap, would be nowhere near the present Yankee position.

In contrast to the condition in Detroit, the Chicago Cubs are an example of the other extreme. Their presence in the flag fight is due chiefly to their reserve strength. All the regulars have had to have assistance at some time due to injury or illness.

When Bush was injured and Warneke lost weight, Jim Weaver came to the front. Babe Phelps filled in for Gabby Hartnett. Dolph Camilli took care of first base when Grimm's back bothered him. Hack and Galan have been called into service a number of times for Herman, Jurgis, and English.

The Cubs have molded Klein, Cuyler, Babe Herman, Stephenson, and Stainback into various outfield combinations. The hitting of these outfielders has been an important factor. Stainback's batting average isn't so impressive now but at the time he was in Cuyler's position his hitting was satisfactory.

The Ferrell Deal.

There are many fans who are sparing no words in proclaiming that Cleveland pulled the prize boner of 1934 in the Ferrell deal. They point to the record of Ferrell as compared with that of Weiland and then begin a doleful tale of what might have been.

A statistical study of the pitching records does make Cleveland's judgment seem sluggish but the story doesn't stop at that point—only the disgruntled fans stop there.

The first thing they forget is the cash, amounting to something like $25,000, that Mr. Bradley pocketed in the deal. And $25,000 looks good to me, even when placed along side of Ferrell's pitching record.

And what if Cleveland hadn't traded their big right-hander? They would be about $25,000 poorer with an ineligible player on the roster in place of a southpaw whose ability is greater than his present pitching record indicates.

Ferrell never intended to pitch another ball for Cleveland at any price. He was constantly in trouble with the manager and the front office. The fans rode him for his childish antics on the pitching mound. So Ferrell decided that he would much rather fish in Carolina than play ball for Cleveland again.

So facing the facts as they were, Alva Bradley simply made the best deal possible. $25,000 plus Lefty Weiland for a pitcher who didn't even figure in the Cleveland's plans could hardly be called a poor deal.

Giants Leading By Sheer Power

Powerful Hitters And Crackerjack Pitchers Keep Giants Up

INDIANS WIN FROM ATHLETICS

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, July 26.—The late John McGraw used to say the easiest way to win ball games was to shut off the other fellow's power. Of course, to do that you must have pitching. John figured all the power a team boasted was concentrated in three or four men and if you could stop them, you could win.

On that basis, the New York Giants are the most powerful team in baseball. You don't believe it? Well, let's take a look at the records.

The Giants' power is concentrated in four men—Terry, Moore, Ott and O'Doul. Their combined batting average is .349 which tops the combined average of any other quartet on any major league team you can name. With those four plus four great pitchers—Hubbel, Schumacher, Fitzsimmons and Parmelee—it is no surprise to find the Giants leading the National League.

Braves Take Two.

It's surprising to find how closely the power of the teams follow the standing of the clubs and where there is any slight change you will note that it is due to weakness in pitching.

Chick Hafey furnished most of the power for the Reds yesterday, getting a homer in each half of a double header, but it wasn't enough and the Braves took two, 7 to 3 and 2 to 1.

George Earnshaw scored the first shut-out the White Sox have enjoyed this year when he spiked the siege guns of the Senators. George held them to seven scattered hits and the Sox breezed in, 4 to 0.

The Indians overpowered the A's, 8 to 3 and the Red Sox put on a two-run rally in the ninth to beat the Tigers, 9 to 7.

Sammy Byrd took the place of the injured Earl Combs and his homer gave the Yanks a 5-4 decision over the Browns and brought them a step nearer the league leading Tigers.

Merchants Top Ryantown 8 To 7

Shaftic And Bauman Have Better Of Book And Hill In Pitching Battle

East New Castle Merchants topped the Ryantown team 8 to 7 in a fast and well played game at the Shenango High field last night. This was a National Independent league game. The game was called at the end of the sixth on account of darkness.

Shaftic and Bauman outpitched Hill and Book to take the decision, allowing only six hits to Ryantown, while the Merchants found the Ryantown heavers for 10 hits. The heaviest slugging was done by A. Bauman, Shaftic, Maxwell, Hartman and Maher.

Gene Sarazen Among Stars Winning First Round Matches In National PGA

(International News Service)

BUFFALO, July 26.—Many veterans of many golf campaigns were missing today as the second round matches of the 17th annual professional golfers association tournament at the Park Country Club got under way.

Many met their fate at the hands of youngsters yesterday in the series of 36-hole matches which sliced the elect field of 32 qualifiers down to 16.

But Gene Sarazen, defending champion, won his place in today's matches by defeating Herman Barron of Port Chester, N. Y. Today he meets Al Watrous, of Birmingham.

Sarazen finds himself in the "tough" bracket of the championship 16, along with Harry Cooper, of Glen Ellyn, Ill., who meets Craig Wood, of Deal, N. J. Bracketed in this eight too was Ky Laffoon, the Denver sensation who slashed his way to a 12 to 10 victory over Horton Smith, of Chicago yesterday.

But if it is society's fault when one man becomes a burglar, how does another with the same start become a fine citizen?

National Champ' May Appear Here

ADVANCE SALE INCREASES DAILY

Troy Bellini, amateur bantamweight champion of the United States will probably box Ted Kara, a runner-up in a Golden Glove championship bout at the Police Benefit Boxing show to be held here August 10, it was announced today.

Negotiations between the police and Jimmy Avon, manager of the national champion were started Tuesday and it is expected that Avon, who is known and related here will consent to let his titleholder appear in a bout with the classy Kara.

Should this bout materialize the fans will see one of the best displays of scientific boxing they have witnessed in some time and with the Mickie Cutic-Lew Tamber bantamweight bout as another test between boys no bigger than a grasshopper there will be no dearth of skill.

Many Reservations

According to Chief Haven approximately 1500 reserved tickets have been already disposed of and within 48 hours there will be probably 500 additional tickets in the hands of persons who wish to held the cause along. All money will be used to buy police equipment. This does not include uniforms.

The plan calls for the ring to be pitched on the running track directly in front of the concrete stadium. The ring will be surrounded by chairs which are being donated by the various funeral directors of the city and the lighting effect will be provided by L. B. Round of the Pennsylvania Power company.

Several well known contractors have informed Police Chief Haven that they will supervise the placing together of the ring that formerly held such stellar battles at the Castle bowl. City police will direct the crowds and ushers have already been provided for.

Registered Amateurs

All of the boxers who will appear on the police calendar are registered with the Amateur Athletic union. Before any of them enter the ring they will be weighed and put through a medical examination by local physicians. A report as to each boxer's condition is kept.

There will be no delays and promptly at 8:15 p. m., the timekeeper will ring the bell. Mayor Mayne will hop through the ropes, introduce the principals. An amplifier is to be erected and his voice will reach every section of the big field.

Jimmy Marks, Jr., New Junior Champ

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 26.—Victory's laurels crowned the head of shy 18-year-old Jimmy Marks, Jr., Oakmont Country Club juvenile, today as the new Western Pennsylvania Golf Association junior champion.

Marks ascended the throne in the titular round of the 14th annual championship at Stanton Heights Golf Club yesterday after an extra-hole gruelling grind with Charles Evans, Jr., of the Wanango Country Club, Oil City.

Evans showed his mettle as a putter and approacher in the greater part of the match, but faltered long enough at the critical stage to cost him the title before the son of Kiski's famous dean and producer of nationally known gridiron players.

New Tennis Star Looms On Horizon

(International News Service)

SEABRIGHT, N. J., July 26.—A new star twinkled in the tennis firmament last night.

Gracyn Wheeler, whose first contact with the game was made eight years ago when she found an old racquet and ball up in her attic and tried them out against the garage wall, was the newcomer.

She won her place among the elite by beating the Baroness Maud Levi in the quarter-final round of the Seabright Club's annual invitation tournament, and this afternoon she meets Carolin Babcock, Wightman Cup star and fifth ranking player of the country.

Scarazzos Top Tolans 11 To 8

Scarazzos Take American League Victory At Canyon Field Wednesday

Scarazzos topped the Tolan A. C. last night at Canyon Field 11 to 8 in an American league battle. The victory keeps the Scarazzos in the American league pennant race for the second half championship.

Bartlett gave the Tolans 14 hits but kept them scattered. The Scarazzos found Rogers for 19 hits. The heaviest hitters were Valiensi, Vigiano and Bartlett. To date the Scarazzos have taken the measure of the Tolans four times. Engs, Robinson and Payne, featured for the colored boys.

THE SPORT PATROL

By JOHN J. MAHER, JR.

RESERVED STRENGTH.

The Tigers are in first place in the American League because their regulars have thus far been able to escape injuries. Detroit has a team worthy of a pennant as far as the first twelve men are concerned but if anything happens to the regulars they will probably topple quicker than a lion eats raw beef steak.

Looking over the roster we find such reserves as Clifton and Schuble in the infield, Doljack and White in the outfield, Hayworth behind the plate, and Fischer, Frasier, Hamlin, and Hogsett in the box.

It isn't so good for a pennant contender, is it? Hayworth is a better than average second string catcher, yet Detroit would miss Cochrane more than any other man on the team. Without Mickey the pitching staff wouldn't be able to keep the Tigers in the first division.

Where would the Auto City be if they had to play without Goslin, Fox, Owens, and Bridges at different intervals throughout the season? That is the situation in which the Yankees have battled thus far with Ruth, Combs, Lazzeri, and Allen on the shelf at different times. Detroit, under a similar handicap, would be nowhere near the present Yankee position.

In contrast to the condition in Detroit, the Chicago Cubs are an example of the other extreme. Their presence in the flag fight is due chiefly to their reserve strength. All the regulars have had to have assistance at some time due to injury or illness.

When Bush was injured and Warneke lost weight, Jim Weaver came to the front. Babe Phelps filled in for Gabby Hartnett. Dolph Camilli took care of first base when Grimm's back bothered him. Hack and Galan have been called into service a number of times for Herman, Jurgis, and English.

The Cubs have molded Klein, Cuyler, Babe Herman, Stephenson, and Stainback into various outfield combinations. The hitting of these outfielders has been an important factor. Stainback's batting average isn't so impressive now but at the time he was in Cuyler's position his hitting was satisfactory.

The Ferrell Deal.

There are many fans who are sparing no words in proclaiming that Cleveland pulled the prize boner of 1934 in the Ferrell deal. They point to the record of Ferrell as compared with that of Weiland and then begin a doleful tale of what might have been.

A statistical study of the pitching records does make Cleveland's judgment seem sluggish but the story doesn't stop at that point—only the disgruntled fans stop there.

The first thing they forget is the cash, amounting to something like $25,000, that Mr. Bradley pocketed in the deal. And $25.000 looks good to me, even when placed along side of Ferrell's pitching record.

And what if Cleveland hadn't traded their big right-hander? They would be about $25.000 poorer with an ineligible player on the roster in place of a southpaw whose ability is greater than his present pitching record indicates.

Ferrell never intended to pitch another ball for Cleveland at any price. He was constantly in trouble with the manager and the front office. The fans rode him for his childish antics on the pitching mound. So Ferrell decided that he would much rather fish in Carolina than play ball for Cleveland again.

So facing the facts as they were, Alva Bradley simply made the best deal possible. $25,000 plus Lefty Weiland for a pitcher who didn't even figure in the Cleveland's plans could hardly be called a poor deal.

Giants Leading By Sheer Power

Powerful Hitters And Crackerjack Pitchers Keep Giants Up

INDIANS WIN FROM ATHLETICS

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, July 26.—The late John McGraw used to say the easiest way to win ball games was to shut off the other fellow's power. Of course, to do that you must have pitching. John figured all the power a team boasted was concentrated in three or four men and if you could stop them, you could win.

On that basis, the New York Giants are the most powerful team in baseball. You don't believe it? Well, let's take a look at the records.

The Giants' power is concentrated in four men—Terry, Moore, Ott and O'Doul. Their combined batting average is .349 which tops the combined average of any other quartet on any major league team you can name. With those four plus four great pitchers—Hubbel, Schumacher, Fitzsimmons and Parmelee—it is no surprise to find the Giants leading the National League.

Braves Take Two.

It's surprising to find how closely the power of the teams follow the standing of the clubs and where there is any slight change you will note that it is due to weakness in pitching.

Chick Hafey furnished most of the power for the Reds yesterday, getting a homer in each half of a double header, but it wasn't enough and the Braves took two, 7 to 3 and 2 to 1.

George Earnshaw scored the first shut-out the White Sox have enjoyed this year when he spiked the siege guns of the Senators. George held them to seven scattered hits and the Sox breezed in, 4 to 0.

The Indians overpowered the A's, 8 to 3 and the Red Sox put on a two-run rally in the ninth to beat the Tigers, 9 to 7.

Sammy Byrd took the place of the injured Earl Combs and his homer gave the Yanks a 5-4 decision over the Browns and brought them a step nearer the league leading Tigers.

Merchants Top Ryantown 8 To 7

Shaftic And Bauman Have Better Of Book And Hill In Pitching Battle

East New Castle Merchants topped the Ryantown team 8 to 7 in a fast and well played game at the Shenango High field last night. This was a National Independent league game. The game was called at the end of the sixth on account of darkness.

Shaftic and Bauman outpitched Hill and Book to take the decision, allowing only six hits to Ryantown, while the Merchants found the Ryantown heavers for 10 hits. The heaviest slugging was done by A. Bauman, Shaftic, Maxwell, Hartman and Maher.

Gene Sarazen Among Stars Winning First Round Matches In National PGA

(International News Service)

BUFFALO, July 26.—Many veterans of many golf campaigns were missing today as the second round matches of the 17th annual professional golfers association tournament at the Park Country Club got under way.

Many met their fate at the hands of youngsters yesterday in the series of 36-hole matches which sliced the elect field of 32 qualifiers down to 16.

But Gene Sarazen, defending champion, won his place in today's matches by defeating Herman Barron, of Port Chester, N. Y. Today he meets Al Watrous, of Birmingham.

Sarazen finds himself in the "tough" bracket of the championship 16, along with Harry Cooper, of Glen Ellyn, Ill., who meets Craig Wood, of Deal, N. J. Bracketed in this eight too was Ky Laffoon, the Denver sensation who slashed his way to a 12 to 10 victory over Horton Smith, of Chicago yesterday.

But if it is society's fault when one man becomes a burglar, how does another with the same start become a fine citizen?

Croton M. E. Sunday School Has Picnic

Annual Event Takes Place At Castle Beach Wednesday Afternoon And Evening

With over 200 present, the annual picnic of the Croton M. E. Sunday school took place at Castle Beach Wednesday afternoon and evening.

The arrangements were in the hands of the following committee:

Grove arrangements, Mrs. Jessie Nolan; tables and serving, Mrs. C. S. Joshua; sports, Clarence Reiber, assisted by Mrs. Vane Johns and Miss Lily Belle Hill; transportation, Jesse Hinkson; registration, Mrs. Frank L. Doerr.

A splendid program of sports was carried out during the afternoon, and there were also various contests during the afternoon and evening. Dinner was served in the grove at 6:30.

Following dinner, the married men and single men engaged in a game of mushball, in which the married men emerged triumphant by a score of 10-9. Roy Bales, who was on the mound for the single men, was given poor support, particularly in the final inning when several well placed hits, combined with a number of fielding errors, enabled the married men to come from way behind and nose out the youngsters. Rev. C. S. Joshua contributed his usual fine job of umpiring. He was given a special prize following the game by the married men.

Swimming was enjoyed throughout the afternoon and evening.

SCIENCE SIMPLIFIED

The Brilliant Ancients

Unknown Astronomer Before Christian Era Discovered Mercury

How Mercury, right compares with Earth.

By RICHARD BAYLIS
Central Press Science Writer

How efficient were the ancient astronomers in their study of the heavens is demonstrated definitely in the history of the planet, Mercury, one of the smallest of the planets.

The actual discovery of Mercury is unknown. The planet dates so far back into antiquity that no record has been handed down as the name of the individual who discovered it.

But great credit is attached to the feat. To make the discovery, the finder needed a comprehensive knowledge of the stars and an acute vision. It is said that perhaps one of the Chaldean shepherds was the discoverer, but that is mere opinion.

The first recorded mention of Mercury was made by the chief astronomer at Nineveh in a report to the king of Assyria. Observations, however, did not begin until about 265 B. C.

Mercury has been known by several names in the pages of history. To some of the ancients it was known as "the swift-winged messenger of the gods" because of its celerity of movement. The Greeks called it "the strong, sparkling one" because of its luster, when visible to the naked eye, amid the dense and often disturbed atmosphere near the horizon.

This planet is about 3,008 miles in diameter, and its sidereal period of revolution is 88 days. Of all the known planets, it is the nearest to the sun, its distance from that body being 35,958,000 miles.

SPYING ON SPORTS

Central Press Sports Writer

The word James J. Johnston, Madison Square Garden's matchmaker, uses to describe his September heavyweight elimination melee is "colossal."

It's a good word, with a ring of circus press-agentry in it and before the events Johnston is planning reach mellow ripeness, there may be more of a circus aspect on the affair than even the wise-cracking Johnston now realizes.

It is Johnston's plan to bring together four wearers of boxing gloves who for the sake of the story can be called logical contenders for the world's heavyweight championship bauble now in possession of Max Baer.

These four are Primo Carnera, Steve Hamas, Walter Neusel and King Levinsky. Any one of the cauliflowers can become without warning the kind of clown folk in the farm belt spend their hay and oats harvest money to see when the big top comes to town. And, at least two of those named are rather more than likely to furnish not much fighting but a whole lot of good, clean fun.

Carnera, by benefit of his bulk, has been a potential Pierrot since he began his lumbering career. Even in such tragic moments as when he was losing his title under the buffeting blows of Max Baer, the ponderous Pisan hovered on the edge of comedy. Several of his ring appearances have been uproariously funny, including the bout on the Pacific coast when he was losing to Bombo Chevalier but won when a towel came flying into the ring from Bombo's corner.

The possibilities of another fistic festival between Carnera and Levinsky is attractive for those who are sticklers for silliness within the ropes rather than bloodshed. These two put on a show in Chicago two years ago that made the Nick Altrock-Al Schacht act seems serious by comparison.

Carnera's skill has been vastly over-rated by writers trying assiduously to point out that here was a great big man who really could box. Despite his reputation for carrying a lethal punch, he failed to do much damage to venerable Tommy Loughran in Florida last spring until he planted one of those violin cases of his on Tommy's tender foot, breaking an ankle bone. Carnera's knockout of Sharkey must be discounted a great deal by subsequent Sharkey showings.

As for Neusel and Hamas, I don't believe anyone connected with boxing seriously considers either as a championship possibility. Each has demonstrated in-and-out tendencies which are irreconcilable with championship caliber.

The eliminations should be colossal though, as Johnston says. If the matchmaker could find another pair like Carnera and the Kingfish, he would have a full-fledged circus on his hands, and could promote it as such. The boxers might even carry slapsticks to make it merrier.

Employes Of Big Circus Ill With Typhoid Fever

Sixty Employes Of Ringling And Barnum And Bailey Show Have Disease

MANY MORE ARE ALSO IN HOSPITAL

Believe Disease Contracted By Drinking Tainted Water At Previous Stands

(International News Service)

DETROIT, July 26—A federal health investigator was expected here today from Washington to assist state and city health officials in an investigation of a typhoid epidemic which swept the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey circus and placed 85 employees in hospitals for treatment.

Ten of the latest victims arrived here last night from Flint, Mich., where the show had gone after its performance here. Dr. Henry F. Vaughan, city health commissioner said 60 of the employees definitely have the disease while the remainder are undergoing observation. Some, he said, are in serious condition.

The source of the epidemic was not known but it was believed some of the workers contracted the disease by drinking tainted water in previous stands.

No attempt was made to close the circus Dr. Vaughn said because of the possibility that some of the employees would attempt to flee and thereby spread the typhoid germs over the country. The entire personnel is undergoing daily examinations.

Tubers Strengthen Lead In Second Half

ELLWOOD CITY, July 26.—Displaying a marvelous brand of baseball, the Shelby Social Club nine of Ellwood City soundly trimmed Beaver, the first half winners, by a 9-0 score at Beaver last evening. The result gave the Tubers a two-game edge on their nearest rival in the Beaver County League, New Brighton.

Paul McCullough held the spotlight with some wonderful pitching, yielding only four hits. Ellwood pounded out 11 hits from Ewing and Todd. The manner in which the Tube City wielded the bludgeon during the game drew praise from the large crowd present. Ellwood scored three runs in the fifth inning, four in the sixth and two in the seventh.

The Tubers are scheduled to meet New Brighton next Saturday afternoon in the valley town. A victory over New Brighton will practically insure the second half crown for Ellwood.

Finishes Even With Defending Champion On First Eighteen Holes

(International News Service)

PARK COUNTRY CLUB, BUFFALO, July 26—Matching stroke for stroke in a desperate battle, Gene Sarazen, the defending champion, and Al Watrous, of Birmingham, Mich., today finished all square at the end of first 18 holes in their 36 hole 2nd round match in the professional golfers association championship.

Breaking par figures for the rain-soaked course, Sarazen and Watrous finished with sparkling 71's, the result of an outraging 37 by each and sub par 34's coming home.

They turned for home all even, after playing steady golf for the first nine in one over par figures.

Blame Opening Of Clarion River Dam For Killing Fish

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 26.—Opening of a power company dam on the Clarion river for repair work was blamed by the Fish commission today for the death of thousands of fish in that river.

The report was made after representatives of the commission had been sent to the scene because of numerous complaints from that area. The power company was not named in the commission's announcement.

Opening of the dam dropped the water level 33 feet and polluted the stream, the commission said.

Five Generations In This Family

Four generations living in one family is a fairly common thing in Lawrence County but five generations is unusual. The Dennis family of this city has this distinction. Beginning with Mrs. Mary Dennis the generations are as follow: John B. Dennis her son, Marry Dennis a grandson. Mrs. Catherine Madden a great granddaughter and 15 month Edward Madden, a great-great grandson.

Harry Dennis of the third generation also has the distinction of being a grandfather at 33 years of age.

Man Questioned About Dillinger Face Lifting Jumps To His Death

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, July 26.—A key witness in the government's investigation of the activities of John Dillinger and his gang puls in the weeks before Dillinger was killed, today jumped to his death when federal agents sought to question him.

He was James Johnston Probasco, 67, in whose home, it was reported Dillinger and Homer Van Meter, a leading Dillinger lieutenant, had their faces lifted by surgery and their finger tips blurred with acid in attempts to thwart identification.

Confesses Part

He had been arrested last night and was taken to the government bureau for questioning this morning. While S. P. Cowley, in charge of the bureau in the absence of Melvin Purvis, and other agents were out of the room he climbed to a skyscraper window and jumped. He died instantly.

Just before his ended his life, it was reliably reported, Probasco had admitted to Crowley, the agent credited in some quarters with killing Dillinger, that Dillinger and Van Meter had used his home as a "hospital" for their face-lifting and finger-blurring operations.

New Trial Refused In Dambrosia Case

Convicted Of Failing To Stop Or Give His Name After Auto Accident

In an opinion handed down by Judge James A. Chambers at court this morning, a new trial was refused Frank Dambrosia, in a case in which he was convicted of failing to render assistance, failing to give his name, and failing to exhibit his driver's license after an automobile accident.

Dambrosia collided with a car driven by Joe Gordon on the New Castle-Beaver road. Gordon and his wife were injured and it is claimed that Dambrosia failed to render the assistance provided for under the motor code. At the trial of the case he claimed that he was not driving the car, that he was in the back seat.

However, Joe Gordon testified that he was driving the car, and that after the accident he got out of the front door next to the driver's seat. Elizabeth Gordon, who was in the car, testified the same way, as did Agnes Lukatis, also an occupant of the Gordon car.

Several persons who were in the Dambrosia car claimed that he was not driving it. The testimony of the occupants of both cars was directly conflicting.

Judge Chambers holds that it is not the province of the court to interpret which side is telling the truth. That was a question for the jury, and the jury found that Dambrosia was driving.

Machine Gunners To Have Reunion

Former Members Of 313th Machine Gun Battalion To Gather August 5

Arrangements have been completed for the 313th machine gun battalion reunion, which is to be held on Sunday, August 5, at Pulakos-on-the-Lake. One of the big features of the outing will be a ball game between teams from Sharon and Titusville, with horseshoe pitching stars on hand.

Reservations have been listed from Meadville, Titusville, Greenville, Farrell, Sharon, New Castle, Pittsburgh and other nearby points.

Members of the committee are endeavoring to get in touch with members of the 313th battalion but the roster is incomplete. Those not receiving notices by mail are requested to telephone or write to the following committee: Leroy Welk, 940 W. 6th street; Arthur Young, 1237 W. 8th street; F. L. Young Widow Is Under Arrest In Witchcraft Case

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 26.—A fiery cross which lit the sky of suburban Bellevue last night resulted today in the arrest of a young widow and the disclosure of an alleged witchcraft spell involving four families.

Mrs. Elizabeth Donovan, 34, mother of five children, was charged with disorderly conduct. Police admitted they arrested a man suspected of setting fire to the cross but declined to reveal his name. Another squad of Bellevue police sought a fortune teller who police believe was practicing witchcraft on Mrs. Donovan.

Drives 50 Miles After Being Shot

(International News Service)

BRIDGETON, N. J., July 26.—After driving 50 miles with a bullet wound in her neck, which bled profusely all the way, Gertrude Shone, 26, today lay in Bridgeton hospital here.

The young woman, victor in her single-handed race with death, collapsed in the office of Dr. M. F. Sewell and was rushed to the hospital.

Harry Stockley, 48, proprietor of a service station in Atlantic City, was arrested shortly after Miss Shone was brought to the hospital. The woman alleged the man shot her "because I wanted to leave Atlantic City and come here".

Stockley, police said, will be charged with atrocious assault and battery.

SECRETARY HULL SILENT ON CRISIS

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 26.—A new European war probably has been averted by Italy's decision to view the Austrian situation with calmness and to make no hasty move.

This was the opinion expressed in official circles here today following word that Premier Mussolini of Italy had decided to refrain from sending Italian troops across the Austrian frontier.

With Italy having promised military support to the Dollfuss regime if the Nazis attempted to gain control of Austria by force, the action Premier Mussolini might take in view of the assassination of Chancellor Dollfuss was regarded here as the pivot on which revolved the question of whether Europe, and perhaps the world, was to witness another war.

Peace Move.

The Italian dictator's decision to recognize the provisional government of Dr. Kurt Schuschnigg, former minister of the interior, as still representing the Dollfuss regime, was hailed here as a shining example of the wisdom that has marked Il Duce's recent moves in foreign affairs.

This development came before Prince Von Starhemberg assumed the chancellorship.

Esteem for the statesmanship of the Italian dictator mounted to new levels in official quarters as the result of his latest display of calmness in an event of such vital importance to the entire world.

Secretary of State Hull declined to comment on the events in Austria. He was receiving frequent communications from American Minister George S. Messersmith at Vienna concerning the situation, but most of them were considered of such a confidential nature that the state department declined to make them public.

Messersmith reported the provisional government apparently had the situation in hand at the moment, and the Nazi revolt appeared to have been a flare-up on the part of the younger members of the party, rather than a well-organized movement.

The American government has not been approached by any of the interested powers for counsel or cooperation in any international move to safeguard Austrian independence.

Indications were this government wished to maintain a distinct "hands-off" policy.

Identify Trio As Farrell Bandits

Men Held In Toledo For Dairy Holdup Recognized By Farrell Citizens

(International News Service)

TOLEDO, O., July 26.—Photographs and fingerprints of the three men under indictment for the $19,000 Page Dairy holdup here last week today were forwarded to South Bend and Fostoria police in an effort to link the trio with recent bank holdups in those cities.

Yesterday, police said, three citizens of Farrell, Pa., identified the men as the ones who staged a holdup at a club there July 5. The three, arrested by Michigan state police in Monroe 10 hours after the dairy robbery, are Sam Kaufman, Carl Lewis and Arnold Perry.

NUNS MAY RE-ENTER IRISH CIVIL SERVICE

(International News Service)

DUBLIN, July 26.—Nuns who wish to leave their convents and take up the jobs they previously held as clerks and stenographers in the Irish Free State government offices are to be given special facilities to enable them to re-enter the civil service.

An order to this effect has been issued by Eamon de Valera as a result of several requests made by former civil service girls, who became nuns, but who now wish to give up their religious life.

The only stipulation de Valera makes is that they must not have been in the convent for more than three years.

SPYING ON SPORTS

Central Press Sports Writer

The word James J. Johnston, Madison Square Garden's matchmaker, uses to describe his September heavyweight elimination melee is "colossal."

It's a good word, with a ring of circus press-agentry in it and before the events Johnston is planning reach mellow ripeness, there may be more of a circus aspect on the affair than even the wise-cracking Johnston now realizes.

It is Johnston's plan to bring together four wearers of boxing gloves who for the sake of the story can be called logical contenders for the world's heavyweight championship bauble now in possession of Max Baer.

These four are Primo Carnera, Steve Hamas, Walter Neusel and King Levinsky. Any one of the cauliflowers can become without warning the kind of clown folk in the farm belt spend their hay and oats harvest money to see when the big top comes to town. And, at least two of those named are rather more than likely to furnish not much fighting but a whole lot of good, clean fun.

Carnera, by benefit of his bulk, has been a potential Pierrot since he began his lumbering career. Even in such tragic moments as when he was losing his title under the buffeting blows of Max Baer, the ponderous Pisan hovered on the edge of comedy. Several of his ring appearances have been uproariously funny, including the bout on the Pacific coast when he was losing to Bombo Chevalier but won when a towel came flying into the ring from Bombo's corner.

The possibilities of another fistic festival between Carnera and Levinsky is attractive for those who are sticklers for silliness within the ropes rather than bloodshed. These two put on a show in Chicago two years ago that made the Nick Altrock-Al Schacht act seems serious by comparison.

Carnera's skill has been vastly over-rated by writers trying assiduously to point out that here was a great big man who really could box. Despite his reputation for carrying a lethal punch, he failed to do much damage to venerable Tommy Loughran in Florida last spring until he planted one of those violin cases of his on Tommy's tender foot, breaking an ankle bone. Carnera's knockout of Sharkey must be discounted a great deal by subsequent Sharkey showings.

As for Neusel and Hamas, I don't believe anyone connected with boxing seriously considers either as a championship possibility. Each has demonstrated in-and-out tendencies which are irreconcilable with championship caliber.

The eliminations should be colossal though, as Johnston says. If the matchmaker could find another pair like Carnera and the Kingfish, he would have a full-fledged circus on his hands, and could promote it as such. The boxers might even carry slapsticks to make it merrier.

Employes Of Big Circus Ill With Typhoid Fever

Sixty Employes Of Ringling And Barnum And Bailey Show Have Disease

MANY MORE ARE ALSO IN HOSPITAL

Believe Disease Contracted By Drinking Tainted Water At Previous Stands

(International News Service)

DETROIT, July 26—A federal health investigator was expected here today from Washington to assist state and city health officials in an investigation of a typhoid epidemic which swept the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey circus and placed 85 employees in hospitals for treatment.

Ten of the latest victims arrived here last night from Flint, Mich., where the show had gone after its performance here. Dr. Henry F. Vaughan, city health commissioner said 60 of the employees definitely have the disease while the remainder are undergoing observation. Some, he said, are in serious condition.

The source of the epidemic was not known but it was believed some of the workers contracted the disease by drinking tainted water in previous stands.

No attempt was made to close the circus Dr. Vaughn said because of the possibility that some of the employees would attempt to flee and thereby spread the typhoid germs over the country. The entire personnel is undergoing daily examinations.

Tubers Strengthen Lead In Second Half

ELLWOOD CITY, July 26.—Displaying a marvelous brand of baseball, the Shelby Social Club nine of Ellwood City soundly trimmed Beaver, the first half winners, by a 9-0 score at Beaver last evening. The result gave the Tubers a two-game edge on their nearest rival in the Beaver County League, New Brighton.

Paul McCullough held the spotlight with some wonderful pitching, yielding only four hits. Ellwood pounded out 11 hits from Ewing and Todd. The manner in which the Tube City wielded the bludgeon during the game drew praise from the large crowd present. Ellwood scored three runs in the fifth inning, four in the sixth and two in the seventh.

The Tubers are scheduled to meet New Brighton next Saturday afternoon in the valley town. A victory over New Brighton will practically insure the second half crown for Ellwood.

Tax Cards Soon To Go Out In Ellwood

Board And Council Finally Approve Tax Collector's Personal Bond Here

ELLWOOD CITY, July 26.—Tax cards can finally be made out and sent to the people of Ellwood City and the matter of collecting the duplicate and receiving the old can be given attention of the tax collector.

This was made possible with the final approval of the Tax Collector, T. A. E. McConahy's bond by the Borough Council and school board. The former approved it last week and the latter last Tuesday.

The board has had some considerable discussion on the matter of an appointment of a deputy collector. No action was taken on this. At their meeting the board authorized the secretary to change a resolution to deposit $75 in a bank for a needed purpose.

Watrous Ties With Sarazen

Finishes Even With Defending Champion On First Eighteen Holes

(International News Service)

PARK COUNTRY CLUB, BUFFALO, July 26—Matching stroke for stroke in a desperate battle, Gene Sarazen, the defending champion, and Al Watrous, of Birmingham, Mich., today finished all square at the end of first 18 holes in their 36 hole 2nd round match in the professional golfers association championship.

Breaking par figures for the rain-soaked course, Sarazen and Watrous finished with sparkling 71's, the result of an outraging 37 by each and sub par 34's coming home.

They turned for home all even, after playing steady golf for the first nine in one over par figures.

Blame Opening Of Clarion River Dam For Killing Fish

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 26.—Opening of a power company dam on the Clarion river for repair work was blamed by the Fish commission today for the death of thousands of fish in that river.

The report was made after representatives of the commission had been sent to the scene because of numerous complaints from that area. The power company was not named in the commission's announcement.

Opening of the dam dropped the water level 33 feet and polluted the stream, the commission said.

Five Generations In This Family

Four generations living in one family is a fairly common thing in Lawrence County but five generations is unusual. The Dennis family of this city has this distinction. Beginning with Mrs. Mary Dennis the generations are as follow: John B. Dennis her son, Marry Dennis a grandson. Mrs. Catherine Madden a great granddaughter and 15 month Edward Madden, a great-great grandson.

Harry Dennis of the third generation also has the distinction of being a grandfather at 33 years of age.

Man Questioned About Dillinger Face Lifting Jumps To His Death

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, July 26.—A key witness in the government's investigation of the activities of John Dillinger and his gang pals in the weeks before Dillinger was killed, today jumped to his death when federal agents sought to question him.

He was James Johnston Probasco, 67, in whose home, it was reported Dillinger and Homer Van Meter, a leading Dillinger lieutenant, had their faces lifted by surgery and their finger tips blurred with acid in attempts to thwart identification

Confesses Part

He had been arrested last night and was taken to the government bureau for questioning this morning. While S. P. Cowley, in charge of the bureau in the absence of Melvin Purvis, and other agents were out of the room he climbed to a skyscraper window and jumped. He died instantly.

Just before his ended his life, it was reliably reported, Probasco had admitted to Crowley, the agent credited in some quarters with killing Dillinger, that Dillinger and Van Meter had used his home as a "hospital" for their face-lifting and finger-blurring operations.

New Trial Refused In Dambrosia Case

Convicted Of Failing To Stop Or Give His Name After Auto Accident

In an opinion handed down by Judge James A. Chambers at court this morning, a new trial was refused Frank Dambrosia, in a case in which he was convicted of failing to render assistance, failing to give his name, and failing to exhibit his driver's license after an automobile accident.

Dambrosia collided with a car driven by Joe Gordon on the New Castle-Beaver road. Gordon and his wife were injured and it is claimed that Dambrosia failed to render the assistance provided for under the motor code. At the trial of the case he claimed that he was not driving the car, that he was in the back seat.

However, Joe Gordon testified that he was driving the car, and that after the accident he got out of the front door next to the driver's seat. Elizabeth Gordon, who was in the car, testified the same way, as did Agnes Lukatis, also an occupant of the Gordon car.

Several persons who were in the Dambrosia car claimed that he was not driving it. The testimony of the occupants of both cars was directly conflicting.

Judge Chambers holds that it is not the province of the court to interpret which side is telling the truth. That was a question for the jury, and the jury found that Dambrosia was driving.

Machine Gunners To Have Reunion

Former Members Of 313th Machine Gun Battalion To Gather August 5

Arrangements have been completed for the 313th machine gun battalion reunion, which is to be held on Sunday, August 5, at Pulakos-on-the-Lake. One of the big features of the outing will be a ball game between teams from Sharon and Titusville, with horseshoe pitching stars on hand.

Reservations have been listed from Meadville, Titusville, Greenville, Farrell, Sharon, New Castle, Pittsburgh and other nearby points.

Young Widow Is Under Arrest In Witchcraft Case

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 26.—A fiery cross which lit the sky of suburban Bellevue last night resulted today in the arrest of a young widow and the disclosure of an alleged witchcraft spell involving four families.

Mrs. Elizabeth Donovan, 34, mother of five children, was charged with disorderly conduct. Police admitted they arrested a man suspected of setting fire to the cross but declined to reveal his name. Another squad of Bellevue police sought a fortune teller who police believe was practicing witchcraft on Mrs. Donovan.

Drives 50 Miles After Being Shot

(International News Service)

BRIDGETON, N. J., July 26.—After driving 50 miles with a bullet wound in her neck, which bled profusely all the way, Gertrude Shone, 26, today lay in Bridgeton hospital here.

The young woman, victor in her single-handed race with death, collapsed in the office of Dr. M. F. Sewell and was rushed to the hospital.

Harry Stockley, 48, proprietor of a service station in Atlantic City, was arrested shortly after Miss Shone was brought to the hospital. The woman alleged the man shot her "because I wanted to leave Atlantic City and come here".

Stockley, police said, will be charged with atrocious assault and battery.

Believe Action Of Italy Averts European War

Washington Believes That Calmness Of Italy Has Aided Peace

SECRETARY HULL SILENT ON CRISIS

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 26.—A new European war probably has been averted by Italy's decision to view the Austrian situation with calmness and to make no hasty move.

This was the opinion expressed in official circles here today following word that Premier Mussolini of Italy had decided to refrain from sending Italian troops across the Austrian frontier.

With Italy having promised military support to the Dollfuss regime if the Nazis attempted to gain control of Austria by force, the action Premier Mussolini might take in view of the assassination of Chancellor Dollfuss was regarded here as the pivot on which revolved the question of whether Europe, and perhaps the world, was to witness another war.

Peace Move.

The Italian dictator's decision to recognize the provisional government of Dr. Kurt Schuschnigg, former minister of the interior, as still representing the Dollfuss regime, was hailed here as a shining example of the wisdom that has marked Il Duce's recent moves in foreign affairs.

This development came before Prince Von Starhemberg assumed the chancellorship.

Esteem for the statesmanship of the Italian dictator mounted to new levels in official quarters as the result of his latest display of calmness in an event of such vital importance to the entire world.

Secretary of State Hull declined to comment on the events in Austria. He was receiving frequent communications from American Minister George S. Messersmith at Vienna concerning the situation, but most of them were considered of such a confidential nature that the state department declined to make them public.

Messersmith reported the provisional government apparently had the situation in hand at the moment, and the Nazi revolt appeared to have been a flare-up on the part of the younger members of the party, rather than a well-organized movement.

The American government has not been approached by any of the interested powers for counsel or cooperation in any international move to safeguard Austrian independence.

Indications were this government wished to maintain a distinct "hands-off" policy.

Identify Trio As Farrell Bandits

Men Held In Toledo For Dairy Holdup Recognized By Farrell Citizens

(International News Service)

TOLEDO, O., July 26.—Photographs and fingerprints of the three men under indictment for the $19,000 Page Dairy holdup here last week today were forwarded to South Bend and Fostoria police in an effort to link the trio with recent bank holdups in those cities.

Yesterday, police said, three citizens of Farrell, Pa., identified the men as the ones who staged a holdup at a club there July 5. The three, arrested by Michigan state police in Monroe 10 hours after the dairy robbery, are Sam Kaufman, Carl Lewis and Arnold Perry.

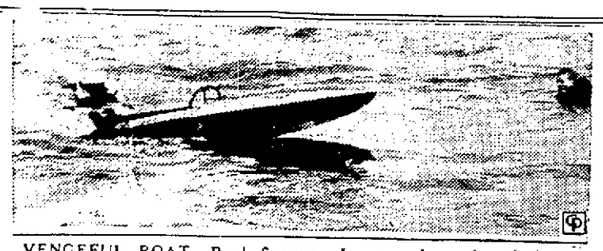

NUNS MAY RE-ENTER IRISH CIVIL SERVICE

(International News Service)

DUBLIN, July 26.—Nuns who wish to leave their convents and take up the jobs they previously held as clerks and stenographers in the Irish Free State government offices are to be given special facilities to enable them to re-enter the civil service.

An order to this effect has been issued by Eamon de Valera as a result of several requests made by former civil service girls, who became nuns, but who now wish to give up their religious life.

The only stipulation de Valera makes is that they must not have been in the convent for more than three years.

Great Britain And U. S. Will Play For Title

United States Tennis Team Is Favored To Defeat English Stars

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 26.—The United States plays Great Britain for the Davis cup, highest trophy of the tennis world, on Saturday and the wise men of the British Isles, laying aside their traditional patriotic support of their countrymen, today are betting 3 to 2 that those surprising Yankees will be able to take the historic cup back to its native land.

There is no gainsaying the fact that the American Davis cuppers created a tremendous impression when they came from behind to eliminate the strong Australian team, 3 matches to 2.

The Americans, in sporting parlance, are "hot" and there is every reason to suspect they will remain that way through the finals with the British.

Big Crowd Sees Bocce Contests

Casa Savoia Trims Sons Of Italy Under Lights On Wednesday Night

Displaying much accuracy, the Casa Savoia bocce team annexed another victory Wednesday night, under the lights, defeating the strong Sons of Italy team, 16-15 and 16-11. A large crowd saw the contests, on the Casa Savoia grounds, South Mill street.

The Sons of Italy team, aided by the splendid performance of Bruno, came back strong to trim the Duce of Abruzzi bocce team, of Croton, later in the evening. The Croton representatives took the first game, 16-7. The Sons of Italy captured the next two tilts, 16-10 and 16-11.

The scores:

Casa Savoia—16; Sons of Italy—15.

Casa Savoia—16; S. of Italy—11.
Sons of Italy—7; Croton—16.
Sons of Italy—16; Croton—10.
Sons of Italy—16; Croton—11.

The Casa Savoia team consisted of: J. Paglia, Petrucci, C. Paglia, Coci, Rotunno and Falconi; Sons of Italy team: DiPaollo, Burelli, Bruno, DeCarbo, Ricci and Armino. The Duke of Abruzzi team: S. Malizio, Cook, Stone, Barnbee.

National Champ' May Appear Here

ADVANCE SALE INCREASES DAILY

Troy Bellini, amateur bantamweight champion of the United States will probably box Ted Kara, a runner-up in a Golden Glove championship bout at the Police Benefit Boxing show to be held here August 10, it was announced today.

Negotiations between the police and Jimmy Avon, manager of the national champion were started Tuesday and it is expected that Avon, who is known and related here will consent to let his titleholder appear in a bout with the classy Kara.

Should this bout materialize the fans will see one of the best displays of scientific boxing they have witnessed in some time and with the Mickie Cutic-Lew Tamber bantamweight bout as another test between boys no bigger than a grasshopper there will be no dearth of skill.

Many Reservations

According to Chief Haven approximately 1500 reserved tickets have been already disposed of and within 48 hours there will be probably 500 additional tickets in the hands of persons who wish to held the cause along. All money will be used to buy police equipment. This does not include uniforms.

The plan calls for the ring to be pitched on the running track directly in front of the concrete stadium. The ring will be surrounded by chairs which are being donated by the various funeral directors of the city and the lighting effect will be provided by L. B. Round of the Pennsylvania Power company.

Several well known contractors have informed Police Chief Haven that they will supervise the placing together of the ring that formerly held such stellar battles at the Castle bowl. City police will direct the crowds and ushers have already been provided for.

Registered Amateurs

All of the boxers who will appear on the police calendar are registered with the Amateur Athletic union. Before any of them enter the ring they will be weighed and put through a medical examination by local physicians. A report as to each boxer's condition is kept.

There will be no delays and promptly at 8:15 p. m., the timekeeper will ring the bell. Mayor Mayne will hop through the ropes, introduce the principals. An amplifier is to be erected and his voice will reach every section of the big field.

Jimmy Marks, Jr., New Junior Champ

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 26.—Victory's laurels crowned the head of shy 18-year-old Jimmy Marks, Jr., Oakmont Country Club juvenile, today as the new Western Pennsylvania Golf Association junior champion.

Marks ascended the throne in the titular round of the 14th annual championship at Stanton Heights Golf Club yesterday after an extra-hole gruelling grind with Charles Evans, Jr., of the Wanango Country Club, Oil City.

Evans showed his mettle as a putter and approacher in the greater part of the match, but faltered long enough at the critical stage to cost him the title before the son of Kiski's famous dean and producer of nationally known gridiron players.

New Tennis Star Looms On Horizon

(International News Service)

SEABRIGHT, N. J., July 26.—A new star twinkled in the tennis firmament last night.

Gracyn Wheeler, whose first contact with the game was made eight years ago when she found an old racquet and ball up in her attic and tried them out against the garage wall, was the newcomer.

She won her place among the elite by beating the Baroness Maud Levi in the quarter-final round of the Seabright Club's annual invitation tournament, and this afternoon she meets Carolin Babcock, Wightman Cup star and fifth ranking player of the country.

Scarazzos Take American League Victory At Canyon Field Wednesday

Scarazzos topped the Tolan A. C. last night at Canyon Field 11 to 8 in an American league battle. The victory keeps the Scarazzos in the American league pennant race for the second half championship.

Bartlett gave the Tolans 14 hits but kept them scattered. The Scarazzos found Rogers for 19 hits. The heaviest hitters were Valiensi, Vigiano and Bartlett. To date the Scarazzos have taken the measure of the Tolans four times. Engs, Robinson and Payne, featured for the colored boys.

THE SPORT PATROL

By JOHN J. MAHER, JR.

RESERVED STRENGTH.

The Tigers are in first place in the American League because their regulars have thus far been able to escape injuries. Detroit has a team worthy of a pennant as far as the first twelve men are concerned but if anything happens to the regulars they will probably topple quicker than a lion eats raw beef steak.

Looking over the roster we find such reserves as Clifton and Schuble in the infield, Doljack and White in the outfield, Hayworth behind the plate, and Fischer, Frasier, Hamlin, and Hogsett in the box.

It isn't so good for a pennant contender, is it? Hayworth is a better than average second string catcher, yet Detroit would miss Cochrane more than any other man on the team. Without Mickey the pitching staff wouldn't be able to keep the Tigers in the first division.

Where would the Auto City be if they had to play without Goslin, Fox, Owens, and Bridges at different intervals throughout the season? That is the situation in which the Yankees have battled thus far with Ruth, Combs, Lazzeri, and Allen on the shelf at different times. Detroit, under a similar handicap, would be nowhere near the present Yankee position.

In contrast to the condition in Detroit, the Chicago Cubs are an example of the other extreme. Their presence in the flag fight is due chiefly to their reserve strength. All the regulars have had to have assistance at some time due to injury or illness.

When Bush was injured and Warneke lost weight, Jim Weaver came to the front. Babe Phelps filled in for Gabby Hartnett. Dolph Camilli took care of first base when Grimm's back bothered him. Hack and Galan have been called into service a number of times for Herman, Jurgis, and English.

The Cubs have molded Klein, Cuyler, Babe Herman, Stephenson, and Stainback into various outfield combinations. The hitting of these outfielders has been an important factor. Stainback's batting average isn't so impressive now but at the time he was in Cuyler's position his hitting was satisfactory.

The Ferrell Deal.

There are many fans who are sparing no words in proclaiming that Cleveland pulled the prize boner of 1934 in the Ferrell deal. They point to the record of Ferrell as compared with that of Weiland and then begin a doleful tale of what might have been.

A statistical study of the pitching records does make Cleveland's judgment seem sluggish but the story doesn't stop at that point—only the disgruntled fans stop there.

The first thing they forget is the cash, amounting to something like $25,000, that Mr. Bradley pocketed in the deal. And $25,000 looks good to me, even when placed along side of Ferrell's pitching record.

And what if Cleveland hadn't traded their big right-hander? They would be about $25,000 poorer with an ineligible player on the roster in place of a southpaw whose ability is greater than his present pitching record indicates.

Ferrell never intended to pitch another ball for Cleveland at any price. He was constantly in trouble with the manager and the front office. The fans rode him for his childish antics on the pitching mound. So Ferrell decided that he would much rather fish in Carolina than play ball for Cleveland again.

So facing the facts as they were, Alva Bradley simply made the best deal possible. $25,000 plus Lefty Weiland for a pitcher who didn't even figure in the Cleveland's plans could hardly be called a poor deal.

Giants Leading By Sheer Power

Powerful Hitters And Crackerjack Pitchers Keep Giants Up

INDIANS WIN FROM ATHLETICS

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, July 26.—The late John McGraw used to say the easiest way to win ball games was to shut off the other fellow's power. Of course, to do that you must have pitching. John figured all the power a team boasted was concentrated in three or four men and if you could stop them, you could win.

On that basis, the New York Giants are the most powerful team in baseball. You don't believe it? Well, let's take a look at the records.

The Giants' power is concentrated in four men—Terry, Moore, Ott and O'Doul. Their combined batting average is .349 which tops the combined average of any other quartet on any major league team you can name. With those four plus four great pitchers—Hubbel, Schumacher, Fitzsimmons and Parmelee—it is no surprise to find the Giants leading the National League.

Braves Take Two.

It's surprising to find how closely the power of the teams follow the standing of the clubs and where there is any slight change you will note that it is due to weakness in pitching.

Chick Hafey furnished most of the power for the Reds yesterday, getting a homer in each half of a double header, but it wasn't enough and the Braves took two, 7 to 3 and 2 to 1.

George Earnshaw scored the first shut-out the White Sox have enjoyed this year when he spiked the siege guns of the Senators. George held them to seven scattered hits and the Sox breezed in, 4 to 0.

The Indians overpowered the A's, 8 to 3 and the Red Sox put on a two-run rally in the ninth to beat the Tigers, 9 to 7.

Sammy Byrd took the place of the injured Earl Combs and his homer gave the Yanks a 5-4 decision over the Browns and brought them a step nearer the league leading Tigers.

Merchants Top Ryantown 8 To 7

Shaftic And Bauman Have Better Of Book And Hill In Pitching Battle

East New Castle Merchants topped the Ryantown team 8 to 7 in a fast and well played game at the Shenango High field last night. This was a National Independent league game. The game was called at the end of the sixth on account of darkness.

Shaftic and Bauman outpitched Hill and Book to take the decision, allowing only six hits to Ryantown, while the Merchants found the Ryantown heavers for 10 hits. The heaviest slugging was done by A. Bauman, Shaftic, Maxwell, Hartman and Maher.

Gene Sarazen Among Stars Winning First Round Matches In National PGA

(International News Service)

BUFFALO, July 26.—Many veterans of many golf campaigns were missing today as the second round matches of the 17th annual professional golfers association tournament at the Park Country Club got under way.

Many met their fate at the hands of youngsters yesterday in the series of 36-hole matches which sliced the elect field of 32 qualifiers down to 16.

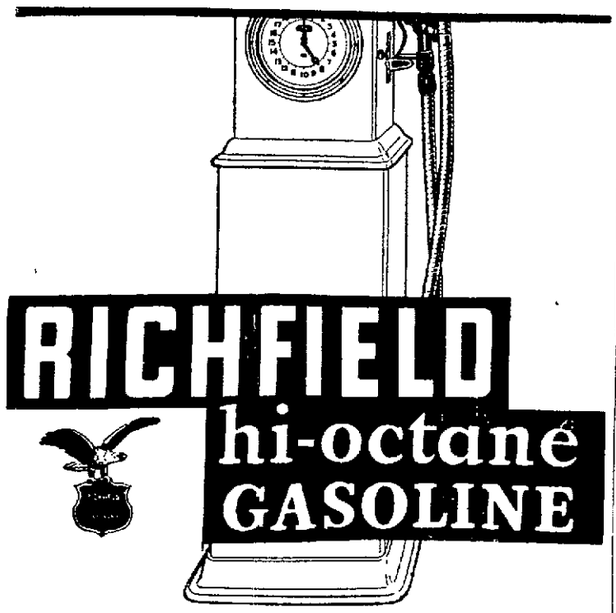

But Gene Sarazen, defending champion, won his place in today's matches by defeating Herman Barron, of Port Chester, N. Y. Today he meets Al Watrous, of Birmingham.

Sarazen finds himself in the "tough" bracket of the championship 16, along with Harry Cooper, of Glen Ellyn, Ill., who meets Craig Wood, of Deal, N. J. Bracketed in this eight too was Ky Laffoon, the Denver sensation who slashed his way to a 12 to 10 victory over Horton Smith, of Chicago yesterday.

But if it is society's fault when one man becomes a burglar, how does another with the same start become a fine citizen?

The Town Crier

All New Castle Listens To ....

When your grandfather's grand-dad had merchandise to sell or rooms at his inn to let he told the town crier about it. The crier told the rest of the village and grand-dad paid him plenty to do it.

Daily News Ads took over the town crier's job long ago. They don't have to depend on lung-power to get results . . . wise buyers check the Want Ads without being told. Daily News Want Ads get those results at lowest cost too—as you've found out if you have used them. And, best of all, they get them FAST!

SPYING ON SPORTS

Central Press Sports Writer

The word James J. Johnston, Madison Square Garden's matchmaker, uses to describe his September heavyweight elimination melee is "colossal."

It's a good word, with a ring of circus press-agentry in it and before the events Johnston is planning reach mellow ripeness, there may be more of a circus aspect on the affair than even the wise-cracking Johnston now realizes.

It is Johnston's plan to bring together four wearers of boxing gloves who for the sake of the story can be called logical contenders for the world's heavyweight championship bauble now in possession of Max Baer.

These four are Primo Carnera, Steve Hamas, Walter Neusel and King Levinsky. Any one of the cauliflowers can become without warning the kind of clown folk in the farm belt spend their hay and oats harvest money to see when the big top comes to town. And, at least two of those named are rather more than likely to furnish not much fighting but a whole lot of good, clean fun.

Carnera, by benefit of his bulk, has been a potential Pierrot since he began his lumbering career. Even in such tragic moments as when he was losing his title under the buffeting blows of Max Baer, the ponderous Pisan hovered on the edge of comedy. Several of his ring appearances have been uproariously funny, including the bout on the Pacific coast when he was losing to Bombo Chevalier but won when a towel came flying into the ring from Bombo's corner.

The possibilities of another fistic festival between Carnera and Levinsky is attractive for those who are sticklers for silliness within the ropes rather than bloodshed. These two put on a show in Chicago two years ago that made the Nick Altrock-Al Schacht act seems serious by comparison.

Carnera's skill has been vastly over-rated by writers trying assiduously to point out that here was a great big man who really could box. Despite his reputation for carrying a lethal punch, he failed to do much damage to venerable Tommy Loughran in Florida last spring until he planted one of those violin cases of his on Tommy's tender foot, breaking an ankle bone. Carnera's knockout of Sharkey must be discounted a great deal by subsequent Sharkey showings.

As for Neusel and Hamas, I don't believe anyone connected with boxing seriously considers either as a championship possibility. Each has demonstrated in-and-out tendencies which are irreconcilable with championship caliber.

The eliminations should be colossal though, as Johnston says. If the matchmaker could find another pair like Carnera and the Kingfish, he would have a full-fledged circus on his hands, and could promote it as such. The boxers might even carry slapsticks to make it merrier.

Employes Of Big Circus Ill With Typhoid Fever

Sixty Employes Of Ringling And Barnum And Bailey Show Have Disease

Believe Disease Contracted By Drinking Tainted Water At Previous Stands

(International News Service)

DETROIT, July 26—A federal health investigator was expected here today from Washington to assist state and city health officials in an investigation of a typhoid epidemic which swept the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey circus and placed 85 employees in hospitals for treatment.

Ten of the latest victims arrived here last night from Flint, Mich., where the show had gone after its performance here. Dr. Henry F. Vaughan, city health commissioner said 60 of the employees definitely have the disease while the remainder are undergoing observation. Some, he said, are in serious condition.

The source of the epidemic was not known but it was believed some of the workers contracted the disease by drinking tainted water in previous stands.

No attempt was made to close the circus Dr. Vaughn said because of the possibility that some of the employees would attempt to flee and thereby spread the typhoid germs over the country. The entire personnel is undergoing daily examinations.

Wurtemburg Union To Have Another Contest Friday

Silver Medal Contest To Be Held In Slippery Rock Presbyterian Church

ELLWOOD CITY, July 26.—All arrangements for the second silver medal contest of the Wurtemburg W. C. T. U., to be held Friday evening in the Slippery Rock Presbyterian church have been completed and an interesting program has been arranged for the occasion.

It is announced as follows:

Song by the assembly.

Selection by the Ladies trio of the Wurtemburg M. E. church.

Vocal solo—William Boyer.

Violin solo—Richard Timbiln.

Silver Medal Contest.

Those to participate in the latter are Emerson White, Edgar Nagel, William Friday, Franklin Long and Chauncey Boots. Robert Liebendorfer who took first place with his oration at the last contest, will repeat it tomorrow.

The judges for the contest are Mrs. W. G. Wilkins, County president of the W. C. T. U., Rev. T. G. Berger, pastor of the Slippery Rock Presbyterian church, and Rev. A. M. Stevenson, pastor of the local First Presbyterian church.

The men's quartet of the Wurtemburg M. E. church will bring the program to a close with one or two selections.

Tubers Strengthen Lead In Second Half

ELLWOOD CITY, July 26.—Displaying a marvelous brand of baseball, the Shelby Social Club nine of Ellwood City soundly trimmed Beaver, the first half winners, by a 9-0 score at Beaver last evening. The result gave the Tubers a two-game edge on their nearest rival in the Beaver County League, New Brighton.

Paul McCullough held the spotlight with some wonderful pitching, yielding only four hits. Ellwood pounded out 11 hits from Ewing and Todd. The manner in which the Tube City wielded the bludgeon during the game drew praise from the large crowd present. Ellwood scored three runs in the fifth inning, four in the sixth and two in the seventh.

The Tubers are scheduled to meet New Brighton next Saturday afternoon in the valley town. A victory over New Brighton will practically insure the second half crown for Ellwood.

Tax Cards Soon To Go Out In Ellwood

ELLWOOD CITY, July 26.—Tax cards can finally be made out and sent to the people of Ellwood City and the matter of collecting the duplicate and receiving the old can be given attention of the tax collector.

This was made possible with the final approval of the Tax Collector, T. A. E. McConahy's bond by the Borough Council and school board. The former approved it last week and the latter last Tuesday.

The board has had some considerable discussion on the matter of an appointment of a deputy collector. No action was taken on this. At their meeting the board authorized the secretary to change a resolution to deposit $75 in a bank for a needed purpose.

Watrous Ties With Sarazen

Finishes Even With Defending Champion On First Eighteen Holes

(International News Service)

PARK COUNTRY CLUB, BUFFALO, July 26—Matching stroke for stroke in a desperate battle, Gene Sarazen, the defending champion, and Al Watrous, of Birmingham, Mich., today finished all square at the end of first 18 holes in their 36 hole 2nd round match in the professional golfers association championship.

Breaking par figures for the rain-soaked course, Sarazen and Watrous finished with sparkling 71's, the result of an outraging 37 by each and sub par 34's coming home.

They turned for home all even, after playing steady golf for the first nine in one over par figures.

Blame Opening Of Clarion River Dam For Killing Fish

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 26.—Opening of a power company dam on the Clarion river for repair work was blamed by the Fish commission today for the death of thousands of fish in that river.

The report was made after representatives of the commission had been sent to the scene because of numerous complaints from that area. The power company was not named in the commission's announcement.

Opening of the dam dropped the water level 33 feet and polluted the stream, the commission said.

Five Generations In This Family

Four generations living in one family is a fairly common thing in Lawrence County but five generations is unusual. The Dennis family of this city has this distinction. Beginning with Mrs. Mary Dennis the generations are as follow: John B. Dennis her son, Marry Dennis a grandson, Mrs. Catherine Madden a great granddaughter and 15 month Edward Madden, a great-great grandson.

Harry Dennis of the third generation also has the distinction of being a grandfather at 33 years of age.

Man Questioned About Dillinger Face Lifting Jumps To His Death

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, July 26.—A key witness in the government's investigation of the activities of John Dillinger and his gang pals in the weeks before Dillinger was killed, today jumped to his death when federal agents sought to question him.

He was James Johnston Probasco, 67, in whose home, it was reported Dillinger and Homer Van Meter, a leading Dillinger lieutenant, had their faces lifted by surgery and their finger tips blurred with acid in attempts to thwart identification.

Confesses Part

He had been arrested last night and was taken to the government bureau for questioning this morning. While S. P. Cowley, in charge of the bureau in the absence of Melvin Purvis, and other agents were out of the room he climbed to a skyscraper window and jumped. He died instantly.

Just before his ended his life, it was reliably reported, Probasco had admitted to Crowley, the agent credited in some quarters with killing Dillinger, that Dillinger and Van Meter had used his home as a "hospital" for their face-lifting and finger-blurring operations.

New Trial Refused In Dambrosia Case

Convicted Of Failing To Stop Or Give His Name After Auto Accident

In an opinion handed down by Judge James A. Chambers at court this morning, a new trial was refused Frank Dambrosia, in a case in which he was convicted of failing to render assistance, failing to give his name, and failing to exhibit his driver's license after an automobile accident.

Dambrosia collided with a car driven by Joe Gordon on the New Castle-Beaver road. Gordon and his wife were injured and it is claimed that Dambrosia failed to render the assistance provided for under the motor code. At the trial of the case he claimed that he was not driving the car, that he was in the back seat.

However, Joe Gordon testified that he was driving the car, and that after the accident he got out of the front door next to the driver's seat. Elizabeth Gordon, who was in the car, testified the same way, as did Agnes Lukatis, also an occupant of the Gordon car.

Several persons who were in the Dambrosia car claimed that he was not driving it. The testimony of the occupants of both cars was directly conflicting.

Judge Chambers holds that it is not the province of the court to interpret which side is telling the truth. That was a question for the jury, and the jury found that Dambrosia was driving.

Machine Gunners To Have Reunion

Former Members Of 313th Machine Gun Battalion To Gather August 5

Arrangements have been completed for the 313th machine gun battalion reunion, which is to be held on Sunday, August 5, at Pulakson-the-Lake. One of the big features of the outing will be a ball game between teams from Sharon and Titusville, with horseshoe pitching stars on hand.

Reservations have been listed from Meadville, Titusville, Greenville, Farrell, Sharon, New Castle, Pittsburgh and other nearby points.

Members of the committee are endeavoring to get in touch with members of the 313th battalion but the roster is incomplete. Those not receiving notices by mail are requested to telephone or write to the following committee: Leroy Welk, 940 W. 6th street; Arthur Young, 1237 W. 8th street; F. L. Searchrist, 1205 W. 8th street; John Brei, 1107 W. 7th street, and John Kilmore, 1150 W. 7th street, all of Erie.

Young Widow Is Under Arrest In Witchcraft Case

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 26.—A fiery cross which lit the sky of suburban Bellevue last night resulted today in the arrest of a young widow and the disclosure of an alleged witchcraft spell involving four families.

Mrs. Elizabeth Donovan, 34, mother of five children, was charged with disorderly conduct. Police admitted they arrested a man suspected of setting fire to the cross but declined to reveal his name. Another squad of Bellevue police sought a fortune teller who police believe was practicing witchcraft on Mrs. Donovan.

Drives 50 Miles After Being Shot

(International News Service)

BRIDGETON, N. J,. July 26.—After driving 50 miles with a bullet wound in her neck, which bled profusely all the way, Gertrude Shone, 26, today lay in Bridgeton hospital here.

The young woman, victor in her single-handed race with death, collapsed in the office of Dr. M. F. Sewell and was rushed to the hospital.

Harry Stockley, 48, proprietor of a service station in Atlantic City, was arrested shortly after Miss Shone was brought to the hospital. The woman alleged the man shot her "because I wanted to leave Atlantic City and come here".

Stockley, police said, will be charged with atrocious assault and battery.

Believe Action Of Italy Averts European War

Washington Believes That Calmness Of Italy Has Aided Peace

SECRETARY HULL SILENT ON CRISIS

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 26.—A new European war probably has been averted by Italy's decision to view the Austrian situation with calmness and to make no hasty move.

This was the opinion expressed in official circles here today following word that Premier Mussolini of Italy had decided to refrain from sending Italian troops across the Austrian frontier.

With Italy having promised military support to the Dollfuss regime if the Nazis attempted to gain control of Austria by force, the action Premier Mussolini might take in view of the assassination of Chancellor Dollfuss was regarded here as the pivot on which revolved the question of whether Europe, and perhaps the world, was to witness another war.

Peace Move.

The Italian dictator's decision to recognize the provisional government of Dr. Kurt Schuschnigg, former minister of the interior, as still representing the Dollfuss regime, was hailed here as a shining example of the wisdom that has marked Il Duce's recent moves in foreign affairs.

This development came before Prince Von Starhemberg assumed the chancellorship.

Esteem for the statesmanship of the Italian dictator mounted to new levels in official quarters as the result of his latest display of calmness in an event of such viral importance to the entire world.

Secretary of State Hull declined to comment on the events in Austria. He was receiving frequent communications from American Minister George S. Messersmith at Vienna concerning the situation, but most of them were considered of such a confidential nature that the state department declined to make them public.

Messersmith reported the provisional government apparently had the situation in hand at the moment, and the Nazi revolt appeared to have been a flare-up on the part of the younger members of the party, rather than a well-organized movement.

The American government has not been approached by any of the interested powers for counsel or cooperation in any international move to safeguard Austrian independence.

Indications were this government wished to maintain a distinct "hands-off" policy.

Identify Trio As Farrell Bandits

Men Held In Toledo For Dairy Holdup Recognized By Farrell Citizens

(International News Service)

TOLEDO, O., July 26.—Photographs and fingerprints of the three men under indictment for the $19,000 Page Dairy holdup here last week today were forwarded to South Bend and Fosteria police in an effort to link the trio with recent bank holdups in those cities.

Yesterday, police said, three citizens of Farrell, Pa., identified the men as the ones who staged a holdup at a club there July 5. The three, arrested by Michigan state police in Monroe 10 hours after the dairy robbery, are Sam Kaufman, Carl Lewis and Arnold Perry.

NUNS MAY RE-ENTER IRISH CIVIL SERVICE

(International News Service)

DUBLIN, July 26.—Nuns who wish to leave their convents and take up the jobs they previously held as clerks and stenographers in the Irish Free State government offices are to be given special facilities to enable them to re-enter the civil service.

An order to this effect has been issued by Eamon de Valera as a result of several requests made by former civil service girls, who became nuns, but who now wish to give up their religious life.

The only stipulation de Valera makes is that they must not have been in the convent for more than three years.

STOCKS

Market Prices Are Irregular

War Scare News From Europe Fails To Arouse Market

RAIL STOCKS APPEAR HEAVY

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 26.—Dullness and irregularity was Wall street's response to the war scare news today. Opening irregularly lower, the list showed some signs of firming towards the end of the first hour, as trading showed signs of broadening out.

Curiously enough the "war stocks" showed no great amount of activity and were among the weak spots at the opening. Issues such as Bethlehem, DuPont, United States Steel, International Nickel, Anaconda Copper, New York Shipbuilding and several others, picked as the possible beneficiaries of a war, opened with losses running to a point and did little more than firm along with the rest of the list. The steady undertone apparently reflected brokers' approval of Joseph Kennedy's speech yesterday.

Railroad stocks were heavy with New York Central, Atchison, Lackawanna and Southern Railway suffering losses running to nearly a point.

Edward Conway, Of Upper Darby, Pa., Wanted In Connection With Slaying

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, July 26—As the aftermath of a fight in which Edward Burgess, 21 of Shamokin, Pa., was fatally beaten with an automobile crank handle, police here today opened search for Edward Conway, son of an upper Darby lawyer.

Conway was wanted for questioning in connection with the fatal fight which was staged early today in front of a West Philadelphia taproom where a birthday celebration had been in progress.

Burgess died four hours after his admittance to the hospital.

No Word Received On Works Division

Indications Point To Shutdown Of RWD For August With Few Men Retained

No definite word has been received here as to the fate of the RWD for the month of August, but the indications are that there will be few men at work. The personnel of RWD workers was reduced again on Wednesday, making a total at work today of about 300.

It is felt that a small appropriation will be made for August which will permit the retentiton of the administrative force and a few men on projects to care for work which can not be abandoned. Among such workers would be men for to water the recently planted trees. To fail to water them now would be to lose most of them.

E. H. Robinson director of the Emergency Relief here is not in the city today, having gone to Philadelphia. Upon his return it is possible that he will have some definite word on the status of the RWD.

Close Forest To Check Fire

Allegheny National Forest Is Closed To Visitors Until Rains Come

(International News Service)

KANE, Pa., July 26.—Because of extremely dry conditions, Allegheny National forest, comprised of 400,000 acres of land in McKean, Warren, Forest and Elk counties, was ordered closed today by R. M. Evans, regional forester of Washington.

Until rains relieve the parched conditions of the woodlands only employes of oil, gas, mineral and lumber companies will be permitted in the forests Evans said.

To check the spread of fires, 14 of which have occurred in the past three days, members of the civilian conservation corps and forester rangers have been posted at strategic points. Seven hundred of this group extinguished a blaze 100 feet from one of the largest sections of virgin hemlock in the east.

All fire towers in this region have been manned this week for the first time in history. Heretofore the towers were occupied only during the spring and fall seasons.

Italy Prepares To Move Troops

Preparations For Use Of Brenner Pass Into Austria Are Reported

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 26.—Details of the military preparations Italy is making at the famous Brenner Pass from Italy into Austria were revealed today in an article in the London Daily Express by Selkirk Panton, the newspapers Vienna correspondent who has just made an automobile tour of the border.

Accord to Panton this territory is "nothing less than a war zone." More than 20,000 troops are concentrated behind the pass and seven squadron of the Italian airforces are now at Bolsano, 50 miles from the frontier.

Streets of the villages are cluttered up with military transports. The roads are full of soldiers and long columns of motor trucks are winding along the narrow mountain paths. Military engineers are laving underground telephone wires, artillery and machine gun emplacements.

War Leading Cause Of Death During Month Of April, Records Show

According to statistics, penumonia caused more deaths in Lawrence county than heart disease during the month of April.

The figures just released by the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the Pennsylvania Department of Health show the following leading causes of death in that month:

Tuberculosis 2: heart disease 16; cerebral hemorrhage, 8: pneumonia 17; influenza 1: diabetis 3: and appendicitis 1.

The penumonia rate was unusually high in comparison to other counties.

Births outnumbered deaths 75 to 56 during the month in New Castle and six infants under one year of age died. There were 12 pneumonia deaths in the city.

Nazi Movement Is Believed Doomed

Two Shots That Killed Dollfuss, Believed Death Knell For Nazis

(Copyright, 1934, By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 26—The two shots which killed diminutive Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss, Austria's "little Napolean" also sounded the death knell of the Nazi movement in Austria, Edgar L. Prochnik, the Austrian minster to Washington, declared today in an interview with International News Service.

Arriving hurriedly back to the Austrian legation from a nearby seaside resort, Prochnik predicted the merciless assassination of Chancellor Dollfuss at the hands of fanatical Nazis would prove a devastating boomerang against the Nazi movement in Austria.

"The majority of the Austrian people loved our Chancellor," Prochnik said. "The Austrian Nazis struck themselves a death blow assassinating him. I believe the consequences of his death will be a severe reaction throughout Austria against the entire Nazi movement. Those who may have felt some sympathy for the Nazi movement now will be turned bitter.

"The Nazis made a great mistake. They would have been treated much more harshly had it not been for Chancelor Dollfuss. He deplored blodshed and killing, even of his enemies.

Residents Clamor For Dust Relief

Residents of the west end of Sheridan avenue, Euclid avenue and North Mercer street are aroused today over what they term a piece of municipal blundering. Mercer street between Sheridan and Euclid has been worked by the city scraper until the street has become a miniature Sahara.

Every time a car passes over this stretch the dust rises in huge clouds.

In an attempt to lay the dust nuisance residents say the street department sent up some oil which has been put on in spots but this has not abated the nuisance.

Hope To Settle Chicago Strike

Secret Peace Proposal In Stock Handlers Strike Is Given Employers

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, July 26.—Hopes for an early settlement of the strike of 800 stock handlers which has tied up activities at the Union Stock Yards rested today on a secret peace proposal presented to employers by federal conciliators.

Efforts of the regional labor board to bring an end to the strike were spurred on by sporadic violence in which a guard and three workmen were attacked by strike demonstrators. Louis Heller and John Wilson, strikebreakers, were beaten and stabbed with pitchforks.

The police guard in the yards was doubled when demonstrators threatened to attack railroad coaches used as sleeping quarters for strikebreakers.

Federal conciliators held a lengthy meeting with strikers' officials and officers of the Union Stockyards and Transit Company, the employers, at which a basis of settlement was presented. Details of the plan were kept secret.

WOMAN FOUND DEAD

(International News Service)

BRADFORD, Pa., July 26.—A coroner's inquest was planned here today in the death of Dorothy Grill, Shinglehouse, Pa., native, whose lifeless body was found by hotel employes here when they entered her room after failing to hear from the woman since she registered Monday night.

Authorities expressed the belief she killed herself by mixing poison with a soft drink.

Europeans Are Not Wanting War

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 26—Possibilities of a general European war as a result of the assassination of Chancellor Dollfuss of Austria are remote, in the opinion of Norman H. Davis, American ambassador-at-large, who returned today from Europe.

While declining to be quoted directly, Davis indicated he does not believe the Austrian crisis will lead to more than local disturbances. The people of Europe, he stressed, especially the women, do not want war.

Even if Europe should become engulfed in conflict, Davis believes, the United States is not likely to become involved.

Another passenger aboard Davis' ship was John F. Montgomery, ambassador to Hungary, to whom the news of Dollfuss' assassination came as a shock.

"I saw him three weeks ago in Budapest," Montgomery said. "He was very popular in Hungary, and no one dreamed his life was in danger. Even he did not, for he scorned a guard. He was a great man."

Three Great Powers Renew Pledges To Defend Republic's Sovereignty

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 26.—Outside intervention to destroy the independence of Austria, whether by German Nazis or from any other source, appeared at present to be improbable when the three great powers which had previously pledged themselves to defend the republic's sovereignty today renewed their promises.

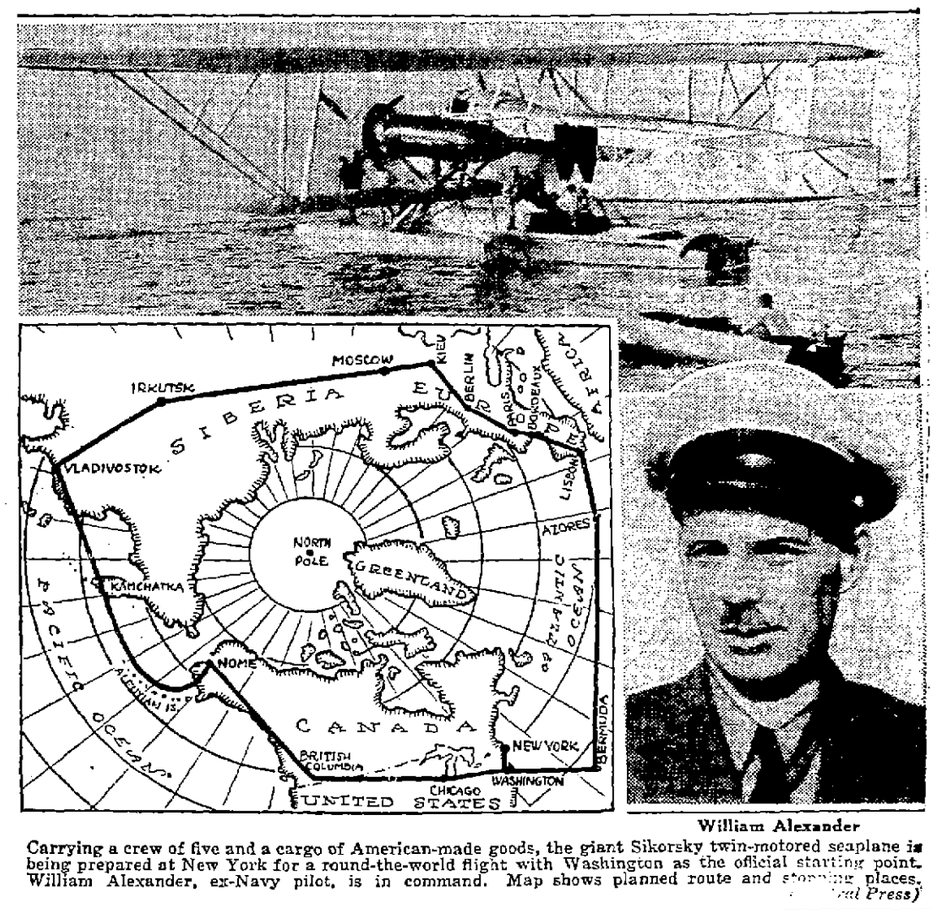

Italy was the first to speak, through Premier Mussolini, who announced Italy's firm stand to Austria in a telegram of condolences addressed to Prince von Starhemberg, provisional chancellor of Austria.

Premier Gaston Doumergue assured the new Austrian government in a similar message that France "is firmly attached to the support of Austrian independence".

Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, informed the House of Commons that Great Britain is determined to maintain Austria's independence.

"There are too many drivers taking unnecessary chances on the highways.

Market Prices Are Irregular

RAIL STOCKS APPEAR HEAVY

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 26.—Dullness and irregularity was Wall street's response to the war scare news today. Opening irregularly lower, the list showed some signs of firming towards the end of the first hour, as trading showed signs of broadening out.

Curiously enough the "war stocks" showed no great amount of activity and were among the weak spots at the opening. Issues such as Bethlehem, DuPont, United States Steel, International Nickel, Anaconda Copper, New York Shipbuilding and several others, picked as the possible beneficiaries of a war, opened with losses running to a point and did little more than firm along with the rest of the list. The steady undertone apparently reflected brokers' approval of Joseph Kennedy's speech yesterday.

Railroad stocks were heavy with New York Central, Atchison, Lackawanna and Southern Railway suffering losses running to nearly a point.

No Word Received On Works Division

No definite word has been received here as to the fate of the RWD for the month of August, but the indications are that there will be few men at work. The personnel of RWD workers was reduced again on Wednesday, making a total at work today of about 300.

It is felt that a small appropriation will be made for August which will permit the retentiton of the administrative force and a few men on projects to care for work which can not be abandoned. Among such workers would be men for to water the recently planted trees. To fail to water them now would be to lose most of them.

E. H. Robinson director of the Emergency Relief here is not in the city today, having gone to Philadelphia. Upon his return it is possible that he will have some definite word on the status of the RWD.

Close Forest To Check Fire

Allegheny National Forest Is Closed To Visitors Until Rains Come

(International News Service)

KANE, Pa., July 26.—Because of extremely dry conditions, Allegheny National forest, comprised of 400,000 acres of land in McKean, Warren, Forest and Elk counties, was ordered closed today by R. M. Evans, regional forester of Washington.

Until rains relieve the parched conditions of the woodlands only employes of oil, gas, mineral and lumber companies will be permitted in the forests Evans said.

To check the spread of fires, 14 of which have occurred in the past three days, members of the civilian conservation corps and forester rangers have been posted at strategic points. Seven hundred of this group extinguished a blaze 100 feet from one of the largest sections of virgin hemlock in the east.

All fire towers in this region have been manned this week for the first time in history. Heretofore the towers were occupied only during the spring and fall seasons.

Former Pupils Of Martin Gantz Enjoy Reunion

Second Annual Affair In First Christian Church Draws 200

DAYS OF PAST ARE RECALLED

Former students of the Martin Gantz school turned back the calendar Wednesday evening in the First Christian church when the second annual reunion was held. Approximately 200 were present with everyone enjoying the opportunity to meet their schoolmates of other days.

Dinner was served by the ladies of the church under the direction of Mrs. Percy B. Walls. Following the singing of America the invocation was pronounced by Dr. G. S. Bennett, pastor of the church. For a time the Martin Gantzers applied themselves to the work of hiding the edibles after which a program was presented.

President C. W. Herman Hess presided and introduced T. W. Dickey, who introduced those who took part in the program. One of the features of the program was the introduction of former teachers who were present. They included Miss Margaret McKee who taught in 1872-73, Mrs. Jane Taggart Jones 1876: Miss Ella McBurney, 1880: Mrs. Mary Liebendorfer Stewart, 1889; Mrs. Ina Shoaff Porter 1890: Mrs. Eva Douds Campbell, 1899-06: Mrs. Edna Young Smith, 1906; Mrs. Olive Glassner Marshall, 1906-13.

Pictures of the first reunion were awarded to Miss Pearl J. Ewens of Los Angeles, Cal., and "Hammy" Hamilton of Fresno, Cal., who travelled the longest distance to attend the reunion.

Old Pupil Attends

Perhaps the outstanding feature of the reunion was the presence of Mrs. Mary E. Clark who attended the school in the early fifties. Mrs. Clark has resided on the Public Square all her life and attended Martin Gantz when it was a new school. Another student of the early fifties was Mrs. Eliza Jameson.

The youngest pupils in attendance were Jean and Raymond Williams, Jr. daughter and son of Raymond Williams. Special recognition was accorded Mrs. Mary Anne McKnight Hettenbaugh and J. Herb McIlvenny who were responsible for the organization of the former pupils of Martin Gantz.

Mrs. Jennie Rearic, secretary of the association read a letter from Miss Lena Shields, New Wilmington regretting her inability to be present and extending her best wishes to all those present.

The program was an interesting one and was made more interesting by the interspersions of the toastmaster, First Vice President Thomas W. Dickey. Mrs. Sara Dana Falls Davis led in some old time songs and read an original poem which was well received. Mrs. Davis was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Elizabeth Fleming.

Miss Albertina Buser of Bellefonte, Pa., gave two splendid vocal solos with a zither accompaniment. Reed McCullough yodeled several numbers accompanied by Arch W. Cubbison on the piano. Mrs. Allie Flanner Thompson of Youngstown, O. gave a reading which was appreciated. Candioto and Lewis presented a humorous sketch entitled, "Wanted—A Job." The Johnny Phillips orchestra entertained with some orchestraal numbers.

President—C. W. Herman Hess
1st Vice President—Thomas W. Dickey
2nd Vice President—Earl Douglass
Secretary—Mrs. Jennie Rearic
Treasurer—Mayor Chas. B. Mayne
Assistant Secretary—Mrs. Katherine Kilbreath
Scribe—J. Herb McIlvenny.

Mobilize CCC Quotas In Butler August 2

Recruits for the government's Civilian Conservation Corps from Lawrence and five other counties in Western Pennsylvania will be mobilized in Butler on Thursday, August 2, the Federal-State Employment office announced today.

There will be a party of 80 Lawrence county boys taken to the Butler county seat that day for examination by U. S. Army doctors, although only 60 places can be filled if the official quota is enforced.

Asks For Automobiles

Appealing for automobiles in which the 80 can be taken to Butler, Robert L. Meermans, supervisor of the office, declared that citizens having cars and perhaps a few hours at their disposal can render the boys a real service by donating some time.

Meeting at the Y. M. C. A. at 9 a. m. on August 2, the boys, already interviewed by responsible authorities here, will leave for Butler soon after. The medical examination comes about noon, or possibly before that.

Other CCC groups from Butler, Armstrong, Venango, Clarion and Forest counties will be examined that day.

A special train will likely be ready to carry the approved recruits out of Butler toward a conditioning camp in the District of Columbia section in the evening.

The examinations in Butler will be held in the North Washington street armory.

Round Returns From Camp Trip

Views Divisional Review At Indiantown Gap—Lauds Work Of Troop F

L. B. Round, chairman of the Sponsor Committee of Troop F, 103rd Cavalry has returned after a visit to Indiantown Gap and Mount Gretna where he was a guest of the troop for two days. On Tuesday Mr. Round was a spectator at the divisional review of the 28th Division at Indiantown Gap and states that it was the finest thing of its kind the division has ever staged.

Troop F has made an excellent showing in camp this year and is ranked with the best cavalry units of the brigade. Appearance, military deportment and condition of camp were all commented upon favorably by the major officers.

The new camp site at Indiantown Gap is a beautiful layout according to Mr. Round. Here the entire division can be quartered at one time with plenty of room for the cavalry to maneuver and for the artillery to fire problems.

He also spoke highly of the Second Combat Train, 107th Field Artillery, the Ellwood City unit commanded by Captain Walter Bowers.

Lopez Promises To Consider Songs Of Local Young Man

Vincent Lopez, world-renowned pianist and orchestra leader, promised a young New Castle musicain to give studious consideration to two of his own compositions which he placed before him at Pittsburgh yesterday.

The musician is Peter Sparano, Grant street, and his songs are entitled, "Let Them Have Their Millions" and "I Still Believe In You". Sparano handled the music and Miss Frances Jackamo the lyric.

Lopez, Sparano said, asked him to send manuscripts of the songs to his New York office immediately.

Visits New Castle After Thirty Years

After an absence of thirty years Edmund Cavill of Nashville, Tennessee, is back in New Castle visiting his brother, James Cavill of Englewood avenue, and renewing acquaintances with former friends. Mr. Cavill was a graduate of New Castle high school in the class of 1904 and shortly after that went to Nashville.

He associated himself with the N. C. and St. L. Railway and rose to a responsible executive position with the company.

Zapasnik And Zabecki Arrive Here

Fred Zapasnik who is attached to the U. S. Naval repair ship Medusa now at Newport, Rhode Island, is visiting his parents at 108 Charter street on a fifteen day furlough. He was accompanied here by Frank Zabecki of the battleship Colorado also at Newport and who is a guest of Zapasnik at the home of his parents.

Zapasnik is following the coppersmith trade in the service and enlisted in December 1932 at the local Navy Recruiting Station in the city building.

"VENDOL" PROVED EXCELLENT SAYS N. CASTLE MAN & WIFE

Both Suffered From Heartburn, Gas In The Stomach, Sourness, Constipation, And Sluggish Liver. He Is Gaining Weight Rapidly.

MR. FRED J. SHATZER

"My wife and I have both used Vendol, as we were suffering from about the same troubles, and it has proven highly satisfactory to us," stated Mr. Fred J. Shatzer, who is employed by the State, and resides at 23½ South Mill Street, New Castle. Mr. Shatzer is a member of the Eagles Lodge in Youngstown, having lived there a number of years before moving to New Castle.

"I was bothered with gas and sour stomach, and after each meal it seemed I would suffer from heartburn. There was a burning feeling in the pit of my stomach and felt like a lump would rise in my throat. No matter how careful I was about my eating, I would suffer from these troubles just the same.

"I often felt sluggish and depressed which I suppose came from my liver, as I also had dizzy spells and a bad taste in my mouth every morning. I had to take a pill every other day for constipation.

"Reading how Vendol was so highly praised by home town people, my wife and I decided to take some of this medicine, and it surely lost no time in bringing relief.

"I find that my bowels are as regular as clock work, my liver has been worked off nicely so that I no longer have attacks of dizziness, headaches or nervous spells. My appetite has improved and my digestion is so much better that I never have the full bloated feeling or sour stomach as before.

"I am gaining in weight right along which is something I have needed pretty bad; this has made me feel a lot better, and my wife says she cannot recall when she has felt so well.

"We strongly recommend Vendol to everyone needing a reliable medicine such as this."

Vendol is sold and recommended by all leading druggists everywhere and is being especially introduced here by the New Castle Drug Company stores, 31 E. Washington Street and 24 N. Mill street.

Former Pupils Of Martin Gantz Enjoy Reunion

DAYS OF PAST ARE RECALLED

Former students of the Martin Gantz school turned back the calendar Wednesday evening in the First Christian church when the second annual reunion was held. Approximately 200 were present with everyone enjoying the opportunity to meet their schoolmates of other days.

Dinner was served by the ladies of the church under the direction of Mrs. Percy B. Walls. Following the singing of America the invocation was pronounced by Dr. G. S. Bennett, pastor of the church. For a time the Martin Gantzers applied themselves to the work of hiding the edibles after which a program was presented.

President C. W. Herman Hess presided and introduced T. W. Dickey, who introduced those who took part in the program. One of the features of the program was the introduction of former teachers who were present. They included Miss Margaret McKee who taught in 1872-73, Mrs. Jane Taggart Jones 1876: Miss Ella McBurney, 1880: Mrs. Mary Liebendorfer Stewart, 1889; Mrs. Ina Shoaff Porter 1890: Mrs. Eva Douds Campbell, 1899-06: Mrs. Edna Young Smith, 1906; Mrs. Olive Glassner Marshall, 1906-13.

Pictures of the first reunion were awarded to Miss Pearl J. Ewens of Los Angeles, Cal., and "Hammy" Hamilton of Fresno, Cal., who travelled the longest distance to attend the reunion.

Old Pupil Attends

Perhaps the outstanding feature of the reunion was the presence of Mrs. Mary E. Clark who attended the school in the early fifties. Mrs. Clark has resided on the Public Square all her life and attended Martin Gantz when it was a new school. Another student of the early fifties was Mrs. Eliza Jameson.

The youngest pupils in attendance were Jean and Raymond Williams, Jr. daughter and son of Raymond Williams. Special recognition was accorded Mrs. Mary Anne McKnight Hettenbaugh and J. Herb McIlvenny who were responsible for the organization of the former pupils of Martin Gantz.

Mrs. Jennie Rearic, secretary of the association read a letter from Miss Lena Shields, New Wilmington regretting her inability to be present and extending her best wishes to all those present.

The program was an interesting one and was made more interesting by the interspersions of the toastmaster, First Vice President Thomas W. Dickey. Mrs. Sara Dana Falls Davis led in some old time songs and read an original poem which was well received. Mrs. Davis was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Elizabeth Fleming.

Miss Albertina Buser of Bellefonte, Pa., gave two splendid vocal solos with a zither accompaniment. Reed McCullough yodeled several numbers accompanied by Arch W. Cubbison on the piano. Mrs. Allie Flanner Thompson of Youngstown, O, gave a reading which was appreciated. Candioto and Lewis presented a humorous sketch entitled, "Wanted—A Job." The Johnny Phillips orchestra entertained with some orchestraal numbers.

President—C. W. Herman Hess
1st Vice President—Thomas W. Dickey
2nd Vice President—Earl Douglass
Secretary—Mrs. Jennie Rearic
Treasurer—Mayor Chas. B. Mayne
Assistant Secretary—Mrs. Katherine Kilbreath
Scribe—J. Herb McIlvenny.

Decrees In Divorce Are Handed Down

Judge James A. Chambers Renders Decision In Cases Heard Before Him

Decrees in divorce were handed down by Judge James A. Chambers at court this morning in cases heard before him at divorce court.

Divorces granted were as follows: L. Bess Parker against Clarence F. Parker, desertion; Louis Wine against Dora Wine, cruelty; Alice McCabe against John McCabe, cruelty; Mary E. Bradford against D. Roy Bradford, cruelty; Myrtle Pascarella against Frank J. Pascarella, desertion; Sara C. Crabill against William Crabill, desertion; Ina M. Reed against James E. Reed, cruelty; Gladys Louis against Gustave Louis, desertion; Elizabeth Davis, cruelty, and Sophia Chirazzi against Charles G. Chirazzi.

Police Uninvited Guests At Party

Police court was crowded with colored folk this morning as the result of a party last night at the home of Henry Johnson, colored, 1309 Scioto street. After the mayor had listened to testimony of colored folks, some of whom gave addresses as far distant as Florida and Alabama, he imposed a fine of $25 on Johnson upon conviction of being the proprietor of a disorderly house.

WARN MERCHANTS OF CHECK PASSER

Police here today warned merchants to take to heart a warning that a woman, alleged passer of bad checks, is operating in the Pittsburgh district. She is said to have employed the name of "Thelma Evans" at Pittsburgh and the police there hope to meet up with her and make an acquaintance that may result in a stay behind the bars.

OUT at Fleetwing Dewberry's camp the boys have been hotherling maw for some new grub, being tired of boiled beans and potatoes. Maw, who finds it hard enough to cook 3 meals a day of common grub instead of putting on frills decided to give them a break so yesterday she served a dish she had snitched from the radio—grapefruit skin soup. Now the 8 little Dews are back on boiled and baked beans and not a word of complaint is heard. 1t—6

All New Castle Listens To . . . .

When your grandfather's grand-dad had merchandise to sell or rooms at his inn to let he told the town crier about it. The crier told the rest of the village and grand-dad paid him plenty to do it.

Daily News Ads took over the town crier's job long ago. They don't have to depend on lung-power to get results . . . wise buyers check the Want Ads without being told. Daily News Want Ads get those results at lowest cost too—as you've found out if you have used them. And, best of all, they get them FAST!

TIME FOR A DECISION

CONDEMNATION of the navy dirigible, Los Angeles, as unsafe for further active service will have the effect of reviving the question of the value of airships as weapons of national defense.

The issue has been debated for years, with no decision recorded. Supposed experts in such matters are divided in their opinions. Tests have been made, but these have not served to settle the controversy.

With the Los Angeles out of commission, the country has only one dirigible, the Macon, in active service. It participated in the recent maneuvers of the fleet on the latter's passage from the Pacific to the Atlantic, and a report on its performance now is before naval authorities. Unofficial reports at the time credited the Macon with doing valuable work.

Several million dollars has been expended by the United States in experimenting with dirigibles. These experiments have been marked by disasters that have taken a number of lives. They are not to be condemned merely because of this. Nearly all progress is purchased at the sacrifice of life.

It seems, though, that the experiments by now should have furnished sufficient reliable data on which to base a decision as to the value of dirigibles in warfare. Before indulging in further costly tests, the government would do well to make a serious and expert study of the results to date, in an effort to determine whether new expenditures and risks would be justified.

LOCAL POLICE HANDICAPPED

Department of Justice agents have cut another notch in their guns and given municipal police an inferiority complex. They are living nobly up to their reputation of getting their man. The big mistake in the career of "Dangerous John" Dillinger seems to have been the unlawful transportation of a stolen automobile across a state line, the crime for which he was sought by the federal government.

Advocates of a system of federal police to supplant all municipal and state police will use the slaying of Dillinger with good effect as propaganda. Where several states and great cities had failed the federal government had succeeded.

What lesson the desperado fraternity shall learn from this latest chapter in the amazing history of crime in America it is too early to say. Some may turn to making a living honestly or at least within the law; others may just make it an inviolable rule to stay away from state lines with stolen automobiles.

As for the American public it is now more convinced than ever that if crime is to be put down in the United States the federal government will have to do it. And yet that is unfair to the other law enforcement officers, who are less at fault than the system under which they operate. The department of justice agent gets his man because he takes no time off from the hunt to slow down motorists, or shoot stray dogs. You cannot stop to shoot squirrels while hunting wolves.

Reading of the taking of Dillinger, dead or alive, a society outraged by the brutal Lindbergh kidnapping and murder will take new hope that some day the perpetrators of that atrocity will be overtaken by retributive justice.

DECLINING BIRTH RATE

If viewed merely in the light of the great army of unemployed that now constitutes the country's biggest problem, the nation's declining birth rate fails to take on the alarming proportions attributed to it by Dr. Oliver M. Baker, senior economist of the department of agriculture.

Were the country's population suddenly reduced by from 10,000,000 to 15,000,000, the present economic situation would take on a quite different and improved appearance.

Dr. Baker, however, takes a long-range view of the situation. He naturally expects that industrial and economic conditions eventually will return to normal, when there will be plenty of work for everybody who wants to work and food for those willing to earn it.

The county's population, he says, is approaching a stationary point, which may be reached within the next 50 years. Should the birth rate then continue to drop, there would be precipitated a serious economic situation marked by lessened demand for farm and industrial products.

Nature, however, has a way of correcting matters and readjusting conditions that can not always be foreseen by man.

HISTORIC FINALE

When Secretary of the Navy Swanson recently signed an order directing the scrapping of 17 over-age destroyers, he closed the careers of some rather historic vessels.

For among these 17 obsolete warships were five which once played a spectacular role. They were the first American fighting ships to enter the European war zone, and play an active part in it, after the United States declared war on Germany.

This country had been in the war only a few weeks when that little destroyer flotilla reached an English port. They were the first visible, tangible sign of American participation in the conflict; as such, they bore significance infinitely greater than that of any other ships in our whole navy.

And now they're going out of existence—the destroyers Conygham, Porter, McDougal, Wainwright and Davis. Their passing is a reminder of a historic event.

NO HEROISM ABOUT DILLINGER

No amount of sentiment, by any stretch of the imagination, can make heroes of men of the Dillinger type. The phrase "public enemies" describes them with relentless accuracy. Not the fainest tinge of romance can be honestly woven about the career of John Dillinger. No phase of it calls for admiration. Many of his "girl friends" are now serving terms in prison for mistakenly trying to protect him from the law.

His life and death should be a stern lesson to misguided youths who may be tempted to follow in the tinseled path of this cheap desperado. For the community at large his eradication is an incentive to the authorities to go ahead with their well-planned progrom of ridding the nation of thugs.

Another cause of heart trouble is the idea that a 50-year-old heart can take a 10-year-old's exercise.

NO MORE PRIVATE WORLDS

We make private worlds for ourselves. We think we can escape from the irritating world by going indoors and turning the lock on life—and then we'll be safe and secure and happy.

But if you try to escape, you can't do it. When you run away you run straight into a self-made prison, and if you shut the doors tight enough and lock all the windows and pull down the blinds and stuff every crack, in time you go a little mad or entirely mad. . . . That's what is wrong with insane people, and that's what is wrong with permanently unhappy people of all kinds. People who whimper or snarl and complain that the world is not cut to their measure.

But what can an unhappy mortal do?" you may ask.

"He can unlock his doors," says Phyllis Bottome, "and stand open to life." And if he does that he will be happy and useful, with a clean wind blowing through his house.

"The way I look at it now," says a man named Arnold in Phyllis Bottome's "Private Worlds", "is that there mustn't be any private worlds! Letting oneself be cut off by pride—or shutting oneself up completely in a dangerous intimacy—or hiding because of fear—well, those things aren't the escapes they look like. There is in all of them a sort of solitary confinement—even in the intimacy; one's got to belong to the outside world as well! Then one's all right! I don't mean that one need go on about talking—but one mustn't keep the best of oneself up one's sleeve. One must stand open to life. . . . One needn't bother about individuals letting one down. What is it Nietzche says: 'In the end man experiences only his true self.' It's the way one takes what one goes through, not what one goes through, that is to be trusted or distrusted.

"When you come to think of it, you can't do anyone more good than he'll let you, either! No patient in this hospital, for instance, can be cured if he becomes inaccessible! The private world is complete then, and has unhitched itself forever from mankind."

The man who speaks these words was once a madman, shut away in himself. He hated and distrusted the world and would not come out. . . . But at last, through the trust of other men, he came to trust himself and to live easily and freely once more, in the wide world instead of his private world.

TAKE THE BLAME WHEN YOU DESERVE IT

Why do you always blame another person when you make a fool of yourself?

If you imbibe too freely, you claim that it was a case of the crowd forcing you to take more than you should have taken.

If you step out a bit, you assert that your home is not congenial. If you sustain a heavy loss in a game of draw, you allege that it was necessary for you to set in order to make the game interesting for the other fellows.

If you remain out too late at night, you say you did not want to break up the party by leaving at the time you should have left.

If you plunge on a horse race, you claim that the crowd was making up a pot and needed what you put in.

If you engage in a quarrel in your home, you insist that the other person in the dispute was responsible.

If you get into a fight, you say you were not the aggressor.

Always excusing yourself and never admitting your weakness.

As an adult, in full possession of your facilities, you should be able to regulate your actions.

Can't you see that always blaming another for your misdeeds makes you out a pretty weak brother?

THE DITCH DIGGER TALKS

A youngster to his father said:
"I ran away from school today.
I thought I'd rather work instead
And earn a grown man's pay.

"For all you said I failed to heed,
But I have had a talk today
With one who scarce can write and read,
And I am back at home to stay.

"A digger of a ditch was he,
Who said, while learning on his spade,
'Tis only strong you have to be
To learn my very common trade.

" 'I could have gone to school but I,
About the self-same age as you,
Threw every chance for knowledge by
To get a job that I could do.

" ' Man gets no further than his will,
In spite of blunders and mistakes,
The place in life which he shall fill
Is settled by the choice he makes.

" 'If nothing more you wish to be
Than I am now, then run away;
But, youngster, take this tip from me,
This is a cheerless place to stay.' "

A digger of a ditch was he,
Who met a boy and understood,
And showed him things he ought to see
Much better than his father could.

IDEA FOR COLLECTING DELINQUENT ACCOUNTS

Playwrights well know the importance of ending the play just before the wedding—they leave that to the imagination.

The same principal might well be applied to stopping some collection letters just before you get ready to ask for the money—on the theory that a collection letter which does not ask for a check is so unusual that it is outstanding.

This may not be in order when the amount of the account is large but it has possibilities in collecting small bills where it is essentially important to get the money and leave the customer feeling kindly toward you.

Great Problems Await President
What Will The Answer Be?
Are These Views Of His Advisers?

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, July 26.—Momentous problems await President Roosevelt's arrival on American shores August 2 at Portland, Ore.

Dramatic events have occurred in his absence—the most dramatic having been the San Francisco strike and the so-called Vigilante raids following it.

Beneath the surface, however, there has been more. France has suffered a severe financial crisis, Germany has headed definitely toward devaluation.

In the United States, a drought has blighted million of acres, cost of living has outstripped wages, and industrial production has declined (although good business has been promised for autumn).

What will the president's words to the nation be? What action will be take, or what action can he take?

Those are questions repeatedly asked of this writer.

BASIC TROUBLE?

Agitators have been blamed for the San Francisco, Seattle, Minneapolis strikes. Persons in the Roosevelt administration who have made a study of the labor problem and who undoubtedly influence the president do not take that view. They see the lack of strong government agency, such as was provided in the original Wagner labor bill, as the reason for failure to effect an immediate settlement.

The New York Times probably expresses the administration point of view on this when it states:

"The point is that if one is going to insist upon the maintenance of law, he must not himself violate it. If he is resolved to demand, as President Roosevelt did, 'common sense and good order' in others, he must not himself act like a disorderly fanatic."

DISTRIBUTION

Economists being widely read in New York today blame today's widespread disturbances far beyond elements generally accepted.

Stuart Chase, for example(one of the best sellers), is of the opinion, shared by some of the largest financiers, that the world problem now is one of distribution, and that the battle for control of distribution will be the uppermost one.

World markets have disappeared due to a breakdown of currency and exchange system and the barring of trade among nations.

So great has the breakdown been that governments themselves have taken over the matter of distribution of money, of goods, of crops—and, thus, all of a sudden, we have a new social order which bewilders us and to which we have not yet adapted ourselves.

More of that tomorrow—for the theory is supported in quarters that can vitally affect the nation, both economically and in the nature of its government.

A LOOK BACK

Last February, this writer said in an article on "The Outlook for President Roosevelt's Second Year":

"If the mid-channel course of President Roosevelt fails or does not live up to hopes in the breasts of millions, there may be one of two reactions—or there may be a clash of both:

"1. Strong reactionism—in short, fascism.

"2. Militant swing to the left.

"The danger to the Roosevelt administration lies in the opposition of both groups—the reactionaries (the diehards) and the militant left-wingers. Both cannot win. Both, however, can join hands for a wrecking of the president's policies.

"The men who defy governments on, say, such a matter as NRA labor provisions, will not stand idly by as the government "encroaches' and 'dictates'. No group willingly will permit itself to be deprived of its rule. It is not human nature to surrender might and power with meek consent.

"Nor will the workers who thought they had begun to see the light stop their forward movement at an imaginary line. . . .

"The president's weakness lies chiefly in his dependence on political sagacity. . . .

"Economic events, because they touch the very bread and butter of man, provoke the most uncontrollable emotional crises. The battle for existence has remained paramount through the ages."

TODAY Is The Day

THURSDAY JULY 26

The World War 20 Years Ago Today—July 26, 1914—The German kaiser, at Potsdam, sees the text of the Serbian reply to the Austro-Hungarian demands for the first time. His ally had not cared to send him a copy of it, he learns the contents through Serbia! He is relieved, and he writes in the margin (as we know from the original document revealed after the German revolution in 1918):

"This is more than one could have expected! A great moral victory for Vienna; but with it every reason for war drops away, and Giesl might have remained quietly in Belgrade! On the strength of this I should never have ordered mobilization!"

The imperial chancellor, Count von Berthmann Hollweg, telegraphs the German ambasasdor at London, Prince Lichnowsky (a kinsman of the Russian ambassador there):

"Austria-Hungary has declared officially and solemnly in St. Petersburg that she contemplates no acquisition of territory in Serbia, and that she will not endanger the continuance of the kingdom but wishes only to secure quiet. Acoording to report ching here, Russia is about to summon several bodies of reservists immediately, which would be equivalent to mobilization against us. If this news is corroborated, we shall be forced against our will to take measures to meet it. Today our efforts are still directed toward localizing the trouble and maintaining the peace in Europe. For this reason we ask that the strongest possible pressure be brought to bear in St. Petersburg for achieving this end."

Great Days—July 26, 1281—A typhoon of cyclonic force and peculiar violence, occurring in the China sea) saved Japan from the Mongol horde that had conquered all the rest of Asia.

Kublai Khan, who inspired the classic pages of Marco Polo (his servant for 17 years), dispatched 100,000 of his warriors in 3,000 ships to capture the island empire. The typhoon wrecked the fleet on its shores, and 65,000 of the troops were drowned. The others, demoralized, were butchered by the Japanese.

July 26, 1775—Service was begun over post-routes between Falmouth, Me., and Savannah, Ga., by the first "constitutional" postal system, instituted by the Continental congress with Benjamin Franklin as postmaster general.

To this postal system must go a large share of the credit for the success of the Revolution. Without a system of communication free from British control and espionage, the colonies could not have been drawn into and kept in cooperation.

July 26, 1788—New York ratified the constitution and became the 11th state. Motto: Excelsior. Flower: Rose.

July 26, 1915—U. S. marines were landed in Haiti, ostensibly to restore order, but actually to prevent the possibility of German seizure of the island as a naval base.

(They're still there, but this October, President Roosevelt promises the Haitians the occupation that has cost the U. S. $50,000,000 will be ended.)

VERY OLD

The oldest known live creature in the world is an alligator on exhibition at St. Augustine, Florida, known as "Old Ponce."

He is named for Ponce de Leon, but was about five hundred years old at the time that explorer discovered Florida. Old Ponce's present age is estimated at nine hundred years.

He lies immovable for hours, showing no signs of life until food comes. Then he is as vigorous and youthful as his youngest great-great-great alligator grandson, fifty times removed.

He weighs 1,200 pounds and eats seventy-five pounds of meat one meal.

War Scare News From Europe Fails To Arouse Market

RAIL STOCKS APPEAR HEAVY

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 26.—Dullness and irregularity was Wall street's response to the war scare news today. Opening irregularly lower, the list showed some signs of firming towards the end of the first hour, as trading showed signs of broadening out.

Curiously enough the "war stocks" showed no great amount of activity and were among the weak spots at the opening. Issues such as Bethlehem, DuPont, United States Steel, International Nickel, Anaconda Copper, New York Shipbuilding and several others, picked as the possible beneficiaries of a war, opened with losses running to a point and did little more than firm along with the rest of the list. The steady undertone apparently reflected brokers' approval of Joseph Kennedy's speech yesterday.

Railroad stocks were heavy with New York Central, Atchison, Lackawanna and Southern Railway suffering losses running to nearly a point.

Edward Conway, Of Upper Darby, Pa., Wanted In Connection With Slaying

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, July 26—As the aftermath of a fight in which Edward Burgess, 21 of Shamokin, Pa., was fatally beaten with an automobile crank handle, police here today opened search for Edward Conway, son of an upper Darby lawyer.

Conway was wanted for questioning in connection with the fatal fight which was staged early today in front of a West Philadelphia taproom where a birthday celebration had been in progress.

Burgess died four hours after his admittance to the hospital.

No Word Received On Works Division

No definite word has been received here as to the fate of the RWD for the month of August, but the indications are that there will be few men at work. The personnel of RWD workers was reduced again on Wednesday, making a total at work today of about 300.

It is felt that a small appropriation will be made for August which will permit the retentiton of the administrative force and a few men on projects to care for work which can not be abandoned. Among such workers would be men for to water the recently planted trees. To fail to water them now would be to lose most of them.

E. H. Robinson director of the Emergency Relief here is not in the city today, having gone to Philadelphia. Upon his return it is possible that he will have some definite word on the status of the RWD.

Close Forest To Check Fire

Allegheny National Forest Is Closed To Visitors Until Rains Come

(International News Service)

KANE, Pa., July 26.—Because of extremely dry conditions, Allegheny National forest, comprised of 400,000 acres of land in McKean, Warren, Forest and Elk counties, was ordered closed today by R. M. Evans, regional forester of Washington.

Until rains relieve the parched conditions of the woodlands only employes of oil, gas, mineral and lumber companies will be permitted in the forests Evans said.

To check the spread of fires, 14 of which have occurred in the past three days, members of the civilian conservation corps and forester rangers have been posted at strategic points. Seven hundred of this group extinguished a blaze 100 feet from one of the largest sections of virgin hemlock in the east.

All fire towers in this region have been manned this week for the first time in history. Heretofore the towers were occupied only during the spring and fall seasons.

Italy Prepares To Move Troops

Preparations For Use Of Brenner Pass Into Austria Are Reported

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 26.—Details of the military preparations Italy is making at the famous Brenner Pass from Italy into Austria were revealed today in an article in the London Daily Express by Selkirk Panton, the newspapers Vienna correspondent who has just made an automobile tour of the border.

Accord to Panton this territory is "nothing less than a war zone." More than 20,000 troops are concentrated behind the pass and seven squadron of the Italian airforces are now at Bolsano, 50 miles from the frontier.

Streets of the villages are cluttered up with military transports. The roads are full of soldiers and long columns of motor trucks are winding along the narrow mountain paths. Military engineers are laying underground telephone wires, artillery and machine gun emplacements.

Reunion To Draw Present And Past Y.P.C.U. Leaders

A reunion dinner at Lakewood beach on Friday evening will attract all United Presbyterian young people who have served as members of the presbyterial executive committee of the Young People's Christian Union of the Beaver Valley presbytery during the past nine years.

The affair will honor G. A. P. Bowman, who retired recently as secretary of young people's work in the presbytery after nine years of service.

Pneumonia Caused Many Deaths Here

Was Leading Cause Of Death During Month Of April, Records Show

According to statistics, penumonia caused more deaths in Lawrence county than heart disease during the month of April.

The figures just released by the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the Pennsylvania Department of Health show the following leading causes of death in that month:

Tuberculosis 2: heart disease 16; cerebral hemorrhage, 8: pneumonia 17; influenza 1: diabetis 3: and appendicitis 1.

The penumonia rate was unusually high in comparison to other counties.

Births outnumbered deaths 75 to 56 during the month in New Castle and six infants under one year of age died. There were 12 pneumonia deaths in the city.

Nazi Movement Is Believed Doomed

Two Shots That Killed Dollfuss, Believed Death Knell For Nazis

(Copyright, 1934, By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 26—The two shots which killed diminutive Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss, Austria's "little Napolean" also sounded the death knell of the Nazi movement in Austria, Edgar L. Prochnik, the Austrian minster to Washington, declared today in an interview with International News Service.

Arriving hurriedly back to the Austrian legation from a nearby seaside resort, Prochnik predicted the merciless assassination of Chancellor Dollfuss at the hands of fanatical Nazis would prove a devastating boomerang against the Nazi movement in Austria.

"The majority of the Austrian people loved our Chancellor," Prochnik said. "The Austrian Nazis struck themselves a death blow assassinating him. I believe the consequences of his death will be a severe reaction throughout Austria against the entire Nazi movement. Those who may have felt some sympathy for the Nazi movement now will be turned bitter.

"The Nazis made a great mistake. They would have been treated much more harshly had it not been for Chancelor Dollfuss. He deplored bloodshed and killing, even of his enemies.

Residents Clamor For Dust Relief

Residents of the west end of Sheridan avenue, Euclid avenue and North Mercer street are aroused today over what they term a piece of municipal blundering. Mercer street between Sheridan and Euclid has been worked by the city scraper until the street has become a miniature Sahara.

Every time a car passes over this stretch the dust rises in huge clouds.

In an attempt to lay the dust nuisance residents say the street department sent up some oil which has been put on in spots but this has not abated the nuisance.

Hope To Settle Chicago Strike

Secret Peace Proposal In Stock Handlers Strike Is Given Employers

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, July 26.—Hopes for an early settlement of the strike of 800 stock handlers which has tied up activities at the Union Stock Yards rested today on a secret peace proposal presented to employers by federal conciliators.

Efforts of the regional labor board to bring an end to the strike were spurred on by sporadic violence in which a guard and three workmen were attacked by strike demonstrators. Louis Heller and John Wilson, strikebreakers, were beaten and stabbed with pitchforks.

The police guard in the yards was doubled when demonstrators threatened to attack railroad coaches used as sleeping quarters for strikebreakers.

Federal conciliators held a lengthy meeting with strikers' officials and officers of the Union Stockyards and Transit Company, the employers, at which a basis of settlement was presented. Details of the plan were kept secret.

WOMAN FOUND DEAD

(International News Service)

BRADFORD, Pa., July 26.—A coroner's inquest was planned here today in the death of Dorothy Grill, Shinglehouse, Pa., native, whose lifeless body was found by hotel employes here when they entered her room after failing to hear from the woman since she registered Monday night.

Authorities expressed the belief she killed herself by mixing poison with a soft drink.

Europeans Are Not Wanting War

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 26—Possibilities of a general European war as a result of the assassination of Chancellor Dollfuss of Austria are remote, in the opinion of Norman H. Davis, American ambassador-at-large, who returned today from Europe.

While declining to be quoted directly, Davis indicated he does not believe the Austrian crisis will lead to more than local disturbances. The people of Europe, he stressed, especially the women, do not want war.

Even if Europe should become engulfed in conflict, Davis believes, the United States is not likely to become involved.

Another passenger aboard Davis' ship was John F. Montgomery, ambassador to Hungary, to whom the news of Dollfuss' assassination came as a shock.

"I saw him three weeks ago in Budapest," Montgomery said. "He was very popular in Hungary, and no one dreamed his life was in danger. Even he did not, for he scorned a guard. He was a great man."

No Intervention Likely In Austria

Three Great Powers Renew Pledges To Defend Republic's Sovereignty

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 26.—Outside intervention to destroy the independence of Austria, whether by German Nazis or from any other source, appeared at present to be improbable when the three great powers which had previously pledged themselves to defend the republic's sovereignty today renewed their promises.

Italy was the first to speak, through Premier Mussolini, who announced Italy's firm stand to Austria in a telegram of condolences addressed to Prince von Starhemberg, provisional chancellor of Austria.

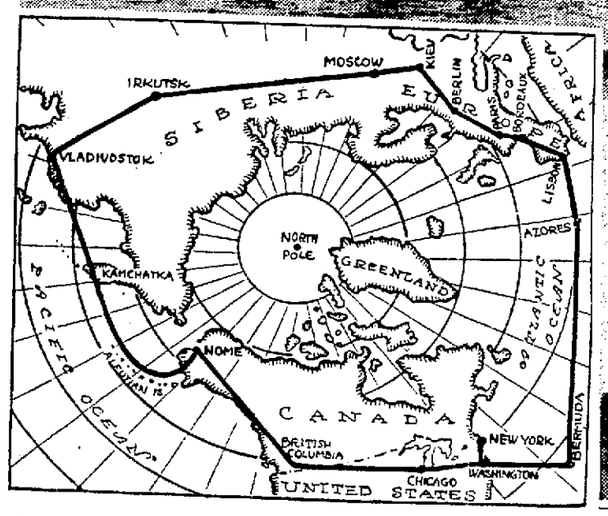

Premier Gaston Doumergue assured the new Austrian government in a similar message that France "is firmly attached to the support of Austrian independence".

Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, informed the House of Commons that Great Britain is determined to maintain Austria's independence.

"There are too many drivers taking unnecessary chances on the highways.

Where do little hats come from, come from? Well, our modern milliners are a broadminded lot and they turn most anything to account. The hat at the left of the picture, for instance, was inspired by the Chinese coolie, as you can clearly see by the sketch above Betty Furness, pretty model and screen actress. Betty's hat is dark blue linen. None other than the milkmaid—possibly the one who milked the cow with the crumpled horn—was the forerunner of the second hat worn by Betty, with the bandeau at the side. The starched navy blue linen next, surely is a copy of that worn by the little schoolgirl above, with her bunch of posies, and the large leghorn, right, has a feel of real outdoors, and gained its design from the barefoot boy sketched. Yes, you may go fishin' in such a hat.

Former Pupils Of Martin Gantz Enjoy Reunion

DAYS OF PAST ARE RECALLED

Former students of the Martin Gantz school turned back the calendar Wednesday evening in the First Christian church when the second annual reunion was held. Approximately 200 were present with everyone enjoying the opportunity to meet their schoolmates of other days.

Dinner was served by the ladies of the church under the direction of Mrs. Percy B. Walls. Following the singing of America the invocation was pronounced by Dr. G. S. Bennett, pastor of the church. For a time the Martin Gantzers applied themselves to the work of hiding the edibles after which a program was presented.

President C. W. Herman Hess presided and introduced T. W. Dickey, who introduced those who took part in the program. One of the features of the program was the introduction of former teachers who were present. They included Miss Margaret McKee who taught in 1872-73, Mrs. Jane Taggart Jones 1876: Miss Ella McBurney, 1880: Mrs. Mary Liebendorfer Stewart, 1889; Mrs. Ina Shoaff Porter 1890: Mrs. Eva Douds Campbell, 1899-06: Mrs. Edna Young Smith, 1906; Mrs. Olive Glassner Marshall, 1906-13.

Pictures of the first reunion were awarded to Miss Pearl J. Ewens of Los Angeles, Cal., and "Hammy" Hamilton of Fresno, Cal., who travelled the longest distance to attend the reunion.

Old Pupil Attends

Perhaps the outstanding feature of the reunion was the presence of Mrs. Mary E. Clark who attended the school in the early fifties. Mrs. Clark has resided on the Public Square all her life and attended Martin Gantz when it was a new school. Another student of the early fifties was Mrs. Eliza Jameson.

The youngest pupils in attendance were Jean and Raymond Williams, Jr. daughter and son of Raymond Williams. Special recognition was accorded Mrs. Mary Anne McKnight Hettenbaugh and J. Herb McIlvenny who were responsible for the organization of the former pupils of Martin Gantz.

Mrs. Jennie Rearic, secretary of the association read a letter from Miss Lena Shields, New Wilmington regretting her inability to be present and extending her best wishes to all those present.

The program was an interesting one and was made more interesting by the interspersions of the toastmaster, First Vice President Thomas W. Dickey. Mrs. Sara Dana Falls Davis led in some old time songs and read an original poem which was well received. Mrs. Davis was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Elizabeth Fleming.

Miss Albertina Buser of Bellefonte, Pa., gave two splendid vocal solos with a zither accompaniment. Reed McCullough yodeled several numbers accompanied by Arch W. Cubbison on the piano. Mrs. Allie Flanner Thompson of Youngstown, O. gave a reading which was appreciated. Candioto and Lewis presented a humorous sketch entitled, "Wanted—A Job." The Johnny Phillips orchestra entertained with some orchestraal numbers.

President—C. W. Herman Hess
1st Vice President—Thomas W. Dickey
2nd Vice President—Earl Douglass
Secretary—Mrs. Jennie Rearic
Treasurer—Mayor Chas. B. Mayne
Assistant Secretary—Mrs. Katherine Kilbreath
Scribe—J. Herb McIlvenny.

Decrees In Divorce Are Handed Down

Police Uninvited Guests At Party

Police court was crowded with colored folk this morning as the result of a party last night at the home of Henry Johnson, colored, 1309 Scioto street. After the mayor had listened to testimony of colored folks, some of whom gave addresses as far distant as Florida and Alabama, he imposed a fine of $25 on Johnson upon conviction of being the proprietor of a disorderly house.

WARN MERCHANTS OF CHECK PASSER

Police here today warned merchants to take to heart a warning that a woman, alleged passer of bad checks, is operating in the Pittsburgh district. She is said to have employed the name of "Thelma Evans" at Pittsburgh and the police there hope to meet up with her and make an acquaintance that may result in a stay behind the bars.

Mobilize CCC Quotas In Butler August 2

Recruits for the government's Civilian Conservation Corps from Lawrence and five other counties in Western Pennsylvania will be mobilized in Butler on Thursday, August 2, the Federal-State Employment office announced today.

There will be a party of 80 Lawrence county boys taken to the Butler county seat that day for examination by U. S. Army doctors, although only 60 places can be filled if the official quota is enforced.

Asks For Automobiles

Appealing for automobiles in which the 80 can be taken to Butler, Robert L. Meermans, supervisor of the office, declared that citizens having cars and perhaps a few hours at their disposal can render the boys a real service by donating some time.

Meeting at the Y. M. C. A. at 9 a. m. on August 2, the boys, already interviewed by responsible authorities here, will leave for Butler soon after. The medical examination comes about noon, or possibly before that.

Other CCC groups from Butler, Armstrong, Venango, Clarion and Forest counties will be examined that day.

A special train will likely be ready to carry the approved recruits out of Butler toward a conditioning camp in the District of Columbia section in the evening.

The examinations in Butler will be held in the North Washington street armory.

Round Returns From Camp Trip

L. B. Round, chairman of the Sponsor Committee of Troop F, 103rd Cavalry has returned after a visit to Indiantown Gap and Mount Gretna where he was a guest of the troop for two days. On Tuesday Mr. Round was a spectator at the divisional review of the 28th Division at Indiantown Gap and states that it was the finest thing of its kind the division has ever staged.

Troop F has made an excellent showing in camp this year and is ranked with the best cavalry units of the brigade. Appearance, military deportment and condition of camp were all commented upon favorably by the major officers.

The new camp site at Indiantown Gap is a beautiful layout according to Mr. Round. Here the entire division can be quartered at one time with plenty of room for the cavalry to maneuver and for the artillery to fire problems.

He also spoke highly of the Second Combat Train, 107th Field Artillery, the Ellwood City unit commanded by Captain Walter Bowers.

Lopez Promises To Consider Songs Of Local Young Man

Vincent Lopez, world-renowned pianist and orchestra leader, promised a young New Castle musicain to give studious consideration to two of his own compositions which he placed before him at Pittsburgh yesterday.

The musician is Peter Sparano, Grant street, and his songs are entitled, "Let Them Have Their Millions" and "I Still Believe In You". Sparano handled the music and Miss Frances Jackamo the lyric.

Lopez, Sparano said, asked him to send manuscripts of the songs to his New York office immediately.

Visits New Castle After Thirty Years

After an absence of thirty years Edmund Cavill of Nashville, Tennessee, is back in New Castle visiting his brother, James Cavill of Englewood avenue, and renewing acquaintances with former friends. Mr. Cavill was a graduate of New Castle high school in the class of 1904 and shortly after that went to Nashville.

He associated himself with the N. C. and St. L. Railway and rose to a responsible executive position with the company.

Zapasnik And Zabecki Arrive Here

Fred Zapasnik who is attached to the U. S. Naval repair ship Medusa now at Newport, Rhode Island, is visiting his parents at 108 Charter street on a fifteen day furlough. He was accompanied here by Frank Zabecki of the battleship Colorado also at Newport and who is a guest of Zapasnik at the home of his parents.

Zapasnik is following the coppersmith trade in the service and enlisted in December 1932 at the local Navy Recruiting Station in the city building.

"VENDOL" PROVED EXCELLENT SAYS N. CASTLE MAN & WIFE

Both Suffered From Heartburn, Gas In The Stomach, Sourness, Constipation, And Sluggish Liver. He Is Gaining Weight Rapidly.

MR. FRED J. SHATZER

"My wife and I have both used Vendol, as we were suffering from about the same troubles, and it has proven highly satisfactory to us," stated Mr. Fred J. Shatzer, who is employed by the State, and resides at 23½ South Mill Street, New Castle. Mr. Shatzer is a member of the Eagles Lodge in Youngstown, having lived there a number of years before moving to New Castle.

"I was bothered with gas and sour stomach, and after each meal it seemed I would suffer from heartburn. There was a burning feeling in the pit of my stomach and felt like a lump would rise in my throat. No matter how careful I was about my eating, I would suffer from these troubles just the same.

"I often felt sluggish and depressed which I suppose came from my liver, as I also had dizzy spells and a bad taste in my mouth every morning. I had to take a pill every other day for constipation.

"Reading how Vendol was so highly praised by home town people, my wife and I decided to take some of this medicine, and it surely lost no time in bringing relief.

"I find that my bowels are as regular as clock work, my liver has been worked off nicely so that I no longer have attacks of dizziness, headaches or nervous spells. My appetite has improved and my digestion is so much better that I never have the full bloated feeling or sour stomach as before.

"I am gaining in weight right along which is something I have needed pretty bad; this has made me feel a lot better, and my wife says she cannot recall when she has felt so well.

"We strongly recommend Vendol to everyone needing a reliable medicine such as this."

Vendol is sold and recommended by all leading druggists everywhere and is being especially introduced here by the New Castle Drug Company stores, 31 E. Washington Street and 24 N. Mill street.
